Social Justice Is The Way To Unity

THERE has been much talk of national unity.

Our statesmen seem to have hit at last upon a formula for winning the war. We must all be united. We must have a common purpose. We must have a common hope. We must have a common interest in the preservation of our civilization.

If we have this community of interest and purpose and hope, they say, we will win the war. If we lack this unity, we stand a good chance of losing it.

If this is to be our formula for victory, if this is to be the spirit of our plan for defence, it is high time this country was finding a basis for that unity. The discovery of such a basis of unity would appear to be the first and most pressing duty of a Parliament called together for the sole job of winning the war.

It is the submission of The Edmonton Bulletin and the considered opinion of hundreds of thousands of intelligent Canadians that Canada's only possible basis of unity is social justice and an immediate and lively plan for making social justice operative at once.

Common blood does not necessarily bind a country together. The cohesion of the German Reich is accomplished among a multiplicity of racial strains, from the Hunnish Prussian to the Gallic Saxon.

Common language is not an unfailing bond. Switzerland speaks German, French and Italian. Yet Switzerland is the most closely-knit country in Europe.

What gives Germany her strength is unity of purpose—a greedy, selfish and violent purpose, it is true, but still a positive purpose, promising some concrete gain to the people who hold it.

What gives Switzerland her unity is common devotion to a high democratic ideal.

We want a unity of hope in Canada and a unity of interest.

How can we have those things when every young Canadian knows that out of every 100 of his fellows starting life at 25 years of age, 36 of them, after 40 years, will be be dead; one of them will be well-to-do; four will live comfortably; five will be gainfully employed and 54 will be entirely dependent upon relatives and friends.

What hope is there for the young man in this picture? What interest does it give him in Canada? How does it stimulate his national purpose?

If the achievement of social justice, eliminating the social hazards of life as represented in these figures, was a complex or a long-drawn-out affair, no one would recommend it as a wartime measure. We must have a quick stimulus and an immediate reaction.

But social justice, involving a proper plan of unemployment insurance, health insurance and a decent retirement allowance fixed at no less than $30 per month and beginning at 60 years of age, without the stupid and embarrassing regulations as they exist at present, could be brought into existence with the scratch of a pen. It could actually be made operative within the week.

There is even little need to study the question. Ample data are available in the experience of New Zealand and the United States.

There is no question of finance. The few cents to be paid each week out of salaries on these insurances, now while employment is at a peak and salaries are relatively large, would not be missed and in a few years would build up a fund of millions of dollars to cushion our aged, our unemployed and our ailing against post-war depression and against the terrors of social insecurity.

This is the true source of Canada's national unity. This is the only proper basis for a national hope, a national interest and a national purpose.

Give our young men something to fight for and there will be no conscription worries and no fears of disunity.

The solution lies with Ottawa. It can be done quickly, effectively and economically.

It should be done NOW.

EDMONTON TOTAL BELIEVED CANADA RECORD

City Needs Only $335,000 On Loan Quota

FLASH:

The Victory Loan committee reported at 12:30 p.m. that Edmonton has subscribed 94 per cent of its quota.

With only $335,000 to go to reach the Edmonton quota of $4,100,000, campaign officials are straining every possible effort to have the objective reached today. At the opening hour, the headquarters were jammed with women and children eager to purchase a bond and have a photo taken with an escort.

At the conclusion of Friday's big day Edmonton's thermometer jumped to 91.8 per cent. This is believed to be a record for Canada among the larger cities. Total Saturday morning stood at $3,765,950, but campaign officials wish to explain that in order to raise the needed $335,000 Saturday there must be enthusiastic response from those participating in Ladies' and Children's Day.

Campaign officials explain their stand in the following letter:

"This morning Edmonton's thermometer jumped to the 91.8 per cent mark, knocking the Jap silly and making Hitler extremely apprehensive. Yesterday subscriptions added the impressive sum of $1,292,300 to make the total to date for Edmonton $3,765,950. Of course this great boost for the loan was mainly due to the investment by the Workmen's Compensation Board of one million dollars of the capital funds of the Widows' and Orphans' Pensions branch. Deducting that and some other special subscriptions, the amount raised by

Board Invests $1,000,000 In Victory Loan

Investing in capital, or funds other than surplus earnings, the Workmen's Compensation Board purchased $1,000,000 worth of Victory Bonds on Saturday. It was announced by Dr. Victor W. Wright, board chairman.

This increases the total subscriptions from the provincial government and its board to $2,000,000, as the government invested $1,000,000 out of its trust funds earlier in the week.

Dr. Wright explained that the monies so invested represent the capitalized values of pensions awarded to widows and dependents of workmen killed in industry, as well as pensions awarded permanently to disabled workmen.

The full board, consisting of Dr. Wright, W. J. Dick and Alfred Farmilo, met loan officials Thursday when application was made.

Fred E. Osborne, provincial chairman of the war finance committee, came from Calgary to assist with negotiations. Loan officials present at the Thursday meeting were D. M. Duggan, chairman of the special names committee and Hugh S. Pearson, chairman of the Employee

Large Subscription Boosts Victory Loan Drive

Lending its aid in the all-out effort to oversubscribe the Second Victory Loan, the Workmen's Compensation Board on Saturday invested $1,000,000 in Victory Bonds. With $1,000,000 subscribed by the provincial government on the opening day, the total value of bonds purchased by the provincial administration is $2,000,000. The Workmen's Compensation subscription was made from capital funds available for investment. In the above layout, the upper picture shows Fred E. Osborne, Calgary, chairman of the Alberta War Finance committee, receiving the subscription application from Dr. Victor W. Wright, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board. From left to right are D. M. Duggan, M.L.A., chairman of the Special Names committee of the Victory Loan organization in northern Alberta; H. E. Pearson, chairman of the Employer-Employee committee; Mr. Osborne, Dr. Wright and W. J. Dick and Alfred Farmilo, part time members of the board. In the lower picture is the Workmen's Compensation Board staff, photographed at the board's offices on Thursday, following an address on the Victory Loan by Mr. Osborne.

Cripps Move May Indicate Social Change

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 21—Disappearance of Lord Beaverbrook from the British cabinet and the meteoric rise of Sir Stafford Cripps, recently back from Moscow, to the post virtually of second in command under Prime Minister Churchill, caught Canadian political circles by surprise. Observers believed at once that political and possibly social changes of far-reaching consequences were in motion in Britain.

In a very limited sense, the British cabinet changes provide Canada and other dominions with representation in the Churchill war cabinet, that is, through Clement Attlee, the new dominions secretary who remains in the war cabinet. But political circles here see this move as a concession to Australia and the Canadian government is neutral at present on the imperial war cabinet issue.

RELATIONS GOOD

Relations were good with the previous dominions secretary, able, leftist-Conservative Lord Cranborne, and are expected to continue so with Attlee. Last month Prime Minister King was informed by Mr. Churchill that the question of dominion representation on the war council was being considered, but it is understood Canada made no proposals.

Though Beaverbrook resigned and was not dismissed from the cabinet and there is no doubt here

3 Nazi Warships Reported At Sea

By EDWARD BEATTIE

LONDON, Feb. 21.—(BUP)—Newspaper dispatches reported from Stockholm today that the new 35,000-ton German battleship Tirpitz, one of the most powerful in the world, and two 10,000-ton cruisers, were on their way to the new German naval base at Trondheim on the Norwegian coast.

It was believed the dispatches said, that the battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, and the 10,000-ton cruiser Prinz Eugen, which in escaping from Brest, steamed past the British coast, would join them at Trondheim as soon as damage suffered in British plane and warship attacks had been repaired.

Stockholm quoted German sources that the Germans had built gigantic steel shelters at Trondheim to protect all classes of ships, from battleships to submarines.

The dispatches said the German ships were based at Trondheim both to keep a part of the British fleet busy on the watch and to

There is fresh evidence from many quarters that Japan is concentrating land, air and sea forces against the Java outpost for a quick kill before Anglo-American help for its Netherlands defenders can become effective.

About that central redoubt of United Nation defence, already half encircled from west to east, an expanding cordon is being woven. From tiny Bali island, just a mile off the eastern tip of Java, to Sumatra, a score of miles off its western extremity, the pattern is practically complete.

Between them to the north the Japanese have gained menacing footholds on Borneo and Celebes within bomber range of Java. They have also seized bases on islands of

Hospital Sued For $30,700

Alleging negligence of the defendant hospital had resulted in serious permanent injuries to the female plaintiff, a statement of claim was filed in Supreme court Saturday seeking general and special damages of $30,700 from the Royal Alexandra hospital. Plaintiffs in the case are Sadie and John Kuzek, of the Wostok district, 50 miles northwest of Edmonton.

The plaintiffs allege that Mrs. Kuzek was a patient at the defendant hospital some months ago. It is alleged she got up out of bed and left the hospital and was later found wandering through the streets only lightly clad.

Later, it is alleged, Mrs. Kuzek leaped from a room on the fourth floor of the hospital and suffered severe injuries.

Action Is Continuing Near Bali

By JOHN R. MORRIS

BATAVIA, Java, Feb. 21. — (BUP) — Eighteen Japanese ships—including five cruisers (one blown up) and four destroyers—have been sunk or damaged in a great three-day naval battle in defence of Java, it was officially reported today.

The battle continues tonight as Dutch and American warships and planes are striking back hard at the Japanese assault toward the united nations headquarters.

Official reports of the battle indicated that of the 18 Japanese ships at least two cruisers were set afire and presumably lost, one cruiser exploded and presumably was sunk and one transport was sunk.

BEGAN THURSDAY

The battle continues tonight as Dutch and American warships and planes are striking back hard at the Japanese assault toward the united nations headquarters.

The battle began Thursday morning with Japanese invasion of the island of Bali, only a mile east of Java, but it spread throughout yesterday and today to Japanese-held Sumatra on the west flank of this island.

But the enemy offensive was still hammering heavily against the outer defences of Java and the big Surrabaya naval base, with Japanese bombers striking at both ends of Java island in an attempt to knock out allied aerial defences.

Bali was submerged by an encircling Japanese attack from all sides, including the main airport on the south coast, despite furious counter-blows by Flying Fortresses and dive-bombers, Dutch cruisers and United States and Dutch destroyers which inflicted heavy losses on the enemy, set one cruiser aflame and blew up another in a huge explosion.

The Allied losses included a des-

One-Third Of Victory Loan Is Subscribed

OTTAWA, Feb. 21—(CP)—Canada's second $600,000,000 Victory Loan reached a cumulative total of $213,072,450 at the close of business last night, headquarters announced today. Friday's total of subscriptions was $48,410,000.

It included 8,694 employees of factories and workshops who under the payroll-saving plan developed by the National War Finance committee, subscribed $953,300.

The total number of subscriptions reported Friday was 62,940, biggest day of the loan in individual purchases.

"With one-third of the nominal objective obtained, the loan has averaged just over $42,000,000 a day for the five days reported up to Friday night," said the committee. "Even greater efforts will have to be put forward during the remaining two weeks of the campaign."

TO IMPROVE PEOPLE'S HEALTH

Provincial Nutrition Council Will Be Organized

Representatives From All Parts Of Alberta Take Preliminary Step

To direct and promote the study of dietary needs in relation to general health, the Alberta Nutrition Executive Council will be formed, it was decided at a meeting of some 60 representatives of interested organizations in Alberta, at the legislative buildings, Friday. The council will consist of 10 representatives of professional and women's organizations in the province.

Special speaker at the meeting was Dr. L. B. Pett, Ottawa, director of the nutrition branch of the department of national health, and former professor of biochemistry at the University of Alberta. Chairman was Dr. M. H. Row, provincial deputy minister of health.

MANY REPRESENTATIVES

The committee to be formed will comprise representatives of the Alberta health department, department of education, Alberta Dental Association, Alberta Medical Association, women's extension branch of the department of agriculture, Household Economic Association, Red Cross Society, and three other representatives of organizations to be chosen by Dr. Row and Dr. Pett.

The committee will organize local groups throughout the province to circulate information on nutrition problems in the women of the province and will report to Ottawa the nutrition situation in Alberta, and the work already being done.

Describing the work of his department, which was organized three months ago, Dr. Pett told the meeting that its chief function at present was in keeping war production at a peak by seeing that employers provide adequate restaurant facilities for employees in war industries, and the proper nourishment of these workers.

CAUSE OF ILL-HEALTH

Although a great deal has been accomplished in this work in the three months his branch has operated, Dr. Pett said, many employees still are not as well nourished as they could be.

Co-operation of employers has been excellent, he added, stating that it had not been necessary so far to use his authority to make them provide cafeteria facilities.

A recent survey, Dr. Pett said, showed that 60 per cent. of Canadians are adequately nourished, 40 per cent. are in the borderline class and 20 per cent. are seriously undernourished.

This means, he explained, that 60 per cent. of the population can be said to be seriously in danger of ill-health because of dietary deficiencies.

Lack of attention to the choice and preparation of food is the major cause of undernourishment, rather than insufficient food, he said.

"CLEARING HOUSE"

The public must be made fully aware of the nutrition problem, Dr. Pett emphasized. Information must be circulated amongst the women of the home-makers. This required the assistance of every women's organization.

The nutrition branch at Ottawa, he said, was the "clearing house" for such information. "It is time you made use of it," he added.

Among his proposals were an education plan in the Alberta schools and health campaigns throughout the province, to make the people "nutrition conscious" and thereby bring about improvement in health.

List Of Voters For Plebiscite To Be Prepared

OTTAWA, Feb. 21.—(CP)—A complete new voters' list will be prepared for the plebiscite by which the government seeks release from its commitments against conscription, secretary of State McLarty announced Friday in the House of Commons.

But the list will neither be revised nor printed and those whose names are inadvertently dropped may vote after taking the oath and being vouched for by a voter in the same district, he said.

Mr. McLarty, moving the resolution upon which the plebiscite bill will be based, said the cost, if all workers must be paid, will be approximately $1,500,000.

Conservative House Leader Hanson renewed his opposition to the plebiscite, saying it was "an unworthy evasion of a responsibility which properly belongs to this house."

Without doubt the plebiscite is being taken to save the face of the ministry," he said, and added: "It hasn't a single element of courage about it."

Mr. McLarty, whose department will direct the plebiscite, moved the resolution late yesterday afternoon, and Mr. Hanson had only started his remarks when the house adjourned until Monday, at which time this measure will have precedence.

The bill, once it has had second reading, will be sent to a special house of commons committee. At the same time the committee will get the plebiscite regulations which will not be contained in the bill.

ENTITLED TO VOTE

Conscientious objectors and those whose convictions prevent them from entering the armed forces may vote in the plebiscite, but by voting they will relinquish any rights to exemption from compulsory service, Mr. McLarty said.

All members of the Canadian forces, regardless of age, will be permitted to vote in the plebiscite, providing they were British subjects ordinarily resident in Canada at time of enlistment.

Residents of Canada whose racial origins are of countries at war with Canada and who are not permitted to vote in provincial elections, or have not served in Canadian forces will be disqualified. This would exclude Canadian citizens of Japanese origin.

Interned persons will not be permitted to vote.

CIVILIAN QUALIFICATIONS

For the civilian vote, otherwise, the general qualifications laid down in the Election Act will prevail and those disqualified under the Election Act will be disqualified for the plebiscite vote.

Mr. McLarty said the bill will be like that passed in 1898 when there was a plebiscite on prohibition. On that occasion the margin of voting in favor of prohibition was considered by the government of the day as insufficient to warrant action.

That bill provided only authorization and general principles and the present measure would be similar, leaving dates, details and regulations for proclamation.

raid convoys taking supplies to Murmansk, Russia's Arctic port.

The battleship Tirpitz, officially listed as of 35,000 tons, with eight 15-inch guns, is reported in naval quarters to be actually larger, possibly displacing 50,000 tons.

The cruisers reported accompanying it are the Admiral Scheer and the Admiral Hipper.

The Admiral Scheer is officially called an armored ship, and is of pocket-battleship type, especially powerful and mounting six 11-inch guns of a new type which fire 670 pound shells 30,000 yards.

The Admiral Hipper is a sister ship of the Prinz Eugen.

COMMENT WITHHELD ON WARSHIP REPORT

LONDON, Feb. 21.—(CP)—Informed quarters grimly acknowledged today that Germany would be expected to make a straining effort this spring and summer to block the vital northern supply line from Britain to Russia, but withheld comment on a Stockholm report that three big Nazi warships were already enroute to a new naval base at Trondheim, Norway.

While authoritative sources declined to comment or speculate on the possibility that the Royal Navy was taking counter steps, direct evidence came from Germany that the Nazis are now considering the best use to be made of the recently enlarged naval battle line.

Vice Admiral Pfeiffer, writing in Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter, was quoted by Reuters as asserting that "battleships are not played out" in modern warfare.

"They are still the indispensable kernel of sea power," Admiral Pfeiffer declared, adding that the battle of Dover Strait proved his contention and disproved earlier conclusions from the results of Japan's aerial attack on Pearl Harbor and the sinking of the British battleship the Prince of Wales and the Repulse by Japanese warplanes off Malaya.

Admiral Pfeiffer said that capital ships in the future could operate successfully with the protection of aircraft carriers, anti-aircraft cruisers and torpedo craft.

troyer sunk by a torpedo and another ship damaged with the loss of 10 lives.

More than 18 Japanese vessels wer bombed in the Allied attacks on Thursday and Friday, according to today's communiques, but it was pointed out that there may have been some duplications.

LIST OF ATTACKS

The official list of bombing attacks, including possible repeat or duplication attacks, for the two days up to Friday night showed:

1—Three Japanese cruisers hit by American flying fortresses and dive bombers off southeast Bali and two or three enemy cruisers including one that exploded, damaged by Dutch and American warships off Bali.

2—Two enemy destroyers directly hit by Allied aerial bombs off the important Den Pasar airport on the south Bali coast which the Japanese assaulted.

3—Two enemy destroyers damaged by Dutch and American naval forces off Bali.

4—Four ships, apparently transports, hit by U.S. dive bombers off the Den Pasar airport.

5—Three enemy transports and supply ships totalling 21,000 tons hit directly or damaged by near misses in the Musi River, on Sumatra.

NO ATTACK ON JAVA

Except for air attacks on both east and west Java airdromes, there had been no report of a direct assault on Java up to 10:30 p.m. tonight and the Dutch forces still were resisting furiously on some parts of Bali to delay the enemy as long as possible.

The communique said submarines also were aiding the Allies in the naval fighting. The Allied destroyer that was lost was sunk by a torpedo hit.

of time is expected soon.

Hitler's plans for a spring drive were challenged by the army newspaper Red Star with the declaration: "we shall yet advance far westward before spring and when it comes we shall develop our offensive on a still larger scale."

Declaring that a "stubborn, sanguinary struggle is ahead," Red Star reiterated the Russians are fighting to "put an end to Nazi Germany in 1942."

The Moscow radio reported fierce fighting, with tremendous German losses, on a southwestern sector, "where units under command of Kozlov and Minitnov are operating."

CRIMEA FIGHTING

(The reference to Kozlov suggests the southern sector to which the announcer referred was the Crimea. Lt. Gen. D. T. Kozlov, Caucasian front commander, was confratulated by Premier Joseph Stalin New Year's day on landings for a counter invasion of that Black Sea peninsula.)

The Leningrad radio said Soviet forces had penetrated the first and second German lines before that ancient city of Russia and that German counter attacks were unsuccessful.

general canvass yesterday was $170,800. The amount required to complete Edmonton's quota is $335,000.

ALL-OUT EFFORT

"It was the confident expectation of the Workmen's Compensation Board's million dollars and the other large subscriptions which justified Mr. Staples and his committees in calling for an all-out effort to put Edmonton over the top today as the first city in Canada.

"Other substantial subscriptions are in prospect but for various reasons can hardly get in today. The above figures will show that general canvass results produced double yesterday's figure. This will require a multitude of medium and sm a l l subscriptions. Every man, woman and child in Edmonton must contribute to the utmost. Great appreciation is due the banks for keeping open until 6 p.m. on Saturday afternoon to facilitate the making of subscriptions by their depositors.

"So the job is by no means an easy one. That is why the committee has already availed itself of the help offered by the ladies. Ladies' Day gave Edmonton's campaign a magnificent send-off and a second Ladies' Day should make civic history.

"Come on Edmonton!"

BOYS TAKE HONORS

Honor of opening Ladies' and Children's day goes to two boys, Louis Breton, 11, of 12 Gariepy Block, and Billy Brown, 7, of 11710 85 street, who had their escorts waiting at headquarters when the doors opened at 9 a.m.

Their were no "taps" as the truck from No. 3 Manning Depot, R. C. A. F., pulled in to the curb at 8:45 to select their escort.

The Jasper unit exceeded its quota of $34,500 and now stands at $38,000 sent over the minimum and Barrhead with 102.8 per cent and Fairview with 102.5 per cent have also joined the select group. Athabasca, Redwater and Hillcrest also exceeded their quotas earlier in the week. The sub-units of Killam and Coal Branch also exceeded their respective minimum objectives.

Returns from most of the rural units continued to come in at a very slow pace owing to increased hazards due to unfavorable road conditions.

At the end of the first five days the 55 units in Northern Alberta have taken in $4,364,000 which is 78.2 per cent of the quota. The 5 rural units contributed $598,100 of this total and Edmonton the balance.

3,689 SUBSCRIBE

A total of 3,689 Edmontonians have subscribed to date. Campaign officials feel confident that the total number of subscriptions in this campaign will far exceed last year's total of 5,600.

A subscription has been received from Gilbert Plains, one of the most remote points in the Athabasca unit. Two other points, Falher and Kinuso, have asked for application forms. Though not as far north, these two places are quite remote from unit headquarters.

The Lloydminster unit, which is partly in Saskatchewan and partly in Alberta, reported that $50,000 of the $95,000 quota has been subscribed to date.

In Edmonton reports of outstanding work among the Chinese keep pouring in. To date 72 Chinese have contributed $6,800. And reports are that they are still going strong.

The staff of Edmonton Breweries has been signed up 100 per cent strong and 286 employees of C. Woodward Ltd., constituting 95 per cent. of the total staff, have contributed $16,800 to date.

The Edmonton Paint and Glass Co., Ltd., and the Alberta Paint and Glass Co., Ltd., of Calgary, have reported 100 per cent. subscription among their staff members. They subscribed $3,100.

THEY GET REWARD

One prominent Edmonton business man held a meeting of his employees sold them the idea of bond purchases. He gave to each person a box of chocolates to each person. When campaign officials phoned him complimenting him on his generosity, several boxes arrived at the headquarters for the hard-working campaign staff.

Among the special contributions Friday were the following: Taylor & Pearson Co., Ltd., and associates, $25,000. Western Fuel & Coal & Lumber Co., Ltd., $25,000; Doncaster Construction Co., Ltd., $30,000.

Hon. R. Bruce Dies Saturday In Montreal

MONTREAL, Feb. 21.—(CP)—Hon. Robert Randolph Bruce, 80, one-time Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia and a former minister to Japan, died in hospital here today after a brief illness.

His wife was at his bedside at the time of his death.

Besides his wife, his nearest relatives are a step-son, William C. C. Vernon of Montreal, and two nieces, Mrs. Hobart Nelson of Victoria and Mrs. Julian Piggott, living in England.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

EMIGRATED IN 1887

Scottish-born, Mr. Bruce emigrated to North America in 1887. He worked for several months in the United States before coming to Canada, where he embarked on a career that saw him rise from penniless obscurity to wealth and high position.

He was named Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia in 1926 upon conclusion of the term of Hon. W. C. Nichol.

Portugal Protests Invasion Of Timor

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Premier Antonio Oliveira de Salazar told the national assembly today that Portugal has entered an energetic protest to Tokyo against Japanese invasion of the southwest Pacific island of Timor, jointly the territory of Portugal and the Netherlands.

Salazar said that the Japanese knew that Portuguese troops were on the way to take over the protection of the Portuguese portion from Netherlands and Australian troops, who occupied it last December.

"We have remained faithful to the thesis that there can be no strategic reasons for the violation of the sovereignty of states," Salazar said.

Nazis Will Hold Norse Hostages

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 21—(AP)—For every Norwegian fleeing to Britain or Allied nations, police in German-occupied Norway will arrest 10 persons and hold them as hostages, it was announced today in Oslo. One hundred hostages were reported already held.

Civil Servants Are Responding To Victory Loan

Alberta civil servants are subscribing wholeheartedly to the Victory Loan, it was reported Saturday by Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer.

Mr. Low is conducting the internal canvass of the civil service and has been giving addresses in every department office.

The government employees "are doing very well", he said. He expected a large subscription from the men and women in the provincial service.

Immediate Action On Jap Question Is Sought At Coast

VICTORIA, Feb. 21. — (CP) — A telegram urging "immediate action on the Japanese question" and declaring the government was "too slow" in acting on this and other defence precautions was sent yesterday by Mayor Andrew McGavin Victoria to Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Few Escape

CANBERRA, Feb. 21—Army Minister Francis Forde Friday warned relatives of members of the Australian Imperial force which defended Singapore against hopes that any substantial number escaped from Malaya. Last reports placed the strength of this force at 18,321 officers and men.

committee for northern Alberta.

In making the application the board made the following statement to the Victory Loan committee, by letter:

It has been the policy of the Board for the past two years to invest its funds in Federal government securities for two reasons: Firstly, it is the safest form of investment, and: Secondly, it offers the greatest good for our all out war aims.

"The monies so invested do not represent surplus earnings of the Board but represent capitalized values of pensions awarded to widows and dependents of workmen killed in industry, as well as pensions awarded to permanently disabled workmen.

DETERMINE PENSION

"When a pension is awarded the Board ascertains the amount required at three (3%) per cent interest to pay the pension for the life of the pensioner. This amount is transferred from the Accident Fund to a Pension Fund. The Pension Fund, by reason of its provision for future payments, together with interest accumulations, has funds available for investment, and it is from this fund that the Board is making the investments.

"The Board is therefore pleased to announce its ability to join with the citizens of Canada in demonstrating its faith in the justice of the cause, and the final triumph of right over evil."

Empire In Peril States Bennett

BISHER, Surrey, England, Feb. 21 —(CP)—Viscount Bennett, former prime minister of Canada, said today that "unless we can in very reasonable time take steps to meet the peril that confronts us we shall perish.

"Our supremacy as an Empire has been challenged," he said at the opening of a local warship week. "Make no mistake about it. It has been challenged in the east and challenged in the west.

"I never thought, as a boy and, when I grew older, as a man, that the day would come when we would be in such peril."

Australia Gives Approval To New Cabinet Changes

MELBOURNE, Feb. 21—(AAP)—An Australian view on the British cabinet changes is expressed today by the Melbourne Herald, which said they would be received "with profound relief throughout the Empire since they mean that changes in the direction of the war long deemed essential have been achieved while still retaining Prime Minister Churchill's services."

LISBON, Feb. 21—(AP)—The Japanese minister to Portugal said Friday, following a long conference with Prime Minister Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, that Japanese troops would evacuate Timor "after obtaining their objective," provided Portugal "maintains its neutral attitude."

8,000 Men Idle By Gas Shortage

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 21.—(CP)—The natural gas shortage that threw more than 8,000 men out of work here and crippled Windsor's war industries, remained practically unchanged today.

Pressure in the city's gas mains is mounting following the cutting off of industrial supplies, authorities said, but the men sent home yesterday from industrial plants are still idle.

Gordon Wickett, vice-president and general-manager of the Windsor Gas Company, said the mild weather might enable the company to allow gas to some of the more essential industries today and that he expects all industrial consumers will have a normal supply of gas Monday.

CONSTIPATION A LIFELONG STRUGGLE

Relief Found at Last

With perfect frankness a woman correspondent writes:—

"I have suffered from constipation as long as I can remember, and tried all sorts of things—which in some cases seemed to do good at first, but afterwards to have no effect. Then I thought I would try Kruschen in my tea every morning, and I have done so for over a year. I am pleased to say after the first month I had no more trouble with constipation and I have felt very fit."—(Mrs.) G. M. S.

Kruschen helps to maintain a condition of internal cleanliness. The several salts in Kruschen stimulate the organs of elimination to smooth, gentle action. Your system is thus kept clear of clogging waste and poisonous impurities. You can get extra value now in the

This Is The Rampart To Watch In Flaming Pacific

TO AVERT NAZI INVASION

U. S. May Have To Defend Ireland Despite De Valera

Former British Brigadier Major In Canuck Army

CAMP BORDEN, Ont., Feb. 21.—(CP)—The military career of G. P. L. Drake-Brockman, who was court-martialled out of the British army for striking two captive German airmen, is on the rise again.

A brigadier in command of a tank brigade at an English coastal station, Drake-Brockman enlisted as a tank trooper with the Canadian army overseas after he was dismissed from the British army. Now he is stationed here with the rank of major to help train Canada's tank soldiers.

His promotion—from trooper to major—came through last week and left him "dumbfounded" with surprise and pleasure.

The incident that resulted in his dismissal from the British army occurred shortly after Dunkerque while the Nazis were bombing Britain heavily. Spitfire fighters shot down two Junkers bombers over Drake-Brockman's station and two members of the planes' crews who lived were brought before the brigadier.

JOINED AS PRIVATE

The prisoners—a pilot and a squadron leader—"spat on the floor, spat on my shoes, then spat on me and called me a bloody English swine," Maj. Drake-Brockman said in an interview. "That was too much. I struck the squadron leader three times and the pilot twice."

The major said he struck them with an ash stick, that they complained of mistreatment and he was dismissed after a court-martial because "they said my assault would have a detrimental effect on civilians," who were about at the time.

He joined the Canadian Army on Jan. 8 and performed all the duties of a private—scrubbed floors, carried coal and stood sentry-go among other things.

"I had a hope that I might have been commissioned once again, but major!" he said. "I certainly didn't expect that much. Great country, this Canada. Don't see why I missed coming here years ago."

Estimates For Public Works Are Kept Down

OTTAWA, Feb. 21.—(CP)—Estimates for the Dominion government's bill for civilian requirements in 1942-43—down $55,000,000 at $454,884,000 from the original estimates for the current year—were tabled in the house of commons Friday by Finance Minister Ilsley.

Missing from the list of major financial requirements was the Canadian National Railways deficit, which until the present fiscal year usually required the appropriation of several millions.

The estimates cover all requirements except those for war, which are provided for in a separate appropriation act.

The appropriation act is expected to call for about $3,000,000,000, which will include funds to purchase goods for a proposed gift of $1,000,000,000 worth of supplies to the United Kingdom. The actual authorization for the gift will be provided either in the war appropriation bill or as a separate measure.

LARGE REDUCTION

With the appropriation for wheat acreage reduction cut sharply, the agriculture department showed the largest estimated reduction in expenditures with its 1942-43 estimates $30,000,000 lower than those for 1941-42.

An official statement issued with the estimates listed a total of $290,178,000 as "uncontrollable" expenses. They included $168,454,000 as interest on public debt and other debt charges; $38,000,000 for First Great War pensions; $12,000,000 as the government's contribution to the unemployment insurance fund; $31,372,000 for old age pensions; $13,700,000 for care of returned soldiers; $13,769,000 as subsidies for the provinces; and $4,250,000 paid under the Maritime Freight Rates Act.

One-Third Of Victory Loan Is Subscribed

Large subscriptions reported today by national headquarters were Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario $2,000,000; Toronto Electric Commissioners Depreciation Fund $1,500,000; Shell Oil Company of Canada $1,000,000 and F. W. Woolworth & Co., Toronto $750,000.

Some of the best showings in regard to reaching and passing objectives with aggressive speed have been made by the smaller communities across Canada, the loan committee said. Notable example of this is Jasper, Alta., with a normal population of 1,320, only one bank, a few stores and no large incomes.

In the $600,000,000 Victory Loan last June, Jasper's objective was $17,000 but it raised $68,700.

In the present loan campaign, Jasper's quota has been stepped up to $24,500, and the Saturday report to headquarters showed it has been over-subscribed.

the lower Celibes and Banda archipelagos. Tokyo claims landings even on Netherlands-Portuguese Timor opposite bombed Darwin. In Japanese hands that would gravely imperil even the short route from the Pacific via Torres Strait to the south coast of Java.

ENCIRCLEMENT PLAN

It still is difficult to see in these fast-paced developments a prologue for an attempted invasion of Australia. But Java is clearly indicated as the objective of a strangling encirclement, then headlong multiple assaults by sea and air.

London new contributes its conclusion that intensified Nazi submarine operations in the Atlantic are closely linked with events in the far Pacific.

That the German submarine campaign is designed in part to prevent American and British reinforcement of naval and air power in the Pacific is hardly to be doubted.

FORCED ON H ITLER

London expressed the belief that the Atlantic submarine campaign was forced upon Hitler by Japanese demand two months ahead of the date scheduled by Berlin. If that is true, it might indicate Tokyo could already foresee before Singapore

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Sen. George W. Norris, Ind., Neb., said today that the United States may be forced to defend Ireland against German invasion even against Ireland's will.

Norris, a champion of Irish Independence in the 1920's, said in an interview that he could not understand why Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Eire protested the dispatch of American troops to north Ireland.

EXCLUSIVE

"We may be compelled to defend Ireland, even against her will," Norris said. "I have talked to men who think Hitler may try to invade Ireland. If he took it he would have a wonderful base for the invasion of England."

Norris said Germany could conquer Ireland "very easily."

"It wouldn't take much force to do it," he said. "Ireland could not defend herself—she has been asking us for munitions."

HITLER STRONGER

He believed Hitler to be in a stronger position to undertake an invasion of the Irish Free State than for some time. Morris said the successful withdrawal of the battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst and the cruiser Prinz Eugen on Feb. 12 from the French coast anchorages made them potentially effective in the fleet.

In addition, he said, Germany is reportedly building a sister ship to the Bismarck, which sank the Hood last year.

"If Hitler could get a foothold in Ireland he could spread out from there," Norris said. "Bases in Ireland would be a tremendous advantage either to Hitler or to Great Britain, and I hope Hitler won't get them.

"Ireland could get Great Britain under obligation to her if she would permit the British to establish some bases. Then Great Britain could use them to send out vessels and planes to protect the commerce and the munitions we are sending to her."

German Planes Attack Darwin

CANBERRA, Aus., Feb. 21.—(CP)—Enemy planes which raided Bathurst Island near Darwin, Australia, on Thursday included several bearing the swastika symbol, a Royal Australian Air Force communique declared today.

"Confirmed reports indicate that among enemy aircraft which raided Bathurst Island near Darwin Thursday there were several bearing swastika markings," the communique said. "The attack was not heavy. These were some of the planes which raided Darwin."

fell its inability to muster sufficient striking power against the Indies without effective and quick Nazi help.

London reports that Hitler had scheduled his bigger-and-better U-boat campaign in the Atlantic to open in April.

April, late April, has been much talked of around Washington unofficially as the probable earliest date by which Americas air or other reinforcements for the united nation front in the far Pacific could reach important proportions.

It is therefore just as logical to assume that Japanese strategy is based on anticipating a probable April delivery date for American reinforcements in strength at Java or Australia.

Japan's little brown men are grabbing for the No. 1 prize in the East Indies, rich and beautiful Java.

The island is the strategic and economic keystone in the 3,200-mile arch of the Netherlands East Indies archipelago. Its incredibly productive volcanic ash supports 48,000,000 persons, making it the most densely populated corner of the earth.

The doughty Dutch have long known their Javanese treasure storehouse was coveted by Japan. They've made the best preparations in the whole southwest Pacific to keep it safe.

They didn't depend on tenuous communication lines to supply the armed forces guarding the island. Instead, they established a modern arms factory at Bandoeng, where small arms, ammunition and field guns are manufactured. They have their own shipyards at Soerabaja, employing 20,000 men to rush construction of an augmented fleet of fast, hard-hitting torpedo boats.

The mountainous backbone of Java, which includes a dozen active volcanoes, is the main defence line. The highway net winds through mountain passes, and an invader would pay a heavy price for advances through such terrain.

The population, packed 800 to the square mile, might offer evacuation problems. Unless removed from battle zones, the civilian refugees might hamper military movements on the roads.

The Dutch have a compact but powerful navy of five cruisers, eight destroyers, 21 submarines, 12 minelayers and a lot of torpedo boats, estimated at close to 100. Composition of the fleet indicates a defence plan of mining sea approaches and using light, fast forces to raise hob with any troop convoys approaching the island.

Official Dutch sources placed the air force strength at 600 bombers and fighters in January. American, British and Australian planes have reinforced the air force recently. Dutch commercial airlines had established a network of landing fields over the island, and the military had added a number of new and secret air bases.

The army, of mixed Dutch and native troops, numbers 130,000. It's a tough, able force, carrying a high percentage of mechanized equipment and has been strengthened recently by Australian forces.

The chief lack is in anti-tank guns and fighter airplanes, the same weakness that has contributed most to the severe losses suffered by the United Nations in the southwest Pacific. The island's defence depends on whether plane reinforcements get there in time.

A great deal hinges on Java It's the outpost now, guarding Australia and the main Allied bases in the whole area. Its loss would be a terrific setback, not only as strategic ground, but because its vast natural resources would greatly aid the Japanese war effort.

—John Grover.

Dutch Battled Japs With Fists

By HAROLD GUARD

Copyright, by British United Press and The Edmonton Bulletin

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 21.—The Dutch savagely battled the Japanese invaders at Palembang with their bare fists, witnesses who have just arrived from Sumatra said.

The British fought parachutists with anti-aircraft guns.

A British colonel who fought when parachutists first landed, said a detachment was isolated and forced to fight a land battle with Bofors anti-aircraft guns.

EXCLUSIVE

"My boys did a wonderful job of firing timed fuses at almost point-blank range, blasting the monkey-like parachute troops," he said. "I don't suppose anything like that happened before."

ENGLISH REGIMENT

The colonel said his men were part of an English regiment, most of whom were from Birmingham, who were diverted to Malaya while en route to the Caucasus.

"We spent a short time in Malaya, then a section of us went to Sumatra," he said. "We were about 300 strong at Palembang and were right on the spot when the paratroops came. I'm afraid we all didn't get out."

Witnesses said the aircraft maintenance men fought Japanese soldiers with their fists.

An Indonesian air station crew stuck to its post until the last minute. I was told that the foreman actually radioed the head office to ask whether it was all right for control tower watchmen to leave.

SALVAGE EQUIPMENT

The foreman said the watchmen were "choking with smoke," apparently from burning oil tanks about the air field. He said air field crews salvaged much of their equipment and set fire to the buildings before leaving.

It was the old, old story of too many Japanese.

Apparently Netherlands East Indies authorities in Java have taken to heart the lessons of Malaya and Singapore. There are plenty of preparations.

I had my first opportunity yesterday since arriving from Singapore to talk to the man on the street about his reaction to the threat of invasion.

The general attitude is: "It can't happen here."

I have heard that before, and this time I hope I have heard right.

Greek Children Will Be Moved

ANKARA, Turkey, Feb. 21—(AP)—The International Red Cross has arranged for the removal of 9,000 children from Greece, it was announced yesterday. One thousand will be brought to Turkey, 5,000 will be sent to Switzerland and 3,000 to Egypt and Palestine.

Reconstruction At London

Who comprises the Government of Great Britain is the business of the people of Great Britain. Canadians may properly take only a sympathetic interest in the subject, such an interest as they are willing that people in the Old Lands should take in the make-up of the cabinet of Canada. But that interest is, and rightfully, very keen, for Canada's war policy and our national fortunes as well are interlocked with those of Britain and must be vitally affected with the capacity of British leadership.

It is to be hoped that the reconstructed war cabinet of Mr. Churchill will avoid the errors of its predecessor without making new errors on its own account, and set and demand a new standard of efficiency all along the line. But it must not be expected to work miracles. The smaller and differently constructed war cabinet inherits the physical disabilities, as well as the responsibilities, of the former body. It cannot send to Burma or Australia planes and tanks and guns it hasn't got aboard ships which lie on the bottom of the ocean.

These limitations must not be overlooked; they exist none the less though some ministers have been put out of the war cabinet and some new men taken in. What may be looked for and hoped is that the new-comers will bring with them new ideas and new methods, and a "ruthless" willingness to deal with incapables wherever these are found.

Defence Needs Now Recognized

At Ottawa the debate on the Address was dragged out to cover four weeks. That it yielded a return to the public in keeping with the time and effort is not apparent. That it worked some harm to the country is to be feared. Opportunity was taken by extremists—of both types—to say things which did not strengthen national unity or even preserve racial cordiality.

The talk-fest ended in those who want overseas conscription enforced arbitrarily and those who oppose conscription in any circumstances joining to vote against the Government proposal to ask the voters to waive election pledges and sanction conscription if, as and when necessary. The proposal was approved, and the plebiscite will be held in due course.

That the debate focussed the attention of th members on any specific constructive action along any line is doubtful. It covered much ground to focus attention on anything, and constructive ideas do not shine from the pages of the official record.

The nearest approach to useful emphasis on any subject was the interest shown in national defence. This interest was far from being as strong or as general as it should have been, but at least parliament has progressed to the point where it is not considered positive disloyalty to Britain to speak of the need of building up defence forces in Canada. And that is a good way from the ill-concealed cynicism with which home defence plans were criticised one year ago—in parliament and out.

A Good Place For Trust Funds

The Workmen's Compensation Board of the province has subscribed $1,000,000 to the Victory Loan. The size of the subscription may arouse some wonder as to how the Board happens to have so much money on hand. Its funds are of course obtained by collecting fees every pay-day from employers and employees. Does this subscription mean that the Board has been collecting away in advance of its needs and must find some place to invest the surplus?

Not at all. This money is ear-marked to pay pensions which have been already awarded, and is held by the Board in trust for those to whom it must be eventually paid. The procedure is this. When a pension is awarded the board finds out what amount of money, with interest at 3 per cent, will be required to pay the pension instalments throughout the probable lifetime of the pensioner. The sum is then taken out of the "accident fund" and set aside in the "pension fund"—to be used only to meet the pension payments as these fall due.

During the past two years it has been the practice of the Board to invest this pension fund money in Dominion bonds, because these are the safest securities in which investment can be made, and because the Dominion urgently needs money for war purposes. The million now subscribed is money taken from this fund, and the action is in accord with the regular practice of the Board.

So far as contributors to the compensation funds are concerned, the position is the same as though this money had been paid out in lump sums to those to whom pensions have been awarded. The money does not in reality belong to the Board, nor to the public, nor to those who are paying compensation dues. It belongs to the persons to whom pensions have been granted, and is being held in trust until the payments have to be made.

Too Early To Cheer

Not the least reassuring bit of news from the Russian front is the official warning issued through Izvestia: "We must not lose our heads. The enemy is wounded but not killed. The enemy still is on the approaches to Moscow. The danger is not yet passed."

It has happened on more than one occasion that over-confidence has turned certain victory into disastrous defeat. The success won by the Russians is so sweeping, and the relief from imminent peril so great, that they might easily "lose their heads"—and thus lose the campaign. They are facing an ingenious and resourceful foe, still ingenious and resourceful while his armies are falling back, perhaps more so than in more prosperous circumstances.

There can be no security for Russia, as there can be none for any of its allies, until the Axis has been smashed beyond possible recovery. Hitler means to have the Russian wheat-lands and oilfields. His purposes have not changed because of one failure to get them. They will never change while he lives and holds power to strike another blow.

The Russians have fought steadily under desperate conditions. If they continue to hold steady, they have made a permanent advance along the road which will lead to safety and peace. But that road is long, longer now than it seemed some weeks ago, despite the Russian victories. There will be plenty of time to cheer when the end is reached, if in the meantime the Allied powers keep fighting resolutely on that and every other front.

V

Australians were surprised that the Japanese, while fighting pitched battles in Sumatra and Burma and Manila, and carrying on bombing raids in a dozen other places, could spare 72 bombers and a fleet of fighters for the first attack on Port Darwin. The airmada was of overwhelming size in that part of the world, and the largest the enemy has used anywhere in a first attack. But Germany lost more than that many planes in a single day over Britain, and has lost probably as many in a day, on more than one occasion, in Russia. Japan has superior air power in the Pacific, but only because its opponents there are away below par.

From an advertisement it appears that the Edmonton district will not be much longer without a roller mill. Messrs. Mackenzie, Ross, Holt, Mann and Nanton are the applicants for letters patent incorporating a milling company with a capital of $35,000. The fact that men of such experience and shrewd judgment and knowledge of the country are ready to put money into a milling enterprise at Edmonton is good proof of the capabilities of the district for wheat growing.

Onesime Montagnais, a well-known half-breed plain hunter of the old times, took up a ranch last summer a short distance below Battle lake on the extension of the Battle river, lying south-east from Edmonton. "Singapore Mentality"

Urges Canada and Canadians to Go All Out For Total War Immediately

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Bulletin: Today, in Canada, there is a grave danger of the "Singapore" mentality, that attitude that lulls people into a false sense of security by believing "it can't happen here" and which leads to disaster. This distant view must be uprooted now.

There is no half-way to victory. It is either total war or "Singapore." Emphatically, let there be no mistake about that. Let us act now. All that stands in the way of full mobilization for victory must be swept aside. This must be done or Canada will be enslaved.

The controversy on the pending plebiscite is bringing out some of the "Singapore" trends in Canada. The situation demands that the present government be released from its "no conscription" pledge of the 1940 federal election and the Quebec provincial election. It is no time for half-way methods. We must learn from Singapore.

The plebiscite had to be held, will be held and, since it is, we must see to it that it means an end to the "Singapore", disastrous results.

Some call for conscription for home defence only, of waiting until Hitler comes up the St. Lawrence river before going all out. The peoples of the other twenty-six United Nations are fighting and die wherever the enemy is to be found but Canadians, second to none in the air, land or sea, they will tackle Hitler on Bay St. Huron. These ostriches must not fool us. They will not. We must fight the Nazis in Germany.

There are in the "no plebiscite" people who have a partisan axe to grind and whose noise about "total war" was answered in the recent by-elections in the east. Yet, this noise goes to undermine confidence in our war effort to some extent.

Some insist that we must have conscription of wealth before that of manpower, a position very much out of keeping with the social situation in Canada. Our people are not prepared for such action and to impose it now would cause such disruption in the crisis in our war effort that Hitler would march into this gap in triumph. Now, we must utilize the democratic method to the full as it is being done in Britain and the U.S.A., where all-out war effort is not being made conditional upon wealth conscription. There must be no delay now, as what is done now counts more than anything a year from now. We must meet Hitler now.

The present federal administration, after all, has the support of the majority of our people. It must come to the Canadian people at once and define what the plebiscite stands for in such a way that the affirmative vote will fall upon Berlin, inspired by anti-conscription Canadian airmen, in shattering language, the only language the Nazis understand.

$1.30 a Day For All

Editor, Bulletin: Do we want to win the war? You bet we do. Then so why not put everyone on the war footing?

Soldiers receive $1.30 per day. What is good for the soldier is good for everyone else. My slogan is $1.30 per day for everyone, regardless of their capacity, for the duration. MOTHER.

Too Late

Editor, Bulletin: The letter headed "Social Control" in the Saturday Night issue of February 18 was much to the point and I heartily second it.

As for Dorothy Thompson's article on the same page and her queries and answers about Democracy, it suggests this: When a Democracy ceases to be a Democracy, except in name, and becomes a true Plutocracy, then we get all that Dorothy Thompson complains about and then some!

Such misguided pacifist Democracy carries within itself the seed of its own destruction!

Draft Wendell Willkie

Editor, Bulletin: The present unhappy condition of Canada is due to the inability or unwillingness of our government to realize that, although they have asked all Canadians in all ranks of life to make sacrifices for the war effort, they are unwilling to make any sacrifices themselves, especially to their possible political disadvantage.

This brings out the fact that we are the only member of the United Nations which has not produced a war leader.

Due to "sectionalism," which is the national handicap of Canada, it seems improbable that we will produce an unbiased leader.

Therefore, why not seek a man who could really lead this country to an all-out united war effort.

A sister Dominion is faced with invasion while we are in politics!

Conscript Industry

Editor, Bulletin: May I say this to Mr. Weir in comment on the Saturday Night Review?

You have implied, although not very clearly, yet one more angle to this anti-unity and anti-conscription menace:

Is Canada sufficiently up to support her troops when in the field or will she be like impotent England and leave them with that sense of sentiment but no protection in far-off outposts?

You are right—we have such a success at making unilateral peace, we missed a chance at doing the wrong thing yet!

Why are we subscribing to a Victory Loan? Why not give the millions of people's pennies? Hitler doesn't need money, only material and labor. He has proved his method and system of industry proved the inefficiency of ours. We need vast sums to bribe heavy industry with big profits to make our weapons of war. Never in the history of the world have profits been so great as they are today—yet they refuse to operate at a limited or controlled profit.

Why not conscript industry?

Up to the attack on Pearl Harbor Canada was sending heavily guarded shipments of nickle to Japan and quantities of wheat to make them healthy and worthy fighters. The U.S.A. were sending scrap and unassembled planes.

Money, or high finance, has proved its utter lack of patriotism in the past and also in the present by its demand for sky-rocketing profits in war industry.

Why not conscript industry?

Are our prime ministers marionettes and, if so—who pulls the strings? Ours is a democratic farce! A sop for the people and a milk-cow for the wealthy. Abraham may not mind offering his lasac but not his money-bags. Squeeze a shekel and he groans dismally and promotes a Federal Election.

Your Saturday article was tragically true but the great majority wouldn't believe it even if they could read it in the history books a hundred years hence.

We are playing at soldiers again. The Charge of the Light Brigade and the charge of the French Chasseurs before Metz but then it turned out all right. This time the enemy plays too rough—he won't stop at 4 o'clock in the afternoon for a cup of tea. We are surprised and deeply shocked at his bad manners and will continue to be surprised until we too give our all out resistance. Why not conscript industry?

Give us more pruning and less grafting on the political plum tree.

Enemy Aliens

Editor, Bulletin: As a Canadian of a few generations, I write this letter in protest to the proposed condition about to be granted the enemy aliens. I understand there is some thought to pay the Japs 40 cents per hour for road work.

Our own native sons of Canada received 20 cents a day in relief camps and did road work. Scores of these boys were killed by the Japanese in Hong Kong; therefore if 20 cents per day was enough for those boys, then it is too much for the Japs. Please let us look our own boys up. They all need our support, but we will not be doing that if we treat the enemy better.

I think you will find a good coup of men, who endorse the 40-cents-per-hour scale for the Japs are traitors to those boys who have signed their life for Canada.

"Won By Waiting"

Editor, Bulletin: The time element apparently does not count in Mackenzie King's war strategy. Three months for a plebiscite, three months to get organized (if vote is in the affirmative), four months' training before troops are fit for overseas service, another month, or perhaps two, for transport to the theatre of war.

So about twelve months hence our boys will arrive at their various destinations, in time, we hope, to put on their brand new walking-out dress, to goose step in the world's biggest victory parade.

No Plebiscite Needed

Editor, Bulletin: When your neighbor's house is on fire you do not usually take a vote of your family to give a hand at protecting your own home.

The people of Canada are fed up with the shilly-shally of our Federal Government. We remember that it was the action of Mackenzie King that delayed the Air Training School policy for years and that has caused delay and subsequent loss of life with speeded-up training.

We remember the long list of repeated requests he refused to stop scrap iron and war supplies to Japan, and made treaties detrimental to Britain. Now he is too cowardly to take direct action and get on with the war of defense and offense.

I have yet to find the citizen of any political party who is not in favor of conscription of everything to make the winning of the war possible.

If Mackenzie King wants to go to the country himself, o.k., but to waste precious time and money on a referendum to soothe his ego, we say no, and again no. Get on with the war.

Sugar a Vital Need

Editor, Bulletin: Doubtless people "will be decent" and not hoard sugar, but then one pound would look more encouraging; especially when there are children. We are now told that children require sugar, to provide energy for the normal activity of healthy children.

At last it is also made clear why "candy is all hours" is bad. Sugar, it seems, taken into an empty stomach causes irritation and damage to that organ—therefore it is a form of defense to eat.

Last spring, with the world already becoming increasingly involved in the ever-spreading grip of war, Canada had the power to add a worthwhile contribution in producing sugar and helping in other ways.

Those who were responsible for cutting down beet production then should at least have the decency to save sugar to someone else for the duration.

One Pensioner's Thanks

Editor, Bulletin: As one of the many old age pensioners I read with delight that we are to receive an extra $5 per month on our monthly allowance of $20.

Now, I feel that we are very much indebted to the people and many broad-minded people who have so kindly taken up our cause. Without their help I am afraid we should not have got far, as we have nothing to fight our battle with.

So will you please convey to these people through your paper, my grateful thanks? I am sure it is the feeling of very many others in the province.

A GRATEFUL ONE.

Women Must Take Over

Editor, Bulletin: Would Germany, Italy and Japan have been able to make war all over the world if the nations they are now fighting had refused to supply them with equipment, munitions and scrap dealers to supply them with the materials of war during the past years?

How long could Japan, for instance, have carried on her war if Canada and the United States had not sold her iron, steel, oil and scrap?

When this war is over, surely the women of the world will have to see to it that never again will they be condemned to death be allowed to roam the earth peddling their devilish wares for profit.

Do We Stay Awake This Time?

Adjusting School Terms

FROM THE REGISTER-REPUBLIC, ROCKFORD, ILL.

Three high schools in DeKalb County will go on a six-day week basis for the second semester so they may close on May 9 to enable students to help with farm work. The plan was worked out by boards of education and faculty members at Lee, Shabbona and Malta because of the shortage of farm labor.

While the idea is new in this part of Illinois, adjustment of the school year to farm needs has been worked out successfully over a period of years in a number of counties in upper central Wisconsin. In the area where potatoes are raised, the term begins late in August, about two weeks before schools open elsewhere, so that classes can be suspended for two weeks in October for potato digging.

During the "potato vacation" youngsters of all ages, and frequently their teachers, too, help in the fields. When the crop is in, they return to their classrooms, certainly none the worse for two weeks of activity in the crisp, fresh air of Autumn.

Education should not be neglected during the period ahead, but it will be necessary for those who operate our schools to adjust their thinking to the demands of wartime. What has been done by the boards and faculty of three DeKalb County schools show that they are alert to the needs of the day.

Vichy N'Est Pas Neutre

Par ALBERT GUERIN
Président du Conseil De Gaulle a Buenos-Aires

Le Céleste Empire du Soleil Levant a diaboliquement frappé dans la nuit. Le Nain Jaune aux yeux bridés, dissimulant son arme sous ses messages pacifiques, a sauvagement poignardé l'Amérique. Révellés dans le sang, les Etats-Unis se mettent dressés et farouchement jetés dans la bataille. La guerre s'étend à l'univers. Nul ne peut désormais en son logis se regarder, impassible, flamber la maison voisine. Le balcon est en feu; l'univers est en flammes.

Hier on ne devait pas, aujourd'hui on ne peut plus être neutre. Immobilisés ou incendiés, agresseurs ou victimes. Brûler ou éteindre. Assassiner ou défendre. Il faut choisir.

Choisir entre le Japon et l'Amérique, entre l'Italie et l'Afrique, entre l'Allemagne et l'Europe. Choisir entre les totalitaires et l'humanité. . . .

Nul citoyen, nulle nation ne peut échapper à ce choix, et la France tombée à l'avant-garde du combat, moins que personne.

Si les totalitaires pouvaient vaincre, la Marseillaise serait étouffée, les Droits de l'Homme effacés et notre liberté, égalité, fraternité abolie. Ce combat est celui de la Révolution Française, de Valmy et de la Marne qui continue, ce combat est toute l'oeuvre humaine de la France défendue par l'univers, ce combat est notre combat.

Cependant Vichy proclame sa neutralité! Vichy ment. Vichy n'est pas, ne peut pas être neutre. Vichy, l'anti-France, est dans le camp de l'ennemi, dans le camp des bourreaux.

C'est Vichy qui a donné à l'homme jaune le poignard permettant d'attaquer l'Amérique. Prenez un alias, regardez la carte. Jamais le Japon s'il n'avait disposé de l'Indochine, n'aurait pu attaquer la Malaisie anglaise et les Philippines; jamais les vagues d'avions et les troupes de débarquement n'auraient pu partir des bases japonaises, trop éloignées du champ de bataille. Jamais le "Repulse" et le "Prince of Wales" n'auraient pu être coulés sans la trahison de Vichy. L'Indochine a servi de tremplin pour attaquer l'Asie, comme la Syrie, sans l'intervention anglo-française Libre, aurait servi de tremplin pour attaquer l'Afrique.

Vichy, l'anti-France, a couvert de boue le drapeau qu'elle ose faire flotter à Saigon côte à côte avec celui du Japon. Il sera lavé dans le sang des traîtres. L'honneur de notre pays l'exige. Par la victoire, nous récupérerons ainsi "Honneur et Patrie." Pour son honneur, le peuple de France n'est pas en flotte ce drapeau, livré par Vichy à l'ennemi.

Vichy n'est pas la France.

A défaut de gouvernement, le peuple de chez nous, peuple-né, a lui aussi, arraché aux bourreaux et aux traîtres le drapeau déchiré pour, avec de Gaulle, le faire flotter dans le camp des soldats de la liberté.

Si Vichy, par l'Indochine, a tendu la main au Japon, la France, par toutes ses îles du Pacifique, ralliées à de Gaulle, a tendu la main aux Etats-Unis. Ces centaines de petites îles, escales aériennes, bases maritimes et arrêts de navires marins, seront une excellente liaison, par le sud, entre les Etats-Unis et les champs de bataille. Ainsi, dans le Pacifique, comme en Afrique, comme en Europe, la France, malgré Vichy, malgré Vichy, reste présente dans le combat.

Les événements d'Extrême-Orient, si douloureux qu'ils soient, ne doivent point nous faire perdre de vue le théâtre des opérations. Ce n'est pas à Tokio, mais à Berlin, que se règlera le sort de la guerre.

Hitler abattu, la victoire totale est certaine. Or, partout, dans les sables africains comme dans les neiges russes, les hordes nazies reculent. Leurs pertes sont énormes, le froid, la neige, tuent plus et mieux que les balles.

La victoire est en marche. L'enchaînement des faits entraîne les criminels vers la défaite et l châtiment. L'apprenti sorcier qui déchaîna la guerre périra par la guerre. L'attaque brusquée japonaise sur l'Amérique est un geste aussi logiquement désespéré que celui de l'Allemagne sur la Russie, le 29 Juin. Le temps travaillait contre le Japon, comme il travaillait contre Hitler. La menace américaine se dessinait à l'Ouest comme la menace russe se dessinait à l'Est. Chaque jour qui passait était une bataille gagnée pour les armées de la liberté. Faute de matières premières essentielles à la poursuite de la guerre et de pouvoir faire sauter le blocus anglo-saxon, ni le Japon, ni Hitler ne pouvaient plus nourrir leurs machines de guerre. Après la Chine et l'Indochine, le Japon allait ruiner sur les Indes Néerlandaises, les Philippines, les Etats-Unis, entraîné par les mêmes lois, par le même diabolique enchaînement de faits que celui qui poussa Hitler, après avoir occupé l'Europe, à se ruer sur la Russie. Le même destin l'attend. Il s'écroulera, victime diabolique comme Hitler s'est écrasé sur la Russie.

Les premiers engagements sont et ne peuvent être que favorables à l'aggresseur. Ils ne doivent laisser aucun doute sur l'issue de la bataille. La Victoire sera nôtre.

Jamais nous n'avons eu autant de raisons d'optimisme. L'Empire britannique est plus seul debout dans la bataille, les "forces immenses de l'univers libre" invoquées par de Gaulle, sont dressées à ses côtés. Empire britannique, Russie, Etats-Unis jettent leurs inépuisables ressources humaines et matérielles dans la Bataille. L'incomparable puissance industrielle nord-américaine reçoit le coup de fouet de l'agression, de l'insulte. Elle y répond par la mobilisation de toutes ses forces. Plus d'isolationistes, plus de grèves. Tout l'effort est tendu vers la guerre, rien que la guerre.

Non seulement les Etats-Unis lutteront et vaincront dans le Pacifique, mais ils augmenteront encore l'aide industrielle qu'ils apportent à la Grande-Bretagne et à la Russie.

Face à la formidable coalition Etats-l'Allemagne, qui n'a pu rompre l'étau qui l'enserre et qui chancelle sous les coups de l'héroïque armée russe, le Japon qui, de quatre ans de guerre, n'a pu avoir raison de la Chine, l'Italie épuisée et sans combativité, ne sauraient valoir.

Nous triompherons parce que notre cause est, juste, que nous sommes forts, et que ce qui est le plus juste finit toujours par être le plus fort.

Daylight Saving

WINNIPEG FREE PRESS

In the early days of the war the Government made daylight saving compulsory for duration in most of Ontario and Quebec. Why it was not extended across the whole country at that time nobody knows. If it was useful in Ontario and Quebec there is no reason to believe it would not have been useful everywhere else. But no action was taken. Indeed; it was strongly asserted that no action would be taken.

Then the United States passed a law enforcing this admirable reform, and what happened? Canada did the same, though after a period of hesitation to which we have become too much accustomed.

It is fine that daylight saving will be put in force, but why on earth did we have to be driven into it? This is the kind of thing that leaves legitimate ground for criticism of the Government that it moves too slowly and lacks leadership and understanding. A good many of its difficulties it has earned as honestly as can be.

Alberta District News In Brief

Birth Of Baby Brings Fifth Generation To Rimbey Folk

* * * * * * * *

Two Families Now Split Honors

* * * * * * * *

RIMBEY—The birth of a baby girl on Feb. 9, at St. Paul's hospital at Rimbey introduces the fifth generation in two Alberta families. She is little Donna Margaret Connell, whose mother, Mrs. Wilfred Connell, 19, was the former Margaret Howatt. Her mother, Mrs. H. R. Howatt, 36, of Glendon, Alta., is the grandmother.

Mrs. Howatt's father, H. L. Steven, 59, of the Iola district northwest of Rimbey, is the child's great-grandfather and Mr. Steeves' mother, Mrs. T. Steeves, of Olds, who is hale and hearty at 86, is the great-great grandmother.

But that is not all, for on the other side of the family are five generations also.

ON PATERNAL SIDE

The great great grandmother on the paternal side is a very well-known pioneer of Rimbey, Mrs. Mary Woods, 82, who came to this district from Pennsylvania in 1907 and has the unique record of having run a boarding house for half a century—no less; she now lives in the Iola district northwest of Rimbey with her daughter, Mrs Frank Peabody, 64, the new-born baby's great-grandmother.

Mrs Peabody's daughter, Olive, who recently moved from Rimbey to Vancouver, is the 38-year-old grandmother and mother of Wilfred Connell, 21, the proud young father.

Back On Duty

Lieut. H. A. Driver of the South Alberta Regiment, who has returned to his unit in eastern Canada after spending leave with his wife and three daughters at Jasper, Alta. He is a veteran of the First Great War and before enlistment was on the warden's staff at Jasper National Park.

Wedding Ceremony At Sylvan Lake

SYLVAN LAKE — Wednesday evening a pretty wedding took place at the Sylvan Lake hotel. The bride was Miss Sylvia Kvores, youngest daughter of Mrs. K. Kvores of the Evarts district and the late Mr. M. Kvores. The bridegroom was Mr. Irwin Howard Scott, son of the late Mr. D. Scott and Mrs. Patterson of Barrhead.

Rev. John Hart, B.D., of Sylvan Lake was the officiating clergyman. The bridesmaid was Miss Ursel Gaetz of Red Deer. The best man was Mr. Allan Northey of Red Deer. A reception followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Scott will return to Red Deer after a wedding trip to southern Alberta.

With The Men In Uniform

CORONATION—Flt. Sgt. E. V. R. Merrick, R.C.A.F., Edmonton, was home on week-end leave.

ENDIANG—In honor of Pte. Alton Kenney, a surprise party was held in the cafe this week. The young people gathered from the surrounding country to play games and sing.

SYLVAN LAKE—Radio Technician Dick Cameron, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Cameron, is home on leave after completing his course at Fredericton, N.B. He will report at Toronto.

KILLAM—AC2 James Creighton is home on leave from Claresholm. . . W. Remin, R.C.A.F., returned home on leave Wednesday from Trenton.

RIMBEY—AC2 Sylvanus Keith, R.C.A.F., of Rimbey, who has been stationed at Edmonton, has been transferred to another point in Canada. His mother and grandmother motored to Edmonton to spend the week-end with him, prior to his departure.

600 Years Is Total Figure Family's Age

RIMBEY—D. H. Watts, well known farmer at Rimbey, where he has lived continuously since 1907, arrived home last week after an absence of several weeks, spent on a visit to his early home at Jacksonville, Ill. There he joined a family of seven brothers and two sisters who had not been completely reunited for nearly 35 years.

Mr. Watts is the oldest at 76, and the ages of the others range down to 57, the combined figures adding up to 600 years—and Mr. Ripley should hear of it. Mr. Watts says that he saw a marvelous transformation in old towns and cities since his last trip to the United States, back in 1916 but among all the points visited there was not one he would trade for Rimbey.

Town Stagettes Are Hostesses

VERMILION—The new organization of the young ladies of the town held their first evening's entertainment in the Masonic Temple last Wednesday. The ladies and their friends had a very enjoyable evening of bridge, whist and dancing. These young ladies have dubbed themselves Stagettes. A full-sized argument is in progress as to whether "Stagette" is the feminine or diminutive of "Stag".

V

RIMBEY—A "stag" party was held last week night at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Burke when more than 20 neighbors gathered to play whist, checkers and euchre. At the same time their wives were entertained just across the road at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Grinde. Proceeds from both affairs were turned over to the Rimbey branch of the Red Cross Society.

Talk Encouraging On Farmers' Plea

LLOYDMINSTER — The recent delegation to Ottawa "asked for parity prices for their wheat so that they, the farmers of Saskatchewan, could buy back the things they need at parity prices, and they were given the assurance they would have that." This was the encouraging statement made to the Lloydminster board of trade at its regular meeting Thursday by H. S. Cressman, a member of the delegation.

E. H. Davies, another delegate pointed out that the price of wheat was not in conformity with other values.

F. H. Dunstan, moving a vote of thanks to the speakers, said he believed that in remedying the farmers problems the government would be going a long way to relieving the economic conditions of the whole Dominion.

John E. Sydie, chairman and organizer of the Northern Alberta Victory Loan campaign, was also a guest at the meeting. He claimed that the government was embarking on a far-sighted war defence plan, and the citizens of the Dominion, by denying themselves a few small things they have been used to, could give great assistance.

Touching briefly on agriculture, he stated that farm produce, except wheat, was higher than it had been. Referring more especially to hogs, he stated that Canada looks today to Britain as her hog market, but he asked if Britain were invaded, where would our hogs market, and the market for much more of our produce be. He pointed out that in supporting the Victory loan, we were not only investing to help democracy, but were protecting our markets.

In giving a vote of thanks to Mr. Sydie, Mr. Miner stated that up to that afternoon Lloydminster had raised $45,000 of its $95,000 quota on Canada's 2nd Victory Loan.

J. D. Hamilton, president of the board of trade, presided, and Major Dr. G. L. Cooke introduced the speakers.

Miskiw; treasurer, D. Slobodian; directors, Nick Bandurd, Pete Bereziuk, Andrew Dilan, H. W. Miskiw, J. H. Bilyk, Frank Sunday.

Mr. McMillan of Edmonton and John Wilinsky of Hilliard gave addresses on the co-operative movement.

Loan Drive At Alberta Points

KILLAM — The Victory Loan drive quota of $8,000 here has been over-subscribed, purchases totalling $8,300 by Thursday night.

SYLVAN LAKE — The Victory Loan quota has been set at $2,200 and on Thursday 43 per cent of this amount had been subscribed. W. A. Bise is unit organizer. On Tuesday night, Feb 24, a beacon fire to create interest in the campaign will be lighted on the shore of the lake.

CORONATION—In spite of inclement weather this week, Victory Loan canvassers had turned in $5,300 in bond purchases by Wednesday night. Organizer McArthur is in charge of the drive and the quota is $25,000. The committee has made arrangements for a special free showing of National Film Board pictures in the Elks' Hall Saturday in connection with the campaign.

Gleaned From Rural News

ENDIANG — Miss Jessie Russell left this week for Edmonton where she has been accepted as a cook in R.C.A.F. Previous to her visit with her mother and brother at Endiang, Miss Russell was employed as pastry cook for the C.N.R. depot at Edmonton.

HANNA—A valentine tea sponsored by the local Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen was held recently. Mrs. J. Stoetzel and Mrs. R. Henry poured tea. A door prize was won by Mrs. E. E. Holmes.

Mr. and Mrs David Crawford and son have moved to Younstown today where they will make their home for a time. Mr. Crawford is overhauling road machinery for the special areas in readiness for spring's work.

CORONATION—Swift's Creamery obtained a "B" certificate for producing over 97% Top Grade during 1941. There were only five certificates of merit issued by the Alberta government during the past year. G. A. Hall, local creamery manager, won 4th prize for butter grading at the Alberta Dairymen's Association convention in Calgary recently. This competition was open to all butter graders in the province.

Coronation branch of the Red Cross Society received $7.25 from the Clinton community recently.

JASPER—Sunday School students of St. Mary's Anglican Church presented a concert this week. Juniors were trained by Mrs. W. Cleveland, superintendent, and the intermediates by the Rev. Mr. Hunt. Those taking part in the program were: Infant Sunday School students, Walter Brodie, Boys' Club, Primrose Heckley, Mr. J. Heckley, Mrs W. Cleveland, Mrs. D. B. Mahood, Marion Cleveland, Rev. Mr. Hunt, Ramsey Heckley, Marjory Lewis, Miss Bea Bryant.

Mrs. J. E. Doyle entertained at tea in compliment to her mother Mrs. E. Pearson who was celebrating her 70th birthday. Mrs. Pearson is a pioneer resident of the Hoadley district and has lately come to Jasper to reside with her daughters Mrs. R. D. Riley and Mrs. J. E. Doyle. Mrs. Doyle was assisted at the tea hour by Mrs. Bowser.

Natural Death Jury's Verdict

FAIRVIEW—At an inquest in Fairview, a coroner's jury Thursday ascertained that Anton Matichevich, 43-year-old bachelor found dead Feb. 3, 20 miles northwest of Fairview, met death through natural causes. Witness John Humphreys, Scotswood district, described to Coroner Dr. W. L. Chisholm the finding of the body. Other witnesses called to the stand, Thomas Stish, Anton Mueller and Alfred Lawrence, told of seeing the dead man a few days before his death.

Dr. Chisholm reported that no poison was present in large enough quantities to cause death. The inquest was conducted by R.C.M.P. Cpl. H. L. Walker, Fairview. Jurymen were Dean D. Stair, R. D. Van Hook, Gordon Hull, Dave D. Mackie, Walter A. Hemmelock and E. E. McAdams of Fairview.

Jack Smook, Highland Park, was sentenced by Justice of the Peace D. D. Stair, Feb. 9, to Fort Saskatchewan jail for a term of 90 days for delivering "moonshine" to Anton Matichevich a short time before the latter's death.

Officer Of Indian Army Is Awarded Victoria Cross

LONDON, Feb. 20—(CP)—Lt.-Col. Arthur Edward Cumming of the Indian army was awarded the second Victoria Cross of the Malayan campaign for his daring in counter-attacking with a handful of men which enabled the withdrawal of a brigade headquarters and a battalion threatened by a strong Japanese penetration.

The London Gazette, in announcing the award, said Col. Cumming, holder of the Military Cross, was wounded four times. All members of his party were wounded.

Cripps Move May Indicate Social Change

that he is generally ill, since his asthma is an extreme liability in the English winter season, no clues are available on his exact position in Washington, whence he will move shortly. He may become chairman of the North American supply council, on which Canada's representative is Mr. Howe. Or he may simply retire to Arizona and rest.

In any case, the view here is that Canadian-born Beaverbrook, spectacular dynamo of British production, has dropped into the background. A fierce political quarrel is understood to have raged between Beaverbrook and Ernest Bevin, and only a few weeks ago sources from London suggested Bevin might lose. However, Bevin has won.

Oliver Lyttleton, Beaverbrook's successor, apparently with restricted powers, is largely unknown in Ottawa. The Churchill government has not yet created a production ministry comparable, with Hon. C. D. Howe's department of munitions and supply, in authority and scope. Certainly Mr. Lyttleton at present does not loom up as a potential British Mr. Howe, whose only competer among the united nations is Donald Nelson, U.S. production czar.

GOING SOCIALIST

The question asked about Cripps in Ottawa today is the old question about Britain, whether the old country is going socialist. M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader who studied the British situation at first hand last summer, admitted he was astonished at developments in the British cabinet. The expectation has been that Cripps would emerge as powerful opposition leader, since a powerful opposition undoubtedly exists in Britain against the Churchill government, though not against Mr. Churchill.

Cripps is known as the man who believes Russia can win the war this year, if properly supplied by Britain, the United States, and Canada. Canadian authorities believed they were meeting their commitments with respect to Russia, but since General McNaughton came home and began looking into Canadian war production, with his insight into modern war needs, it is accurate to say everyone is not sure of this now.

The price Churchill will have to meet, in acquiring Cripps, is believed to involve all-out aid to Russia immediately and perhaps a reconstruction of British war policy to fit the prospects of Russian success. These possibilities would have immediate repercussions on Canada's policy, now plainly in the stage of transformation, under the rising peril of the Pacific.

PREPARE FOR OFFENSIVE

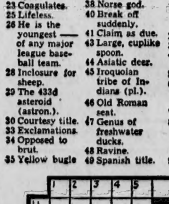

While Churchill may have decided to meet Russian desires to a greater extent, and may call on the dominions to do likewise, another version of London changes was heard here. It was that British politics is closing its ranks against the ready signs of inspiring offensives of the Axis. In this connection a theory held in some circles is that Cripps has won a decisive engagement over the traditional Conservative domination of British policy, that he is no longer merely a goad to spur the British government, but is becoming actually the agent of political and social transformation inside that government.

Cripps Visit Stirs Up Speculation

Cripps' visit to Russia, and the fact that he is now in Canada, has stirred up speculation in Ottawa as to the possibility of a change in the Canadian government's policy in regard to Russia.

Cripps is known to be a strong supporter of Russia, and it is believed that he will urge the Canadian government to increase its aid to Russia.

Cripps arrived in Ottawa from Montreal by train this morning, and was met at the station by Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply, and Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor.

He is staying at the Chateau Laurier.

Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

POPULAR here since its inception, the Hart House Quartet will renew friendships with Edmonton music lovers at McDougall auditorium on Friday evening, March 6. This will be the group's first visit here since the replacement of Milton Blackstone, violinist, with Allard de Ridder. The quartet now consists of James Levey, first violin; Adolphe Koldofsky, second violin; Allerd de Ridder, viola and Boris Hambourg, cello. The last-mentioned is the sole survivor of the original Hart House Quartet, Geza de Kresz, the original first violinist, returned several years ago to his native Hungary. Harry Adaskin, the original second violin has entered other fields in Toronto and Blackstone resigned last year on account of ill-health.

JOHN OLIVER

The program to be played here includes the Mozart Quartet in B Flat, known as the "Hunting Quartet" by reason of the character of the leading theme of the first movement, which is of the jovial, "hunting horn" type. An Impromptu from the pen of Mr. de Ridder will be included. The program will conclude with Beethoven's E Minor Quartet.

Rehearsals are continuing for the presntation of Sir Edward Elgar's choral work The Banner of St. George, by the combined forces of the McDougall United church choir, the Edmonton Ladies' Chorus and the Edmonton Male Chorus, W. J. Hendra, conductor of the three groups, will lead the combined forces, which will be supported by an orchestra. The performance will be timed to coincide with observances of St. George's Day, April 23.

The University music club will feature an all Tchaikovsky program at its next meeting, to be held at 9 p.m. on Sunday at Convocation hall. The program will include O Thou From Whom All Blessings Come and Legend, by the University choir, conducted by Ottomar Cypris; Chorale in E. Hubnoresque opus 10, No. 2 and an Andante Cantabile, played by L. H. Nichols, at the console of the University Memorial organ; None But the Loney Heart, Punchinello and Why? to be sung by Roger Flumerfelt and the First Movement of the Piano Concerto No. 1 in B Flat Minor, with Mary Drummond Hallen as soloist. The public will be welcome.

Members of the Harpsichord club convened last Sunday at the home of Marjorie Willis, 9730 108 street for their regular meeting. Mrs. M. D. Muttart, the president, was in the chair. Blanche Thornton, secretary, recorded the proceedings. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. N. H. Pierce. The program committee for the occasion will be Marion Rae and Dorothy Craighill.

The program of the February meeting included the overture to Oberon, Weber, played by Dora Newson and Marjorie Willis; Sarabande from Sonata No. 6 for violoncello, in D Major, played by Marion Rae and May Keeler; Come Beloved, Handel, and The Lass with the Delicate Air, sung by Betty McCaskill; Why and Whims, Schumann, played by Dorothy Craighill; Le Matin, Greig, played by Irene Pierce and Mary Broderick; Bluebell, Dewbell, Beslp and When Sweet Ann Sings, Michael, Head, sung by Betty McCaskill; Anitra's Dance from Peer Gynt, Greig, played by Irene Pierce and Mary Broderick; Adagio from Symphony No. 5 in C Minor, Beethoven, played by Sara Spencer and Marjorie Willis and the Waltz, from Faust, Gounod, played by Marion Rae and May Keeler. Sara Spencer was the accompanist.

Interest in the Edmonton Civic Opera Society production of Rudolf Friml's romantic light opera, The Vagabond King, which will be presented at the Empire theatre on March 26, 27 and 28 is reported to be as great, if not greater, than in previous productions. The romantic story of the vagabond poet, who was king for a day and who led the Paris rabble against the Burgundians, has caught the fancy of city theatre-goers. Also, the appealing Friml score, with its stirring Song of the Vagabonds, the caressing Only a Rose, the romantic, Some Day, the wistful Huguette Waltz and others, are great attractions.

Mrs. James B. Carmichael, general musical director, has selected a cast, headed by Joseph Nadeau as Francois Villon and Noreen Bristow as Katherine de Vaucelles. Jean Bratchuk, James Thomson, Dr. Paul Hervieux, Mrs. Guy, Marie Addison and other well-known members of the society will have roles. Henry Atack is rehearsing the chorus and John Rule is dramatic director. The scenery, which is being specially painted and the costumes, which are coming from Winnipeg, promise to set a new mark in beauty and color.

Illness Delays Legislation On Debt Situation

New debt legislation, drafted to replace acts ruled ultra vires by the courts, is ready to be submitted to the legislature but its introduction is delayed in order to allow Premier William Aberhart, who is attorney-general, to review it, it was stated in the house Friday by Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs.

The premier has been absent from the legislature all this week and it is not known definitely when he will be able to return. He is suffering from a sore throat.

Mr. Maynard said he had expected that the debt legislation would be introduced this week but he felt the premier should review it, as the attorney-general's department had worked on its preparation. He hoped to bring in the bill as quickly as possible, he added.

Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial secretary, announced that the report of the special committee, which made a survey of the operations of the University of Alberta, also was being delayed owing to the premier's illness. It would likely be presented next week, he said, answering a question by Dr. L. J. O'Brien, Ind., Grande Prairie.

Outside of these two government statements, the Friday afternoon sitting was taken up by four addresses in the debate on the budget. Speakers were Hugh John Macdonald, K.C., Lib., Edmonton; William Tomyn, S.C., Willingdon; Percy McKelvey, Ind., Ponoka, and E. O. Duke, S.C., Pincher Creek-Crowsnest. Debate was adjourned by J. J. Bowlen, Lib., Calgary, who will be the first speaker Monday.

Supervisors To Guide Music In Schools Urged

Consideration of appointment of supervisors of music who would assist in the Alberta school divisions in showing teachers the proper presentation of a music course, guide music study and conduct examinations, was proposed by William Tomyn, S.C., Willingdon, in a speech in the budget debate in the legislature Friday.

E. O. Duke, S.C., Pincher Creek-Crowsnest, also participated in the debate from the government's side, urging pensions for coal miners, starting at the age of 50, organization of farmers' unions similar to the international labor unions and appointment of an independent commission in charge of fish, game and fur.

URGES WARTIME UNITY

The Willingdon Social Crediter claimed it is especially necessary that proper and equal opportunities be given the children of rural districts who desire musical training. He suggested experimenting in one or two rural districts and report the results for consideration of extension of the plan.

Contending the house has heard "unkind, subtle, direct and indirect insinuations made by certain members of the opposition as to the loyalty of our government," Mr. Tomyn argued the only purpose of these statements was the sowing of disunity and demoralization among Canadians. He urged the need for unity in wartime.

Declaring some individuals throughout Canada deem it their privilege to persistently offer unwarranted and unchecked criticism of the war contribution of one political or racial group, Mr. Tomyn said "it is high time that these supercritics be warned to cease this continuous venomous rattling. Things are dark enough without introducing religious or political prejudices and may I also add racial prejudices. The latter has been clearly exhibited in this house by certain honorable members on the other side."

"ONE BAD EGG"

Earlier in his address, Mr. Tomyn said:

"Mr. Speaker perhaps you recall the simple maxim so often mentioned: 'One bad egg spoils a dozen good ones.' There are three honorable men across the floor that could be placed in the same category of a bad egg. I would suggest that these honorable gentlemen change their present occupations to that of cobblers. Why? Because they would make better heels."

Mr. Duke said the gross revenue from liquor sales in Canada last year totalled $150,000,000 while in 1939 only $113,000,000 was spent in the dominion for all branches of education.

The Social Credit member for Pincher Creek-Crowsnest urged the reduction of the pension age to 60 years and indicated he favored an increase to $1 a day.

After stating farmers have had to sell their produce below the cost of production, urging establishment of the farm union and claiming low salaries paid rural teachers was a direct result of the low return to farmers, Mr. Duke said that in all mining towns in Alberta there are good schools, good teachers and good salaries paid the teachers.

He added this is a result of the local union of the United Mine Workers of America "who will not permit their teachers to subsist on starvation wages and woe betide that school board in a mining town that would attempt to reduce the salaries of the teachers."

In urging pensions for miners, he said in continental Europe prior to outbreak of the war a man who had worked five years in a mine received a pension for the rest of his life and if he worked 10 years thai pension was doubled. "Here a man may work over 50 years and quit without a pension."

He claimed also that either mine operators or the government or both should provide adequate compensation to injured miners.

Mr. Duke advocated that a "clear, accurate treatise on the issue of money and the monopoly of credit" be taught in all public and high schools and claimed this would overthrow the "bankers' racket" in less than a decade and governments will again take over control of the issuance of money and credit.

Enlarged Unit Nominates For Council Today

Nominations for councillors for the enlarged municipal unit known as Stony Plain and embracing the municipal districts of Spruce Grove, Inga and Tomahawk, will proceed today (Saturday) as scheduled, it was announced by Hon. Lucien Maynard, K.C., minister of municipal affairs.

The minister held a conference Friday with representatives of Spruce Grove M.D. and, after consideration of alternative proposals made by them, stated that circumstances made their suggestions unfeasible. He advised them that nominations should proceed.

PRESS OBJECTIONS

The delegation, still wishing to press its objections to the constitution of the new unit, as ordered by the minister, stated they wished to see Premier William Aberhart at a later date. The premier at present is unable to be at his office owing to illness.

VOTING FEB. 28

Nominations are to be filed with Returning Officer Walter Nobbs of Winterburn between 3 and 4 p.m. Saturday. This is the time for all nominations in rural municipalities in the province, as set by statute, and similar nominations are to be filed in four other enlarged units. Elections will be held next Saturday, February 28.

The delegation of Spruce Grove ratepayers, formed following a protest meeting held more than a week ago, when some 200 came to the city to see the premier, met Friday with Mr. Maynard to hear his answer to alternatives they had proposed on Tuesday. They brought with them several ratepayers from Inga M.D.

The minister advised them that their proposal to unite Spruce Grove and Inga and leave out Tomahawk was not satisfactory in the light of his information. The reduction in tax rate which this would mean for Spruce Grove, he said, would not offset the disadvantage of leaving a "loose end" at the western end of this territory.

There were no other municipalities with which Tomahawk could be satisfactorily amalgamated, he said.

SUGGESTION REFUSED

Representatives from Inga told the minister they did not seriously object to the union of the three municipalities as long as they were not formed into a unit with Tomahawk as the only other member.

Another suggestion by the Spruce Grove ratepayers, that an administrator be appointed by the government for Spruce Grove and another for Inga and Tomahawk, to delay election of a council for a year pending the settlement of negotiations, was found unsatisfactory by the minister.

After hearing all representations, the minister stated it would be necessary to proceed on the basis already ordered and to hold nominations on Saturday as scheduled.

Lend to Fight and Win.

Several Topics At Latter Day Saints' Service On Sunday

Church services will be held at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, 10169 103 street, this week-end.

There will be Sunday school for the children at 10 a.m., and a sacrament meeting at 7:30 p.m.

How does living the Gospel contribute to an abundant life—1, as a citizen? 2, As an eternal personality?

The desire of men and nations has been to have and live lives of security, accompanied with guaranteed necessities, wants, and an opportunity to live the teachings of the Master as one sees fit—thus becoming "The Abundant Life." The obtaining of that life requires the living of laws granting in return the principles making up "The Abundant Life." What part has the Gospel to play towards man's achievement of this goal?

These are topics to be discussed Sunday evening. Musical numbers by the choir and others will be sung.

Vic Drama Club Is Victory Bond First Purchaser

By MARGARET PENDLETON

Victoria High School is very pleased with its drama club, for this week it purchased the first Victory Bond in the Edmonton district, in the Second Victory Loan campaign. This year, instead of giving a grant to the Students' Union the club decided to invest its surplus funds in a Victory Bond, which would help both the club and the campaign.

In two basketball games played at Scona on Tuesday, the senior and junior boys' teams defeated two Scona boys' teams. The junior girls were less fortunate on Wednesday, however, losing to a Scona team of girls by the score of 10-9, after a fast and exciting game. Their big sisters, nevertheless, made up for the loss by trouncing the Eastwood senior girls by a score of 20-4.

In the Badminton play-offs which commenced last week, Kay Trout defeated Elaine Ratcliffe; Betty LeMotte defeated Mary Paling; Bruce Allsopp defeated Bill Mayzon; Betty Milligan defeated Derry Weir and Zola Tanner defeated Lorna Brown. Play continued on Friday with the following players competing: Kay Trout vs. Frances Tasker; Yvonne Hunter vs. Lela White; Allan Hepburn vs. Lloyd Wood; Betty Milligan vs. Betty LeMotte; and Lela White vs. Zola Tanner.

Thursday, after four in the main hall, the Argosy held an auction sale of unclaimed articles with Art Hillar officiating as auctioneer. As an auctioneer Art is "tops".

"Realism" On The Stage

Romantic-minded kids, wishfully thinking of how swell it would be to become a real prince and, all decked in silks and satins, act the gallant with a ladye faire, will find the dream came true for the youngsters pictured above, only no fairy tale magic was needed to transform them into royalty. They are Britain's Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, shown as they recently played in a village pantomime to aid the Royal Household Comforts Wool Fund. Princess Elizabeth, left, plays "Prince Florizel," while her sister appears as "Cinderella."

Scona C.G.I.T. Girls' Service

Girls of Scona Baptist C.G.I.T. are looking forward to the special service which is to be held at the church on Sunday evening, Feb. 22. Each girl is taking part in the ceremony.

The senior groups of Erskine and Metropolitan C.G.I.T. have decided to enter the drama festival which is to be held on April 10 and 11. The festival is constructive and not competitive.

Robertson C.G.I.T. held a department meeting last week. President Norma Bentley gave the worship service. The sing song was led by Frances Little and games were led by Miss McKim. On Thursday nine girls served at the Trail Ranger Father and Son banquet.

Westglen Holds Victory Loan Rally Tuesday

By BEATRICE GRANT

At the Victory Loan rally on Tuesday evening Shirley MacDonald, Nancy Wrenford, Jessie Blackburn, Betty Powers and Douglas Johnson members of the cast of the operetta "Dragon of Wu Foo" accompanied the school orchestra, sang and danced "Do It Now" a selection from the operetta. As a second verse they sang a special verse composed for the occasion by Mr. R. V. Clark of the Westglen staff.

If it's victory you're after, do it now, do it now.
Tho' it costs you fun and laughter, do it now.
If you've any cash to offer, put it in the Victory coffer,
Buy the bonds we have to proffer, do it now.
If you think this fight's worth winning, win it now, win it now.
You won't get a second inning, do it now
If it's winning we're agreed on.
If you want your share of freedom,
Lend your dollars when they need 'em. Do it now.

Willet Ritchie, Student's Union president of the school year 1940-41 and Dave Anderson, home on leave, paid a visit to the Alma Mater this week. Westglen was also honored with a visit from Melvin Fisher, who won the intermediate men's title at Banff, Ed Sylvans, who won the senior men's title, Earl Lobbe, and Beth Hubber, all of Butte, Montana.

Students interested in forming an outdoor club, met on Thursday afternoon.

The Senior Boys were victorious 46-16 in a basketball game with Commercial on Tuesday, while the Junior Boys won a closely contested game 17-12 with Separate. The Senior Girls weren't so successful. In the game with St. Marys on Monday the score was 17-7 for St. Marys. All hockey games this week were postponed because of the weather.

Hitting The Trail

Father and Son Night was held last week at Robertson United Church. The Trail Ranger Camp consisting of the Olympic and Viking Trail Ranger groups sponsored the first such banquet held in Robertson in over ten years. Approximately forty boys and "Dads" attended and apart with the feeling that the whole affair was a huge success.

The dinner got underway after singing O Canada. Dr. Wilson asked the blessing. A lively sing-song was enjoyed under the leadership of mentor Bill Settgrew with mentor Don Clarke at the piano. The after dinner speeches commenced with the toast to the King proposed by mentor Harold Sprague. Don Robertson followed, proposing a toast to the church and to which Dr. Wilson answered. Dune Stockwell gave the toast to the "Dads" and Mr. Aird followed up with a few complimentary remarks to the boys. Bob LeMasurier replied to the toast to the boys, given by Mr Bruce, Intermediate Sunday School superintendent. Russell Aird very capably thanked the leaders and the girls of the C.G.I.T. for their wonderful assistance in serving at the tables.

Highlights of the evening were the balloon blowing contest in which the dads proved they had more wind capacity than the boys, and the bowl of bottle marathon in which the Grand Chief Ranger convinced the others that it isn't necessary to be a baby to empty a baby's bottle.

The evening closed in regular Trail Ranger manner with the singing of the Omaha Tribal prayer, "Father, A Needy One Stands Before Thee, I That Sing Am He."

Hypnotism Is Unfair To Dogs Being Trained

By PETER BOGGS

Never look a dog directly in the eyes when you are teaching him tricks or training him to "fetch." This is particularly good advice to follow with hunting dogs being trained as retrievers. For some reason this upsets a dog and takes his mind off the job at hand.

Look your own dog "in the eye" the next time you are playing with him and notice his reactions. With some dogs its effect is stronger than in others, but with all dogs it has a hypnotizing effect.

APPROACHING AN INJURED DOG

Many readers have written to inquire about the best method of aiding a dog that has been injured by a car, fallen tree, or animal trap. In many instances they have reported that a hitherto friendly pet has snapped at or bitten them when they have attempted to pick him up following an accident.

Frequently, the dog is unaware of the actual cause of his injury and his natural instinct to protect himself from further pain will impel him to "turn" on anyone, even his master, who might go to his assistance unless the dog realizes he is being helped. So, it is always found it wise to approach an injured animal slowly, rather than rushing to him, at the same time reassuring him by softly calling his name. That will inspire confidence in the dog and he will become a willing and exceedingly grateful patient.

FALKO

Professors at Columbia University were called upon to test a dog named "Falko". After extensive tests they found that this Shepherd dog was a canine near genius. They learned that he had the capacity for understanding 176 nouns and verbs, spoken in three languages, no less.

His owner, Lillie Conrad, has recently written a book on "Falko" and some of his exploits, with an illustration by the famous dog artist, Morgan Dennis. This book is interesting and informative reading.

"VICTORY DOG"

You may shortly be seeing pictures of Winston Churchill, Britain's Prime Minister, with a most interesting dog. The National University of Havana, Cuba recently sent him a black bull dog that had a very distinct "victory V" white blaze on his head. Companions of the Prime Minister on his recent visit to this country informed me that they expected Mr. Churchill to accept the gift and keep it with him as a good luck omen.

GOLD USAGES

About one-fourth of the gold produced is used as coinage in normal times, with the remainder being consumed in dentistry, jewelry, gilding and gold-leaf work.

WAS LARGEST ARMY

According to Herodotus, the biggest army of ancient times was that of the Persian conqueror, Xerxes, in the fifth century, B.C., who had 2,800,000 fighters.

China-Born Girl Is Now Student At McDougall

One of the most popular and prominent students of McDougall Commercial high school is China-born Edith Mah. She has given talks at different Social and Business meetings as well as the Rally held Tuesday evening at the arena in aid of the Second Victory Loan. Edith was on the last boat to leave Hong Kong.

Commercial boys' basketball team took it on the chin again Tuesday when they were handed a 46-16 shellacking at the hands of Westglen.

Commercial's second skating party of the year was held at the Allen Avenue skating rink on Friday and was a success both from the standpoint of the skaters as well as the officials of the Student's Union.

The next "fix" of the year will be held on Friday with the boys taking the leading role in fashion models. The committee in charge of the "Fashion Lit" consists of Dmitry Huene, John Neale and Nancy Klymak.

Commercial's school paper the "Chronicle", made its latest appearance on Monday and with it was the prize winning cover designed by Bernice Fleming.

Y.P. Presents Novelty Concert

McDougall Y. Y. society presented a novelty concert on Friday evening, featuring Audrey Stuchbury, Jimmy Prichard and Doug Roy, in the play, "The Poi of Broth." Peals of laughter accompanied the hilarious scenes of "Good Night, Caroline," played by Doreen Higgins, Mildred Hill, Jack Unwin and Bill Mitchell.

Also presented was a musical interval, which included vocal solos by Norma Madill and Roy Shaw, violin selections by Sherrill Oberon, a piano solo by Velma Anderson, and a number of choruses by a group of the young people.

At the regular meeting of the society on Sunday evening, George McTaggart, Art Coy and Jim Davidson, all former presidents of young peoples' groups in Vancouver churches, and now with the R.C.A.F., brought greetings from the B.C. Young Peoples' conference, and from their respective societies. Group singing took its usual prominent place in the program, and piano selections were given by Lawrence Howard.

Sunday To Mark Special Guide Thinking Day

Celebrated by Girl Guides throughout the World, Sunday, Guide Thinking Day, will be observed by Edmonton Guides, Brownies and their leaders.

Special Thinking Day radio messages will be broadcast Edmonton Monday at 5:15 p.m. instead of on Sunday as previously announced. These messages are being broadcast from England through courtesy of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Speakers will be the Countess of Clarendon, commissioner for overseas and English Guides and an English Guide, who will speak on Guide war service. A Canadian Guide will thank the English guides for the broadcast.

Thinking Day commemorates the joint birthday of the founders of the scout and guide movement, the late Lord Robert and Lady Baden-Powell. On this day Brownies, Guides and all those of guiding remember too the Memorial fund to their founder. In Alberta this fund is being devoted to furthering guide work within the province.

Introducing . . .

By KAY W. SIGLAND

Jim Burris, president of the Student's Union at St. Joseph's high school, He is 17, and is taking grade 12 this year. Jim attended Sacred Heart Separate school for his elementary and intermediate grades, and has been at St. Joseph's for grades 10, 11 and 12.

Jim's academic career has been repeatedly brilliant. When in grade 8 he won a Gyro scholarship and has earned plenty of admiration for his school work since then.

He likes all sports, especially rugby and basketball, and is also fond of music.

Jim reports that events on the social calendar at St. Joseph's look very promising. Jim says that the biggest event for the year will be the Graduation dance in June and already the Student's Union is making plans for the affair.

Jim hopes to go to University to study engineering, and plans to be an airplane pilot.

Minstrel Show Friday Night

Young Peoples of Central United Church are presenting a "Minstrel Show" with about 30 young people taking part and some exceptional talent and humor. It will take place in Central United church basement on Friday, Feb. 27 at 8 p.m.

Metal will conduct heat away from the hand so rapidly in the Arctic that the hand is burned.

Evelynne Smith, Blonde With Beauty And Brawn

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21—When Evelynne Smith was a tow-headed tomboy of 13, and was riding her second motorcycle to school in Long Beach, she was struck by a car. It was two and a half years before she could walk, and even then she seemed fated for a lifetime of hobbling frailty.

Now she's a movie stunt girl. At 20, Evelynne Smith also is a local star in the odd, perilous fields of weight lifting, diving, swimming, aquaplane racing, gymnastics, wrestling and bag-punching. She's a qualified riveter, an all-round practical mechanic, and an airplane pilot. Having had instruction in boxing and jiu-jitsu, she would be quite an upset to the designs of any ill-mannered male.

When this correspondent offered a compliment by commenting that she didn't look like a strong woman, she picked up my 175 pounds in a fireman's carry and strolled along the studio street.

Until a few months ago, she had no chance in movies. Then the Fine-Thomas production company took "Torpedo Boat" to Long Beach for the thrill shots in which Dick Arlen and Mary Carlisle compete in rival speed craft for a Navy contract. The male driver knew just the right gal to double for Miss Carlisle in the speed trials and spectacular crash, so Evelynne Smith joined the Screen Actor's Guild.

Now that Hollywood knows about her, Miss Smith will be kept busy because there are not many stunt women here who have special skills, except for horseback riding. That's one activity, incidentally, in which the blonde newcomer won't offer any competition for awhile. Anything else is okay, though.

Movie stunting is the first job that ever paid her very well. "I learned riveting and worked at an aircraft factory, but couldn't stand the clatter and monotony," she said. "I tried being a waitress at a drive-in awhile, but they found out I was not 21 and fired me; thought I couldn't take care of myself, apparently."

Council Plans Spring Dance

By TED McCOURTNEY

Students' Council met on Tuesday and arrangements were discussed for the annual Spring Dance to be held on March 20. Dick Cherry and his social committee are looking after arrangements which are expected to lead to a very entertaining evening.

On Wednesday evening the Camera Club met and members developed rolls of film which they had taken. The club has received its camera and it is gradually taking its place on the members' sweaters.

The Science Club met on Thursday evening at No. 2 Fire Hall. They were shown how the different apparatus worked. Bill Cameron is still resting up after trying to take the short way down from the second floor to the ground floor via one of the poles.

Debate Features Joint Meeting

Robertson and Highlands Young People shared a very enjoyable evening together on Tuesday night in the basement of Robertson church. The Inter-Denominational debates were held, and the final decision went to Miss Laiter, and Mr. Don Cormie of Robertson.

Work for the War Services was distributed, and final arrangements were made for the "Fireside Hour" to be held following the Sunday evening service. The congregation and men of the Armed Forces are cordially invited.

A skating party was held on Friday evening.

Air Cadets Orders

Following are the orders for next week for the Air Cadets of Canada, No. 12, Edmonton squadron, issued by Flying Officer C. H. Roton, adjutant of the squadron:

Monday: Flights 5, 6, 7 and 8, at No. 3 Manning depot; Flights 1 and 2, at No. 2 A.O.S., and No. 16 E.P.T.S.

Tuesday: Flights 3 and 4 at No. 16 E.P.T.S., and No. 16 E.P.T.S.

Wednesday: Flights 1, 2, 3 and 4 at No. 3 Manning depot; Flights 5 and 6 at No. 2 A.O.S., and No. 16 E.P.T.S.

Thursday: Flights 7 and 8 at No. 2 A.O.S., and No. 16, E.P.T.S.

Dance To Be Held In March

Edmonton Presbytery Young Peoples' executive held their regular meeting Monday, February 16, in McDougall United Church. Alice Christie, social convener, chose a committee to arrange for a dance to be held in the Masonic Temple on Friday, March 20.

Rev. T. R. Davies, Presbytery adviser, showed the group a copy of the "Presbytery Annual" which will be ready for distribution in about two weeks' time.

Further arrangements were made regarding the Dramatic Festival to be held April 17 and 18.

Knox United Church young people report that on Sunday, February 15, they had their "National Night" meeting. Ted Miller spoke on the Belleville Conference theme, "We Will Serve". A collection was taken to help finance the six delegates who are to represent Alberta at the conference in July.

Folk Songs To Be Featured At Music Recital

By EDNA REMNICK

On April 24, the musicians of Eastwood High school, under the direction of Miss A. Harris, will stage a music recital in the E.H.S. gym. The recital will consist of national folk songs, negro songs, and patriotic songs. There will be both classical and popular music. The boys of the instrumental musical class will put on a skit showing how they learned to play their instruments. There will be bagpipe music, and a group of boys will sing a number of negro songs. The girls of the vocal music 2 class will wear the costumes of different countries while they sing the folk songs.

The next issue of the Eastwood Gazette will be out on Wednesday, February 25. The Gazette staff has put forth its greatest effort to make this issue the best one yet.

On Wednesday, February 18, there was another basketball game between the teams of Victoria High and Eastwood High schools.

The hockey season is over for the year at Eastwood.

Bonfire Rally Is Planned By Edmonton Scouts

Support of the Victory Loan campaign by Edmonton Boy Scouts will be evidenced in the gigantic bonfire rally to be held next Tuesday night, on the south side of the river, opposite the Grierson dump. District commissioner Vernon Pearson is in charge of arrangements.

The bonfire will be held in conjunction with similar ones held by all Scouts groups throughout Alberta.

Whist Drive Is Held By Cubs

The 15th St. Stephen's Cub Pack held a Whist Drive on Tuesday in connection with a money-raising scheme for the church. There was a very large crowd. The refreshments were served by members of the A.Y.P.A.

During the evening prizes were awarded for the highest scores made at the monthly whist drives arranged by the Men's Guild. The highest aggregate score was made by Mrs. J. Watson. In the draw for the footstool and box of chocolates the first was won by Mr. S. Noble, of 8328 110 Ave., and the second by Mr. D. Hallaway of Bradburn-Thompson Block. Cubmaster Jimmy Green was in charge of the affair.

The Three Dutch Princesses At Home

The Princess Juliana lives simply, bringing up her daughters in the normal healthy life of Young Canada.

The succession to the throne of Holland lies with the Princesses Irene, 2, and Beatrix, 4.

By MAJOR THOMAS WAYLING

OTTAWA, Feb. 7.—The Princess Juliana, heir to the throne of Holland and the Dutch possessions beyond the seas, stroked the flaxen hair of her youngest daughter, the Princess Irene, and affectionately squeezed the little hand of the Princess Beatrix.

"Canada and the United States have been my hosts in Ottawa, my children . . . I can never forget it."

In a little gray stone house in a suburb of Ottawa, the Princess has established a war-time home for her family.

From London, the Princess Juliana's mother, Queen Wilhelmina, still rules the Axis-torn Netherlands empire. And here in Ottawa, behind the drift blue roof of this unpretentious little house, may be found the succession to the crown of Holland. Like the Royal House of England, the succession lies with two small girls.

Tiny Princess Irene is two-and-a-half years old. Princess Beatrix is four. They live the lives of Canadian children in every respect, mothered and brought up like the Colonel's Baby and Judy O'Grady's.

Princess Beatrix attends Elmwood Preparatory school, where she is rapidly picking up English. At school she is "Trix," and just as Canada all taken the Princess Juliana as a likeable guest, who is to be made welcome and live as she desires, so the children of Elmwood treat little "Trix" just as they do other youngsters.

On state occasions, the Princess Juliana is the royal heir of Holland; at home she is herself, wife and mother, free to live simply and happily at work and play as she sees fit, to bring up her children in the normal healthy life of Young Canada.

LIVE IN PICTURESQUE AREA

The little grey house lies at the end of a road in a valley. Tall trees surround it and there is no confining fence.

With the little princesses play Renee, a small chubby youngster of Trix' age, the daughter of her mother from Holland. Renee is Trix' constant companion. They go to school together, play together, like any two little Canadian or American girls.

There is no royal household as such—no ladies or gentlemen-in-waiting. The little house couldn't hold them if there were. There are a cook and a maid. Two personal friends live with the Princess, one as a nurse and both as she sees fit, to bring up her children in the normal healthy life of Young Canada.

Mention of the gallant fight of the soldiers, sailors and airmen of the Dutch East Indies brought a new light in the Princess' eyes. She was proud of them. "And the natives, too, they are fighting well," she added.

Because of her position representing the royal house of Holland, the Princess Juliana ranks in Canada after only the Governor General and the Princess Alice, who represent the British throne. She is, therefore, a guest at all state and government functions, and enjoys them all.

Stars And Stripes Wave In Bermuda

Bermuda, under the sovereignty of Great Britain, flies the Stars and Stripes over naval and air bases for the second time in the history of the little island vacation spot.

The stamp shown, issued in 1941, is the first Bermuda airmail adhesive. The design bears a portrait of King George VI in the upper right-hand corner and a view of some of the 360 islands that comprise the Bermuda group.

An important way station for clippers flying the Atlantic at present, Bermuda furnished gunpowder for Washington's army, figured in the War of 1812, based Confederate blockade runners in the Civil War, and served as naval base for U.S. forces in the first World War. It is more important geographically to the U.S. than to its mother country, England.

The islands are 666 nautical miles east of New York, about three hours bombing distance. Army aircraft operating from bases recently leased under lease granted last year, will have an approximate 750-mile radius to almost any point on the east coast, from Halifax, N.S., to Jamaica in the Bahamas.

ANZAC FACTS

Now that invasion threatens our allies down under, Australia and New Zealand, as never before, prepare to defend your knowledge of those dominions.

1. Where does the term "Anzac" come from, and whom does it designate?
2. Who is the first United States minister to New Zealand?
3. Is Australia approximately the same size geographically as Argentina, the United States, Libya or Sweden?
4. Who is Richard Casey and what English statesman does he resemble in appearance?
5. Is Wellington the capital of Australia or New Zealand?

Dance Proceeds Are Donated To The Navy League

By JUNE GOULD

Scona's Lit and Dance held last week were fully appreciated by an enthusiastic group of present and ex-students. The affair netted and is to be congratulated on a good piece of work well done. The candy sale conducted by the Amethyst Delta Girls' Club met with unqualified success. The entire proceeds, which amounted to a very tidy sum, was presented to the Navy League of Canada.

The senior and junior boys' basketball teams did not have a very winning way this week as they both took rather severe "beatings" from the Victoria High boys. However, Scona can claim that the fun of the game, and have high hopes of redeeming themselves in the near future.

The junior hockey team was more successful, winning from Separate High 2-0 in a game played at the Arena rink.

Under the patient leadership of Miss Thresher the French students throughout the entire school are having the opportunity to learn some popular French songs. From our own "La Canada" down to the rousing Alouette. Vive La Canadienne and Quand Madelon, the repertoire of the students is becoming more varied each week.

A faint warning of the not-so-distant Easter exams was sounded this week, with the appearance in every room of the Easter exam timetable.

Play Rehearsals Are Underway

Rehearsals are now underway for "Alcazar", the play to be presented at St. Joseph's High School, under direction of Rev. Father Murphy.

A table tennis tournament was completed this week, with Harry Stadnyk emerging triumphant as champion.

The school's inter-school hockey teams are doing well, the Bantams being as yet undefeated in the Junior League, having lost two out of three games played. House league basketball is continuing with 11A room in leading position.

Answers To Cranium Crackers

1. Australian and New Zealand soldiers are called Anzacs and the term comes from Australian-New Zealand Army Corps, used in World War I.

2. Patrick Hurley, secretary of war under President Hoover, is the present and first American minister to New Zealand.

3. Australia approximately is the same size geographically as the United States.

4. Richard Casey is the Australian minister in Washington and he resembles British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden.

5. Wellington is the capital of New Zealand.

Edmonton Speed Skaters Dominate Provincial Meet

Five Champions From Westmount

City speedsters captured a big majority of the awards as 27 finals were decided on Friday night in the provincial indoor speed skating meet held under the auspices of the Alberta Amateur Skating Association at 119 street rink.

Of the total of 10 Alberta championships, Westmount Speed Skating Club won five and Rossdale and Jasper Place Clubs one each. Canmore competitors took two away with them, and Melvin Fisher copped the other.

Westmount skaters won five gold medals for the championships in their classes. Roy Kinnear took the midget boys' division, Duncon Stockwell the juvenile and Bud Hall the senior, while Norma Howard is the new intermediate girls' champion, and Blanche Tivioldale the senior. The club also grabbed two seconds and a third.

Hilda Kasting, with three firsts and undefeated in the meet, won for junior girls and gave the Rossdale club a championship. Other skaters, however, carrying the same colors captured six seconds and four thirds, with silver and gold medals, respectively.

CANMORE DOES WELL

Stanley Sawchuk, with a pair of firsts and a second, took the junior boys' championship for Canmore, and a club-mate, Phyllis Bobyk, also defeated, corralled two firsts and the juvenile girls' gold medal. Canmore skaters got three thirds.

Nola MacKenzie, of Jasper Place, won the gold medal in the midget girls' class.

Melvin Fisher, Butte, was the biggest individual winner of the meet. The Montana flash picked up four firsts, winning the intermediate 220, 440, 880 and mile events, and on Thursday night set up the new record of 43 3-5 seconds for the quarter mile.

THREE FIRSTS FOR HALL

Bud Hall, Westmount, who outdistanced all competitors in the 880, one and two mile senior events, also placed second in the 220 and third in the 440. The latter was run off on Thursday and Bud fell on one of the turns, Ed. Sylvane, of Butte, winning.

Duncon Stockwell, also of Westmount, won twice and was undefeated in his class.

There was a three-way tie last night in the intermediate for the bronze medal. G. Lovelle won in the skate off with Hamly and Emslie.

In the 880 yards Blanche Tivioldale fell, but eventually placed second and Norma Howard, who won two events, fell in the 880 event.

In the 220 final last night in the junior boys' class all three fell at different times, but Jimmy Wood proved the best on the pickup and won in a driving finish with Stanley Sawchuk, Canmore and D. Quilley, Westmount.

Sawchuk took both 440 and 880 with Wood second and Jimmy McLeod, Canmore, third

Bob Kasting, Rossdale, won a great battle with Hall and Sylvane in the senior 220 and Ken Clark really pushed Bud Hall in the two mile.

Air Force Athletic Show Draws Big Crowd To Arena

WITH every event run off briskly and smartly as scheduled, the sport variety show staged at the Arena last night by the Edmonton Manning Depot of the Royal Canadian Air Force drew a fine crowd of well over 2,000 despite the blustery weather.

Put on to raise funds for sport equipment for the use of men in the depot, the show achieved its objective, adding to the fine record that this station under the command of Wing Commander Malone is establishing.

Sid Emery of Lethbridge won over Bob McKee of Edmonton in the main event of the boxing, piling up a decisive margin on points. Ted Velianoff of Toronto was awarded a decision over Art Stewart of Vancouver and Gordon Wallers was given the nod over Sam Holman.

In the headline bout of the wrestling, Flt. Sgt. Stark of Berwick, Ontario, and John Kervellas of Edmonton went to a draw. Leo Magirl and Smith staged a rousing exhibition bout that made a big hit with the crowd. Don Manson of Vancouver defeated Jay Jackson of Toronto in their one-fall bout.

The program was opened with an impressive display of physical training work. Another highlight was the acrobatic dancing exhibition staged by the Juneau School of Dancing. Music was provided by the smart Air Cadet Band.

MacPhail Storms Over Hold-Outs

BROOKLYN, Feb. 20. — (AP) — Although Brooklyn Dodgers are in training at Havana, President Larry MacPhail bounced back into the club offices Friday and vowed he has abandoned his efforts to round-up such recalcitrants as Whitlow Wyatt, Dixie Walker and Kirby Higbe.

"It's up to them now," he declared after his return from a series of contract huddles at Miami. "I'm not going to do anything more until they make a move."

He said he felt pretty good about having almost all the National League champions signed and in camp, but he minced no words when he discussed the status of his negotiations with holdouts Wyatt, Walker and rookie pitcher Jack Kraus and the refusal of Higbe to report at camp even though he had signed his contract.

"Proper disciplinary action will be taken in Higbe's case," he warned. "It is one thing for a player to stay away from camp when he is not signed and it is an entirely different matter for him to sign a contract in which he agrees to report for training at a time and place specified by the club and then not do it.

Flyers In Final Midget Playoff

Stadium Flyers defeated South Side 7-2 on their home ice last night and advanced into the final against Maple Leafs in the midget playoff. Flyers won the round 9-4, the final game being a 2-2 tie.

Lavallee and Algoe scored for Flyers in the first period on passes by Barry and Moore. Payne counted for South Side with the help of Stollery.

Moore got a pair in the second and O'Connor one and Lavallee added another and Seibel scored on Fermaniuk's relay in the third.

Greene got the second South Side counter.

Harold Wismer and Harry Ornest refereed.

Canuck Airman Takes Ski Race

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Feb. 21—(AP)—Sgt. Pilot Louis Cochand, of the Royal Canadian Air Force who skis as a hobby, won the downhill race opening the 21st annual Washington's birthday ski tournament at this Adirondack mountain resort Friday.

In women's competition for the Kate Smith trophy—a simultaneous tournament in which Canadians likewise are competing — Dorothy Hoyt of Schenectady took downhill honors, defeating even national champion Marilyn Shaw of Stowe, Vt.

Normal Defeats Spruce Grove Girls

The Normal School girls' basketball team entertained the Spruce Grove team at the Normal gymnasium Friday evening and allowed the visitors to carry off the scoring honors 29 to 16.

The out of town team put up one of its best exhibitions of the season despite a hard checking defense by the home lineup. A peculiarity of the game was that the Normal score was divided between seven girls with one basket each.

Spruce Grove—Elder; Callahan 9; Brault 4; Schwindt 6; Stein 1; Fuhr and Steffler. Total 20. Fouls 2.

Normal—Irwin 2; Kingen 2; McCready 2; Hanna 2; Sluzer 2; Miller 2; Turner 2; Hosford; Cameron. Total 14. Fouls 7.

Playoff Series Now Tied 1-1

Normal Cagers Win 34-32 Against Latter Day Saints

Over 300 basketball fans saw Normal School cage team defeat Latter Day Saints 34-32 on Friday night and as a result the intermediate men's playdowns are tied up one game each.

Saints won the first by one point and the deciding game will be played at the new Normal gym next Thursday night.

Kirkpatrick led the winners with 13 points, while Hansen made eight. Reg. Robertson was top scorer for the Saints with 16 and Kirkham made six.

The Normalites had 14 fouls charged up against them and lost both Hansen and Menzies by the foul route. The Saints had 13 fouls.

Ed. Tomick and Tommy McClocklin were the referees.

LINEUPS

Wild Donnybrook At Quebec Game

QUEBEC, Feb. 21.—(CP)—Quebec Aces making their last scheduled appearance on home ice, shut out Montreal Canadiens 3-0 Friday night in a Quebec Senior Hockey league game marked by a five-minute fight between the Montreal players and the spectators.

The battle started late in the third period soon after Mel Snowdon took a charging penalty and almost simultaneously with a fight on the ice between Smiley Mercredi and Quebec's Roland Rossignal.

While Mercredi and Rossignol swung it out on the ice, Snowdon slashed his stick at some hecklers in the box seats behind the penalty bench. Andy Anton, hunky Montreal defenceman, clambered over the board and fought his way up five rows or more to get a spectator. Other players climbed off the Canadian bench and piled in with sticks and fists.

Anton was given a rough reception and returned to the ice bleeding profusely from the head. A spectator left the arena with a bloody face and others suffered bruises. Police reinforcements arrived after the trouble had been settled.

SPORTS BULLETIN

Believe It Or Not— —By Robt Ripley

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

THE BOUNCING WATERFALL: The Cascade des Pelerins (Cascade of the Pilgrims) in the valley of Chamonix, France, is a most singular and beautiful phenonemon. A torrent issues from the Glacier of the Pilgrims high up in the mountains and descends by a succession of leaps into the deep gorge, dashing from precipice to precipice in one continued cataract. Then, collecting its utmost force for a last magnificent plunge, it springs in one round column out of the gorge over a perpendicular cliff and strikes a vertical rock basin. But instead of being dashed into a thousand atoms, it rebounds in a parabolic arch 60 feet into the air before it falls into the natural channel below.

Robinson Stops Berger On TKO

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. — (CP) — Chalking up his 38th straight triumph in his unbeaten run as a professional, skinny Ray Robinson stopped sturdy Maxie Berger in the second round of a 12-round bout last night before a slim crowd in Madison Square Garden. Robinson weighed 144; Berger 145½.

After losing the first round through the Canadian's counter-punching and speed afoot, Robinson came on to floor Maxie with a long right for a seven count early in the second heat and put him down again with a short left before referee Frankie Fullam stepped in and halted the contest at one minute, 43 seconds of the round.

It was the first knockout chalked up against Berger in nearly 100 trips to the post, and the 22nd time in his 29 starts that Robinson made the birdies sing for a third.

Mioland Wins By Two Lengths

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21—(AP)—Charles E. Howard's Mioland, winner of $225,000 in a smashing turf career, charged to a two-length triumph in a $1,500 race in his first Florida start Friday and became a leading contender in the $50,000 Widener handicap two weeks hence.

It was the first victory of the winter for the colony of big name horses at Hialeah Park after a series of disappointments that brought defeat to Alsab, Challedon, Requested, Market Wise, War Relic and others.

Mioland beat out Mrs. Joseph Ellinger's Sir Marlboro, by two lengths, going away. Howard's Porter's Cap took third place.

Sport Shorts From Britain

LONDON, Feb. 21—(CP)—Sport shorts from Britain.

The football season may be extended again this season so that the football league can clean up its congested schedule. A number of cup games were postponed in January and F. Howarth, league secretary, said as there are no spare Saturdays left the managment committee may ask for an extension. In 1940 and 1941 the season was prolonged until June 8 and June 1, respectively.

A subscriber with a sense of humor sent in 15 from "the boys in the black market 55 at a recent charity boxing tournament.

Despatches from Australia describe how Japan's entry into the war upset horse-racing plans in Malaya. The four-day meeting at Ipoh had just begun when the Japanese invaded the peninsula and only the first day's program was completed. Van Bruckenlen, wealthy Malaya owner-trainer, lost 150 horses at Penang, and Neil Hobbs, another prominent racing man, had to abandon 80 animals.

Clarke Captures Red Deer Primary

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

RED DEER, Feb. 21. — Hugh Clarke, of Red Deer, scored a win over J. McCoy, Carstairs, on Friday to take the final of the primary challenge competition in the Red Deer Curling clubs 32nd annual bonspiel. Clarke also got in to the money in the other primary, the hotelkeepers, in which he lost in the final to Belhouse, Bowden.

The Clarke rink had nine victories and one defeat, in the bonspiel. McCoy's Carstairs quartet also figured in two competitions, winning the Eaton's event secondary to the Hotelkeepers', as well as placing second in the Grand Challenge.

J. Constable, of Innisfail, beat Jack Bettenson, Red Deer, yesterday, in the final of the consolation, the Real Estate competition. With the playing of these two finals the bonspiel came to an end.

Laura LaRose Leads Scoring

Laura LaRose carried off scoring honors in the two games played at the Y.W.C.A. Friday evening in the usual City Girls' Basketball League double-header when the St. Mary's team defeated the Alberta College line-up 43 to 18.

Ada Forbes added 16 points in the Y.W.C.A. game against the Bissell Hornets in which the latter team finished on the low end of a 41 to 28 score.

These two games leave the league standing as before with the Y.W. leading and the St. Mary's holding third place close behind second place Bissell Wildcats.

Clippers Take Decisive Lead

VANCOUVER, Feb. 21—(CP)—Nanaimo Clippers defeated Vancouver Norvans 9-2 here last night to go into a seven-goal lead in the two-game playoff series to decide second place in the Pacific Coast intermediate Amateur Hockey League standings.

The second game will be played in Nanaimo tonight and the series winner will benefit by the extra home game in the best-of-three semi-final to determine who will meet Victoria Bapcos, league winners, in the final.

Dave MacKay and Jackie Mann both with three goals, paced Nanaimo while Don Stanley, Red Carr and Doug Martinson supplied the others. Bill Neilson was Norvans' sharpeshooter, scoring both goals.

Hockey Tonight

Canadians play Maple Leafs in a regular City Junior Hockey League fixture at 118 Street rink tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

This will probably be the last chance to see the Leafs in action in a regular game until the Alberta playoff series starts.

Most years have two lunar eclipses, but during 1940, there was not a single eclipse of the moon.

Sydney Wants Two Players Suspended

SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 21.—(CP)—Unusually placid for weeks, the Cape Breton Hockey League reverted to form Friday as Sydney Millionaires closed up shop with the schedule still unfinished and promptly asked the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to suspend two of their players on grounds of misconduct.

Withdrawal of last year's Allan Cup finalists came a day after they had been eliminated from the play-off race. It left in the league only the leading Glace Bay Miners and North Sydney Victorias, and it was expected the remaining few scheduled games would be cancelled after last night's Glace Bay-North Sydney clash.

Millionaires in a telegram to C.A.H.A. officials requested the indefinite suspension of Wilfred (Dinny) McManus, goalie from Perth, Ont., and Jimmie Wilson, centre from Saskatoon. No reasons for the request were made public. Nor was any reason for the team's disbanding announced.

Junior Playoffs Start Wednesday

Opening game in the Alberta junior hockey finals between Calgary and the Edmonton Maple Leafs will be played at the 119 street rink here next Wednesday night, according to an announcement made by Director W. G. (Bill) Harris on Friday.

The series will be a best two out of three affair and the second has been set for Feb. 28 at Calgary, with the third if necessary also to be played in the southern city.

According to advance notices Dutchak's Calgarians are the best junior aggregation seen in Calgary for several years and so next Wednesday night's encounter should be a good one.

The Maple Leafs are clicking nicely now and undoubtedly are quite capable of giving a good account of themselves in the playoffs.

Quilty For A.C.A.F.

OTTAWA, Feb. 21—(CP)—The Ottawa Journal said today it had learned reliably that Johnny Quilty of the National Hockey League's Montreal Canadiens has applied for enlistment in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Quilty, flashy forward star of the Montreal team, was last season's winner of the Calder trophy, presented to the year's outstanding rookie in the N.H.L.

United States sportsmen paid more than $12,000,000 for the privilege of hunting, fishing, and trapping in 1938.

LET'S KEEP OUR CANADA
a happy land for them

PINKY-WHITE DIMPLES; a button of a nose; wee, slender fingers clutching at your coverlet—what kind of a world is this to which you will awake?

Your life, we hope, will be rich in love and laughter. God forbid that your Canada should ever come under the heel of a ruthless barbarism, where babies are born to be the future shock troops, or the mothers of a brutal, military race.

We promise that you shall inherit a Canada blessed with the liberty our fathers bequeathed to us. You shall be free as we are free.

So we gladly lend our money to our country in this crisis. We will buy Victory Bonds to the very limit. We must and we will make sure that the threat of a brutal way of life is banished forever.

HOW TO BUY—Give your order to the Victory Loan salesman who calls on you. Or place it in the hands of any branch of any bank, or give it to any trust company. Or send it to your local Victory Loan Headquarters. Or you can authorize your employer to start a regular payroll savings plan for you. Bonds may be bought in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, and larger. Salesman, bank, trust company or your local Victory Loan Headquarters will be glad to give you every assistance in making out your order form.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By REVEREND S. M. HIRTLE
Minister, Strathcona Baptist Church

Christ's Call To Hardness

SAYS Paul to Timothy, "Endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." He was fresh cut off from civilian pursuits and rigidly trained for the strenuous hardships of active service. "Timothy," says Paul, "you, too, are a soldier, commissioned in the service of the Lord Jesus. Have no entanglements with life that will interfere with your soldier's duty. Develop within yourself capacities for hardship; one must endure greatly to achieve gloriously for Him."

Our day is pre-eminently the day of the soldier, of the man whose main business is war. One by one our democratic citadels of complacency have fallen, and we face the dire necessity of all-out war effort of utmost sacrifice and stern endurance.

But in the Christian church, citadels of complacency still stand. Confronting the grim reality of war, we forget the greatest War of the Kingdom of God against sin. The war of the nations is not the world's disease, only the symptom. When the war is over, and the smoke of battlefield work humanity's sin will remain to prejudice post-war reconstruction. A jaded, war-weary world, drooping for comfort after the sacrifices of war years, will hardly find itself possessed of spiritual capacities of tall greatness, tender healing, wise rebuilding. Such capacities come only from the Eternal God and the Living Christ into hearts made ready to receive them.

The church has made its way in the world through the courage and sacrificial devotion of souls made great by the indwelling Christ. It has made its strong appeal to the heroic in men's hearts. Has the church the spiritual qualities to enable it powerfully to proclaim its glorious gospel in today's world of heroes and martyrs enduring and dying for the ways and freedoms of democracy? Inspiring beauty of life? Sacrificial capacity to spend and be spent? Great conviction and deep urgency moving to the pain of prayer, the reproach of personal witness and pleading?

No sleepy Christianity will serve today, holding to its cold and fastidious respectability and doling out its grudging devotions; clinging to its comfort of warm fires-sides and unmoved by a world aflame with fires of terrible destruction; spending its leisure time in long hours of pleasant recreation unrippled by thoughts of what cries out to be done in the name of Jesus Christ.

Ours must be a Christianity militant that will watch as the sentry watches through the long, cold night, plan and co-operate as the captains and generals of strategy do, and fight and endure for the victory that overcomes the world!

Victory Loan Sunday Will Be Marked At First Presbyterian

Victory Loan Sunday will be marked at First Presbyterian church, where the minister, Rev. J. MacBeath Miller, M.A., B.D., will conduct the services. He will speak on "Will We Enter Our Promised Land?" at the morning service, and on "The Devil Attacks The Christian" at the evening service.

At St. Andrew's, church, Andrew H. McKenzie, will take charge of the service, and Rev. Peter Fisher will conduct divine worship in the morning and evening at Strathcona Baptist church.

50th Year Of First Baptist To Be Marked

Anniversary services marking the 50th anniversary of the founding of the First Baptist church in Edmonton will be held this year.

On April 29, 1892, seven people met at the home of Mrs. Thomas Bellamy to discuss the possibility of inaugurating a Baptist church in Edmonton. Those present at the meeting were Mr. Alger, John Kennedy, R. J. Manson, Douglas Pelrie, Mrs. Gainer, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bellamy.

A building site was chosen at the north-east corner of Rice and Howard streets where later the First Baptist church was erected. The following were charter members of the church: Douglas Pelrie, Mrs. A. Gainer, Mrs. Alice Robsrge, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ritchie, Miss Alice Ritchie, William and Frederick Ritchie, Mr. and Mrs. S. VanBuskirk, Miss C. C. VanBuskirk, O. T. VanBuskirk, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Beals, Mrs. R. A. Renick, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bellamy, Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy.

The first deacons to hold office in the newly formed church were Messrs. Ritchie, Pelrie and Kennedy. The Rev. H. McDonald was the first pastor. The first church building on the above site was opened January 28, 1894.

During this year the First Baptist church is celebrating the jubilee of the founding of the work through a special program already adopted by the church, which is designed to give special emphasis to some phase of the Christian enterprise during each month of the year and which culminates in the anniversary services in the month of November.

Perpetual Miracle Message Topic At City Tabernacle

"The Only Perpetual Miracle" will be the theme of the Sunday morning message by Evangelist W. F. Rourke at the Edmonton Pentecostal Tabernacle. He will enlarge on the theory that such a miracle is needed amid things which are crumbling, and especially needed in a time when catastrophe is at the door of the country.

On Sunday evening, the evangelist will speak on "Barred From The Kingdom", dealing with the parable of the prodigal son and the elder brother.

The Book of Life

By REV. NORA S. ELLIOTT
Leader, Unity Centre, Edmonton

Life is a book which you and I live,
Written in many chapters—the years;
The pages of these years are days that give Color throughout with laughter or tears.
We are the playwrights of this great book,
Our deeds are the scenes recorded there;
We build the stage where others may look
Upon our acts, which with them we share.

In this tale, hero or heroine,
Expose the role of living therein;
Each chooses a theme, staid or bedlam,
To form from his thoughts, goodness or sin.
May no gloom enter Life's ledger new
On the crest of integrity's light,
But let its balance show no debts due,
Or naught that mars its purity bright.

Then, when this year's last page is written,
And its volume is added to those
On the shelf, I shall not be driven
With guilt: but let it's true worth disclose
As I write "Finis" to those year's end,
That I am grateful for all it brought;
Discounting grief, to Life I extend
A cheery "Thank You" for lessons taught.

R.C.A.F. Padre At All Saints'

Anglican chaplain of the R.C.A.F., Flight Lt. P. M. Stewart will be the guest speaker at the morning service at All Saints' cathedral on Sunday morning.

The evening service will be conducted by the rector, Rev. Canon A. M. Trendell.

A special evensong and sermon will take place at the church on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Intercession At Knox On Sunday

Special litany of intercession for the King, the Empire and His Majesty's Forces will be said at the Sunday morning service at Knox church. It is expected there will be a detachment of airmen from No. 4 I.T.S., R.C.A.F., at the service. The minister, Rev. Elgin G. Turnbull, will speak on "The Precious Inheritance".

Basing his sermon on the best-seller by A. J. Cronin, Rev. Mr. Turnbull will preach on "The Keys of the Kingdom" at the evening service.

Service Men Will Parade On Sunday To Metropolitan

Members of His Majesty's forces will parade at the morning service of Metropolitan church, Rev. R. McElroy Thompson being in charge.

In the evening the minister will speak on "Youth and Modern Amusements" and after the service Supt. Ross Sheppard, of Edmonton public schools, will conduct a spelling match for the Young People's Union.

Regular Services At St. Stephen's

Regular services will be held at St. Stephen's Anglican church, 96 street and 109 avenue, on Sunday, marking the First Sunday of Lent.

The sermon will be given by H. L. Weir at the morning service, and both services will be conducted by the rector, Rev. J. C. Matthews.

Spiritualism

R. Stoker will be the speaker at the Sunday evening service at the City Temple of Spiritualism. His topic will be "Prosperity." There will be an open circle meeting on Friday at 8 p.m.

Victory Loan Is Theme For Wesley Church

Marking the Second Victory Loan Sunday, special services will be held in Wesley United church this week-end. At the morning service the minister, Rev. Dr. E. T. Scragg, will speak on "Canada Calling All Canadians."

At the evening service, Dr. Scragg will speak on "The Timeless Christ."

At Patriotic Service Sunday

Rev. Daniel Young

Lt. Gov. J. C. Bowen

In conjunction with the present Victory Loan campaign, a special patriotic service will be held at First Baptist church here at 11 a.m. Sunday. Rev. Daniel Young, minister of the church, will conduct the service and Lt. Gov. J. C. Bowen will read the Scripture lesson.

Special Patriotic Service At First Baptist Sunday Morning

In response to the call of the Canadian government for assistance of the church in every community in the second Victory Loan campaign, a special patriotic service will be held on Sunday at 11 a.m. in First Baptist church.

The minister, Rev. Daniel Young, will conduct the service and preach on the subject, "The Fight for Life".

Hon. J. C. Bowen lieutenant-governor of the province, will be present and will read the scripture lesson. Members of the Edmonton Victory Loan committee will attend in a body and members of the armed forces will parade to the church.

Special patriotic music has been arranged by Mrs. F. Barber Smith, and junior, intermediate and senior choirs will take part in the service.

"Loyalty" Topic At Unity Centre

Sunday services at Unity Centre in the Birks building will be conducted by Rev. Nora S. Elliott. Her topic at the morning service will be "Developing the Faculties", and in the evening "Loyalty to Principle".

Meetings of the youth and men of the centre will be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings, respectively, and there will be a prayer group meeting, Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

On Friday, Mrs. Elliott will give the second lesson in her Lenten series, speaking on "True Prayer."

God's Answer To Hitler's Threat Sunday Subject

Rev. H. C. Allcock will continue his prophetic message on "God's Answer to Hitler's Threat" at the Masonic Temple on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. He gave his first address on the theme at a meeting in the temple last Sunday.

The service is a special revival service being held under auspices of the Apostolic church.

Salvation Army Services Sunday

Services will be held on Sunday at all the Salvation Army Corps centres — Alberta Avenue, Citadel and South Side corps.

On Sunday morning holiness meetings will be held and a praise meeting of 3 p.m. at the Citadel, 102 street. Salvation meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m., at all centres.

War Front Is Service Theme At Robertson

With the defeat of Singapore, and the threat to the western hemisphere, commencing with an attack on Australia, the sense of being "in the war" will form the basis of the Sunday morning sermon by Rev. W. G. Wilson at Robertson United church. He will speak on "We Are All in the Front Line Now."

At the evening service, he will continue his discussion, begun last Sunday, on "Russia and Religion" and will deal with the question of whether Russia will impose atheism on her allies or yield to the influence of Christianity.

Groups To Hold Meetings Sunday At Christ Church

Rector of Christ Church Anglican, Rev. E. S. Ottley will conduct regular services at the church on Sunday.

There will be a morning service at 11 a.m., and evensong at 7:30 p.m. There will be meetings of the junior church and the Sunday school group.

Evangelist Speaks On Orient Sunday

Evangelist R. A. Hubley will give an address on "All Eyes East, The Raging Orient Omens Daybreak", at Seventh Day Adventist tabernacle, on Sunday evening at 7:30.

ALASKA, HAWAII, and PANAMA, unobtrusive names in the geography books of an earlier generation, need be identified today in very few schoolrooms. The very safety of America's western shore depends in large measure on these Pacific bulwarks; likewise does the strategy that some day will carry the war to Japan . . . PAGE 2

THE PACIFIC, with 64,000,000 square miles of open water, comprises a battleground many times greater than any other. Its distances stagger the imagination; its tiny islands assume importance all out of proportion to size. America must control the Pacific to whip Japan and is busy carrying out carefully-laid plans to do it . . . PAGE 3

THE EAST INDIES sprawl over an area as big as Greenland and richer beyond comparison. They comprise a jeweled battleground where the stake is 94 per cent of the world's rubber, 75 per cent of its tin, and 3 per cent of its oil—all of them essential materials Japan does not have and will risk nearly everything to get . . . PAGE 4

JAPAN, CHINA and SIBERIA rub shoulders at Asia's "proving ground" corner—the place where Japan began aggression and her soldiers learned to fight. It is an area favored by many militarists for a great British-American-Chinese offensive, aided perhaps by Russia which stands guard in the north, armed to the teeth. . . PAGE 5

SINGAPORE and AUSTRALIA, tiny island and island continent, would be essential pillars in the vast Asiatic empire Japan dreams of building. With them she might control the East's main crossroads, tap untold material wealth. Without them she would follow a risky course—against obstacles big enough to crush her . . . PAGE 6

NEW IMPLEMENTS OF WAR make the struggle between Axis and Allies a deadly game of science, men and machines. Tanks, born of the First World War, now are mobile forts. Munitions and troops are air borne; plane speeds bring all the world within reach of battle. Of the new weapons, America has some of the best . . . PAGES 7 and 10

THE WORLD, with 90 per cent of its population at war, feels the shock of battle in nearly every corner. The Axis nations have chosen the main theaters, enjoy the advantage of interior supply lines. To help crush them America must send men, munitions and machines over "feeder" routes spanning the seven seas . . . PAGES 8 and 9

THE ATLANTIC, long before America's entry into the war, constituted a battle area in which U.S. warships shot Nazi U-boats "on sight." Today the Allies, operating from a great ring of coastal and island bases, control its waters. Every naval officer of the Axis who steers a vessel from shore knows that he does so in deadly peril . . . PAGE 11

EUROPE, THE MEDITERRANEAN and NORTH AFRICA, cradles of war, all lie in the sphere Nazi Germany hopes to rule. In 30 months of conflict she has added to the great advantages accorded her by geography, now stands in position to strike back at Russia, across the Mid-East, west at Great Britain, and into strategic Africa . . . PAGE 12

GIBRALTAR, SUEZ and THE DARDANELLES are the Mediterranean's three iron doors, each of them closed to the Axis. Britain holds the first two, counts on them in maintaining her long supply line to the Mid-East and Asia. Turkey guards the Dardanelles, gate to the Black Sea, and can decide what vessels shall pass . . . PAGE 13

RUSSIA, in the Nazi war calendar, should have been crushed and helpless by the early months of 1942. Instead her two key cities remained uncaptured and Adolf Hitler's legions fought many miles from their contemplated winter position on the Volga. To the long list of German victories, Russia added a big disappointment . . . PAGE 14

THE MID-EAST is a vast region of desert and mountains, caught in the war for two reasons—position and petroleum. Held by a great Allied force, it buttresses the Nile valley, India and Russia's back door besides producing enough oil to keep threatening Axis armies, poised in the nearby Balkans, rolling along for years and years . . . PAGE 15

THE ARCTIC FRONTIER, mysterious and white-shrouded, finds the war at its doorstep for three reasons: it offers bases of the greatest strategic importance; touching it are shipping lanes vital to the Allies; across it run shortcuts between Eurasia and North America, already used by Russia and perhaps by others . . . PAGE 16

ASIATIC FRONTIER: THE BIG PROVING GROUND

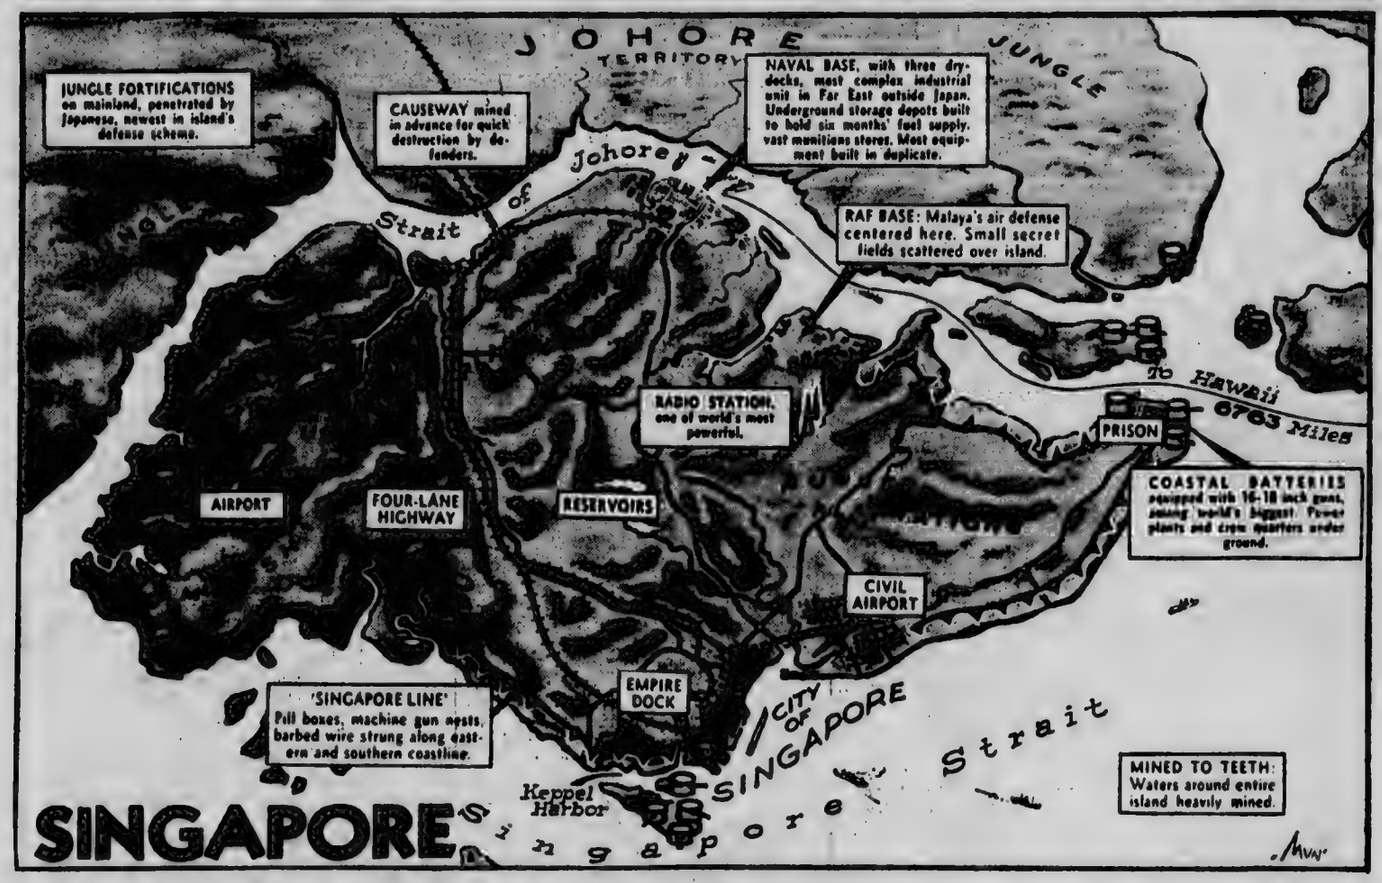

IF ANYTHING counterbalances Japan's success in her tremendous drive to the south, it is the fact that unsubdued China and Russia still exist. They are just cause for genuine apprehension in the Nipponese military hierarchy.

Russia, should she desire to even old scores with the island empire, is in position to sow the seeds of ultimate destruction. Not only does she have an army ready to strike from Siberia, but could easily bomb the flimsy Japanese cities from Vladivostok.

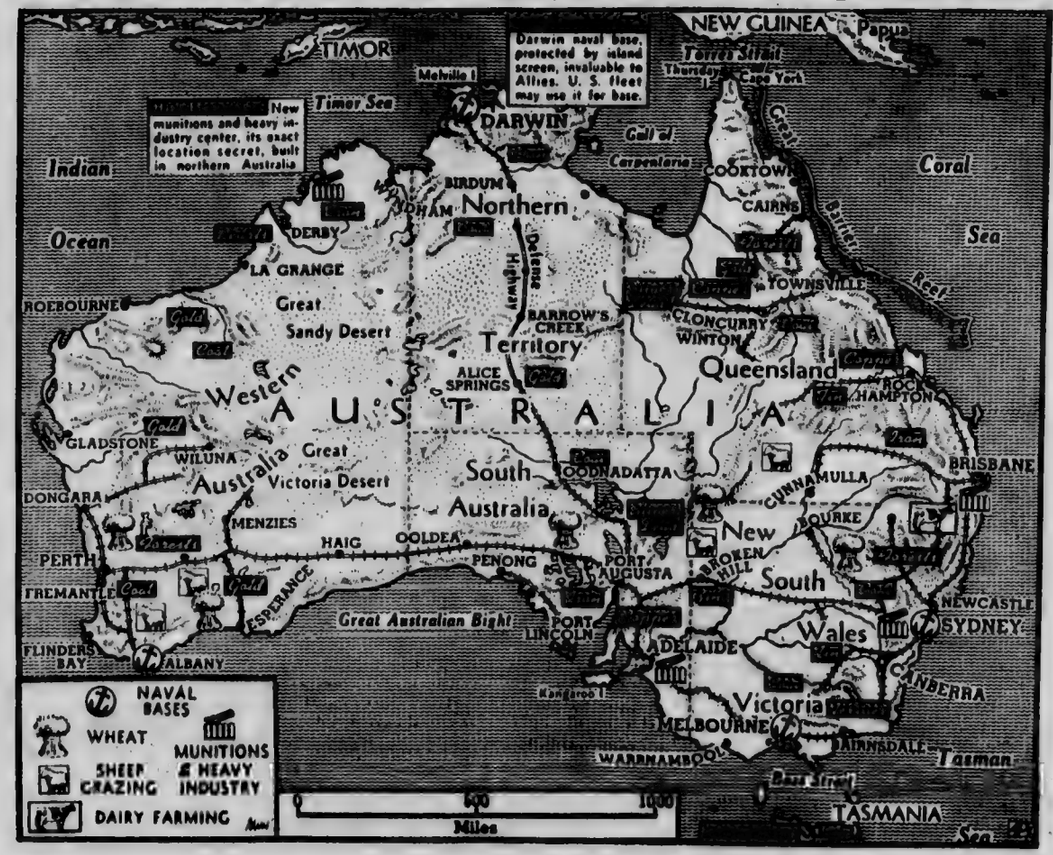

In the south, the Chinese armies of Chiang Kai-Shek—5,000,000 regulars and perhaps 12,000,000 reserves—still control a wide area from their capital at Chungking. Supplied by America and Britain over the tortuous Burma Road, they may become the nucleus of the Allies' first large-scale offensive in the East—through China to the sea and Japan's 2,500-mile exposed supply line.

From a half-dozen advance bases, Japan meanwhile pushes desperately into the rich Indies, absorbing tremendous losses to gain control of the basic materials of war. She is reliably reported to need some 9,000,000 tons of oil to keep her armies fighting a year; the Indies produce that much and more. Rubber and tin likewise are available in great quantities. What is lacking could be found in Australia and India, the next steps beyond.

IN THE FAR EAST: TWO ISLANDS OF DESTINY

Australia's War Effort Out of All Proportion to Slim Population

PERCHED squarely athwart the main water link between the Pacific and Indian oceans is Singapore—a city, an island and a naval base. Japan's Malayan offensive and eventual capture of this British stronghold is the result of an appraisal of their importance.

Britain began building the base in 1925, had not really completed it when war broke out in the East. A complex assortment of machine shops, great drydocks, giant cranes and underground storage depots, it was one of the largest industrial units in all Asia.

Singapore the city, bustling centre of world rubber and tin trade, was the clearing house and distribution centre for the entire East. The island itself, had one weakness. Although considered impregnable to attack by sea, it was not invulnerable to a land assault of the type executed by the Japanese.

AUSTRALIA, as in other wars, is contributing to the Allied effort all out of proportion to her slim population. Not only has she supplied thousands of topnotch fighting men, but ships, planes and munitions, too.

New steel mills hum on the northwest and southeast coasts where whole mountains of iron ore lie adjacent to rich beds of coal. Factories of a dozen cities grind out war orders; the grasslands continue to yield a fifth of the world's wool.

Australia is important for position, as well. It provides several protected, handy naval bases, godsends in guarding America's new supply line to the Far East.

'SPEED AND FIREPOWER' IS ARMY'S GOAL

BLITZ WARFARE is based on two main operations: (1) control of air to observe, disrupt enemy attack, and (2) a fast-striking armored force with devastating firepower to encircle the foe and to keep his forces scattered.

BOMBERS are modern artillery for blanketing attack. Varied duties demand many sizes, designs. Above, towering over a pursuit plane, is the Army's biggest (Douglas B-19) of 82 tons, 8,000 horsepower, rated to fly 7,750 miles non-stop. The U. S. wants to produce 60,000 planes of all types this year.

TANKS are the backbone of land attack. This is the Army's newest, biggest model, the 60-ton T1. Flanked by medium and light tanks, by armored cars and smaller "blitz buggies," its tough armor, cannon, machine guns make it a land battleship. It can take more punishment than the crew. Its job is to open enemy lines for faster vehicles. Uncle Sam is gearing to build 45,000 tanks this year, 75,000 next.

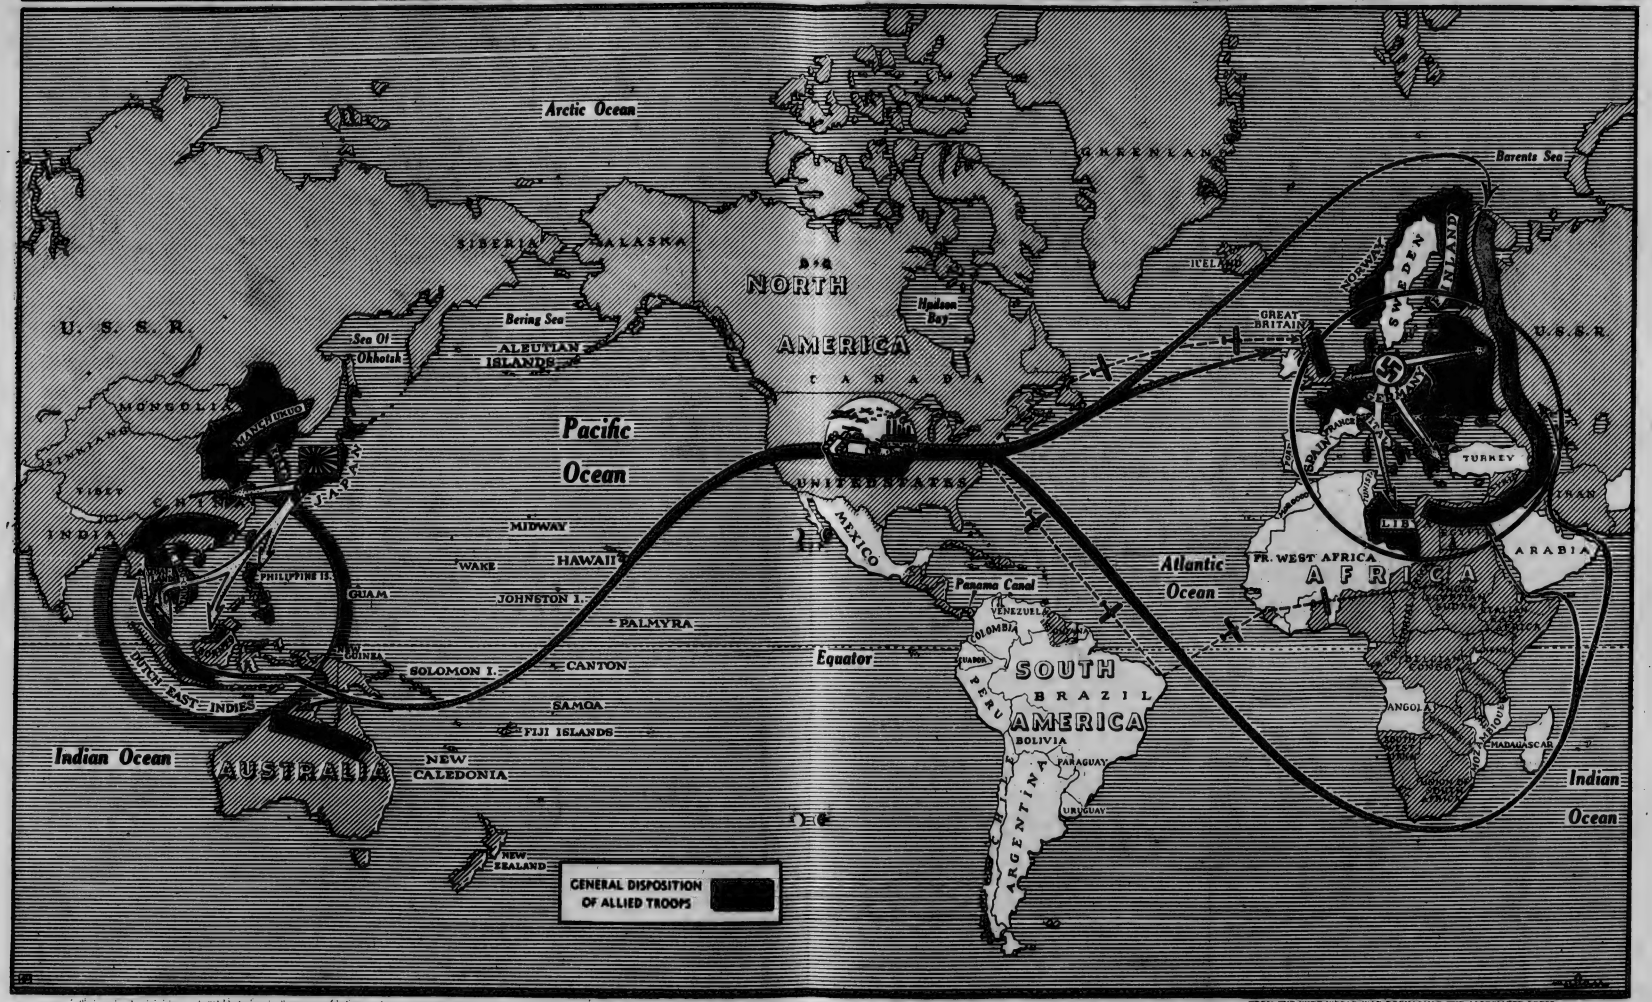

'CHUTE TROOPS leap from air transports to gain strategic points behind enemy lines. If they can seize an airport, more troops are ferried in by plane.

MOTORIZED TROOPS—armored divisions—are being put together all over the U. S. Industrial output now is reported passing Germany's maximum in many phases of war ordnance. Trial by Great Britain in battle has proved American materiel "vastly superior." About one-third of all U. S. combat troops now use semi-automatic or automatic rifles. This rugged "jeep" car, with heavily-armed crew leaping into action, symbolizes new day of "speed and firepower."

U. S. DELIVERS THE GOODS OVER SEVEN-SEAS IN STRUGGLE TO CRUSH THE AXIS

FROM THE WIDE WORLD WAR BOOK, © 1942 THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE NAVY GIRDS FOR A TWO-OCEAN WAR

THE NAVY'S BIG JOBS are to guard Allied lifelines across the Atlantic and Pacific and to carry the war to enemy shores. The U. S. needs rubber from the Far East. Great Britain, Russia, China and the Indies need American munitions. This is why U. S. shipyards are busy; why the nation plans to build 8 million deadweight tons of shipping this year (10 million tons in 1943) as well as men o'war. In a few weeks, two ships daily will be the average launching. In the Pacific, Japan challenges air, fleet supremacy. Alaska and Hawaii are the frontier bases. In the Atlantic, only German submarines challenge Allied shipping. The U. S. Atlantic front ranges from Iceland and Greenland to the West Indies and Brazil. Here are some new Navy weapons you'll be hearing about:

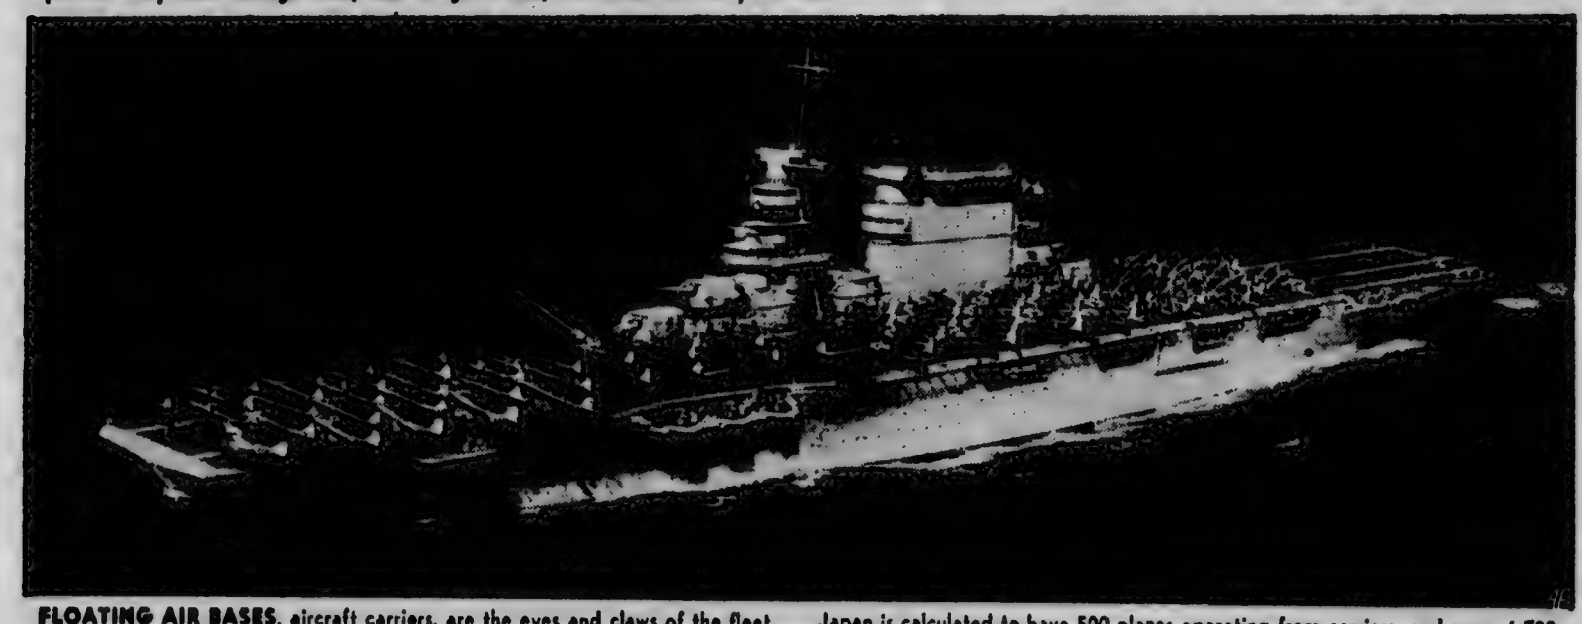

THE 'STINGER' (torpedo boat) speeds up to 60 m.p.h., carries machine guns, 4 torpedo tubes, 8 in crew. One sank a 5,000-ton Japanese ship in the Philippines.

FOR THE MARINES, these amphibian tanks are the newest wrinkle for landing parties. They slosh through sand, mud or go to sea, and each can carry 40 men.

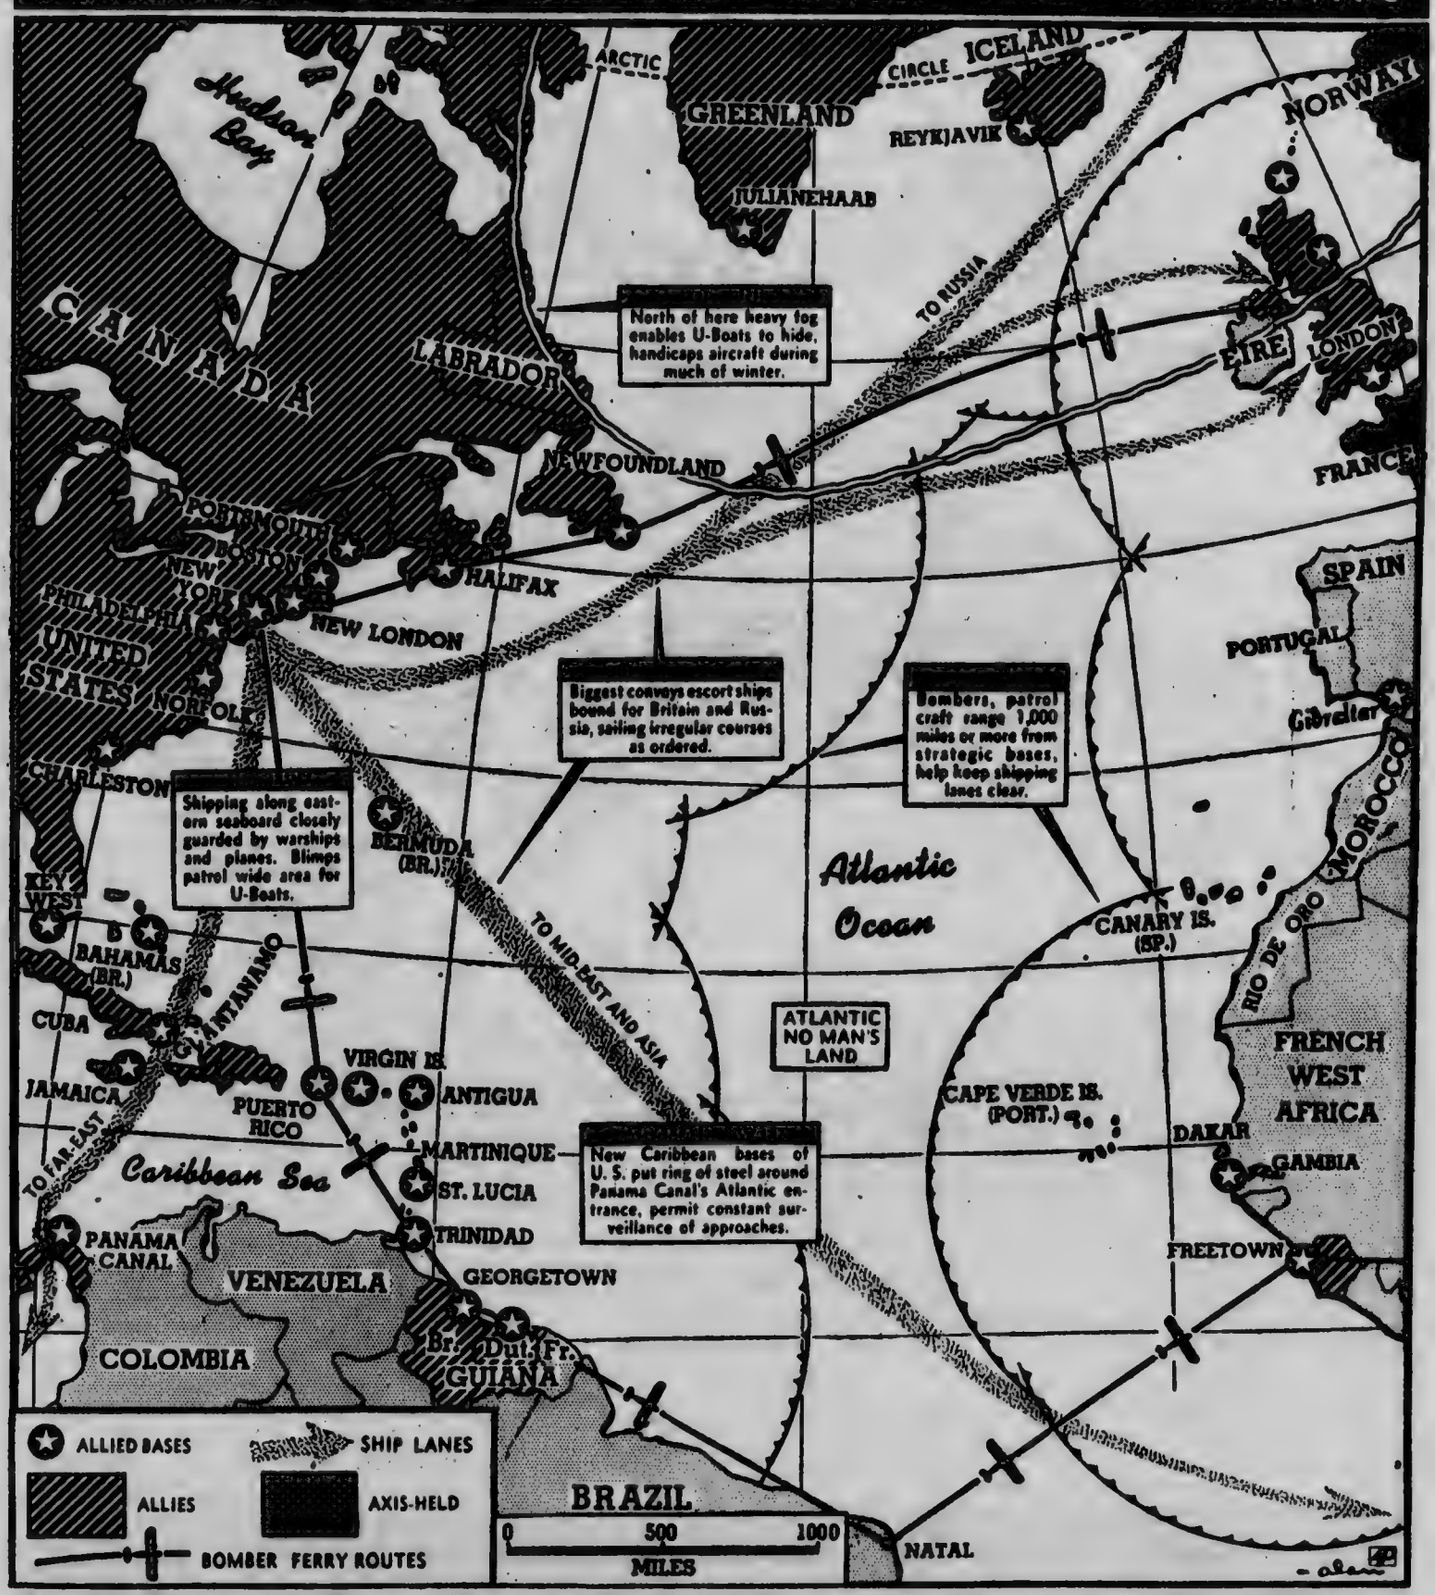

DIVE BOMBING, outstanding development of World War II, was originated by the U. S. Navy. 500 to 1,000-pound bombs are used.

FLOATING AIR BASES, aircraft carriers, are the eyes and claws of the fleet. Before the war, the U. S. had seven—with 11 more building or blueprinted. Carriers, catapult ships and freighters take the airforce to theaters of war. Japan is calculated to have 500 planes operating from carriers, and some 6,500 warplanes of all types. Both Germany's vast airpower and the Japanese war machine need oil, dictating largely the two nations' war strategy.

AMERICA AND BRITAIN RULE THE ATLANTIC

Nazi Vessels Run Grave Risks Venturing Into Its Sea Lanes

THE Atlantic, unlike other war theaters, is a place where Britain and America, not the Axis, hold the trump cards.

Every Nazi vessel venturing from the sheltered bases in occupied Norway and France, runs the greatest of risks. It must evade two great fleets, each superior to Germany's, besides escaping detection from the air.

Allied bases completely ring the vast watery battleground, America ruling the western portion and Britain the eastern. In the narrow belt between, beyond reach of the longest reconnaissance planes —Axis vessels get their only break. Yet even here they must run the risk of headon encounters with enemy men o' war.

Most Allied merchant vessels cross the Atlantic in convoys, the heaviest-armed ships at the four corners and the valuable cargoes—oil and airplanes —in the center. Ringing the group are destroyers and larger war vessels, assisted by long-range patrol craft and bombers.

Germany's naval strength in the Atlantic is such that she can seriously menace such convoys only with the deadly and sinister U-boat. Because of technical improvements and closer home bases, it can range farther afield than in former wars. But even occasional spectacular U-boat successes do not win wars. Control of an ocean requires a full-scale fleet and numerous bases. In the Atlantic, only Britain and America have them.

AXIS HOLDS STRONG CENTRAL POSITION

AFTER 30 months of war the armies of Germany and Italy, despite setbacks, still enjoy the strongest military position in Europe. They have what few of the Allies possess—the historic advantage of inner lines of defense and supply.

The Axis has utilized Europe's excellent rail network to the fullest, even has replaced much of the wide-gauge Russian trackage. It has also at its disposal the best system of navigable waterways in the world, including the 1700-mile long Danube, plus a veritable spider web of motor roads. To the latter Germany has added several strategic super highways, 75 feet wide and capable of bearing 70,000 troops, traveling 40 miles an hour, past a given point in an hour's time.

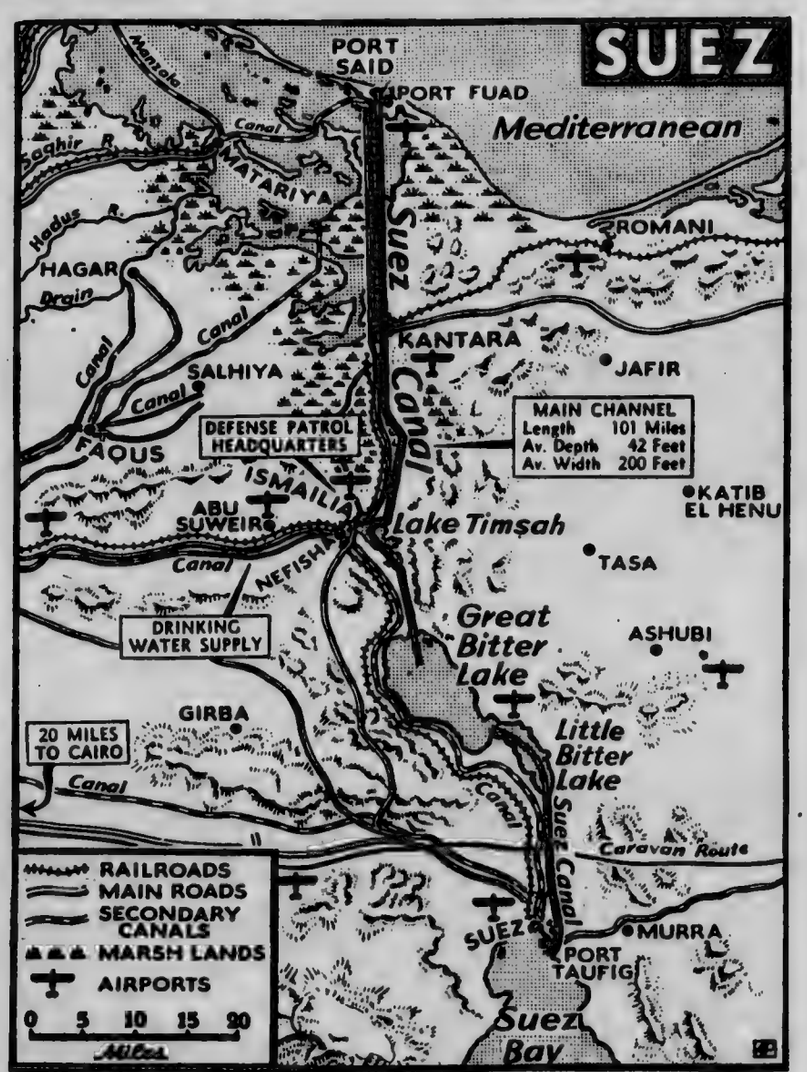

With these tremendous transportation facilities at his command, Hitler can move troops on the European chessboard at will. He can pour them into conquered Norway and the northeastern coastal belt to threaten the British Isles; eastward to reinforce his Russian forces, pressed by winter and a resurgent Soviet; or southward to bulwark the armies battling for Africa.

The interior supply network likewise leads to the Dardanelles, key to the Mid-East and a rich prize in the annals of military strategy since the excursions of Xerxes and Alexander the Great. Protected railroads and highways afford access to southern Greece, jumping-off point for an assault on Suez; and to sympathetic Spain, the turnpike to Gibraltar.

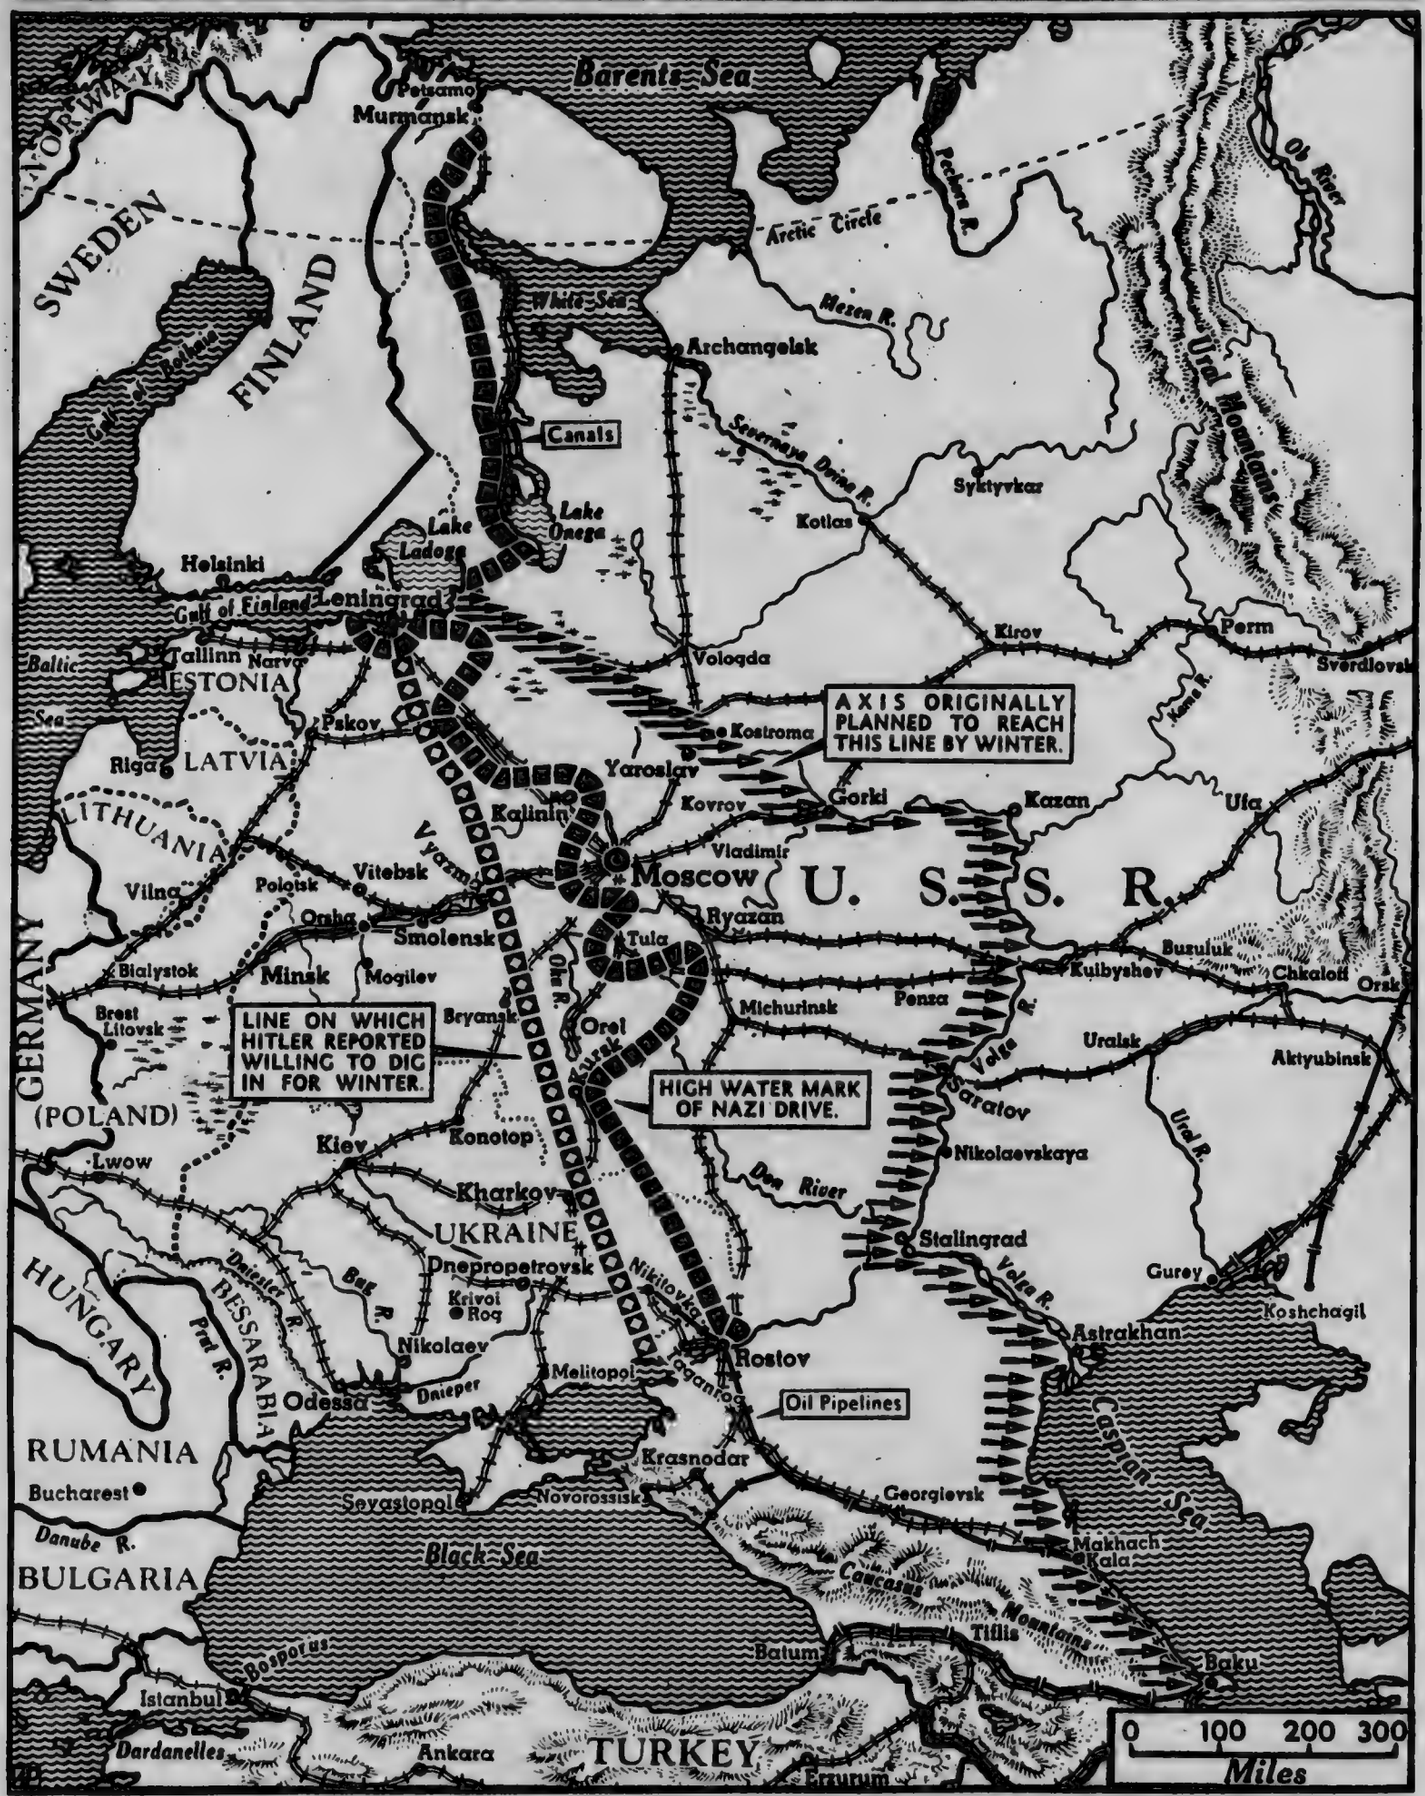

THE MEDITERRANEAN HAS THREE IRON DOORS

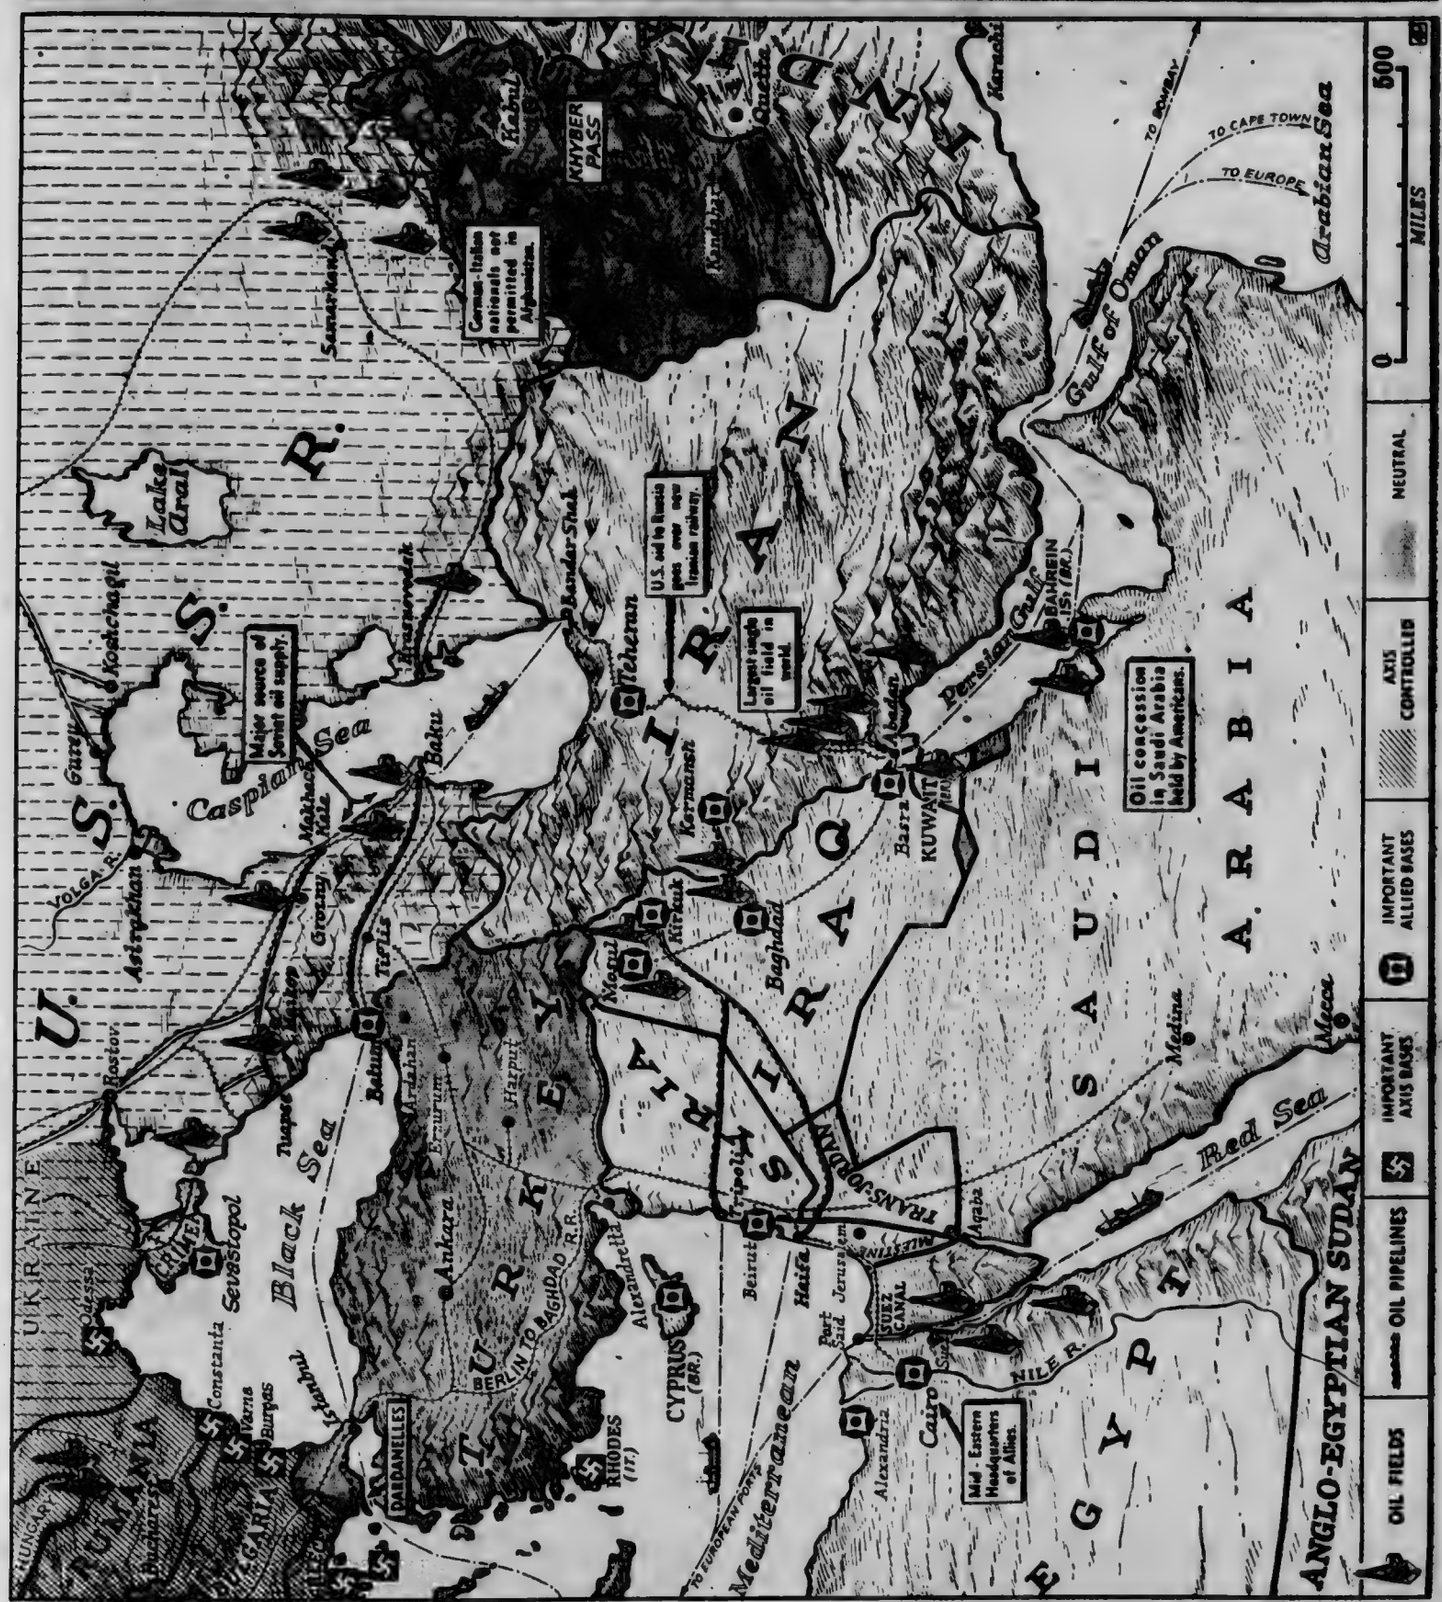

RUSSIA: HITLER'S BIGGEST DISAPPOINTMENT

MID-EAST STRATEGISTS' ARABIAN NIGHTMARE

ON A warm day last mid-June Adolf Hitler addressed the German people:

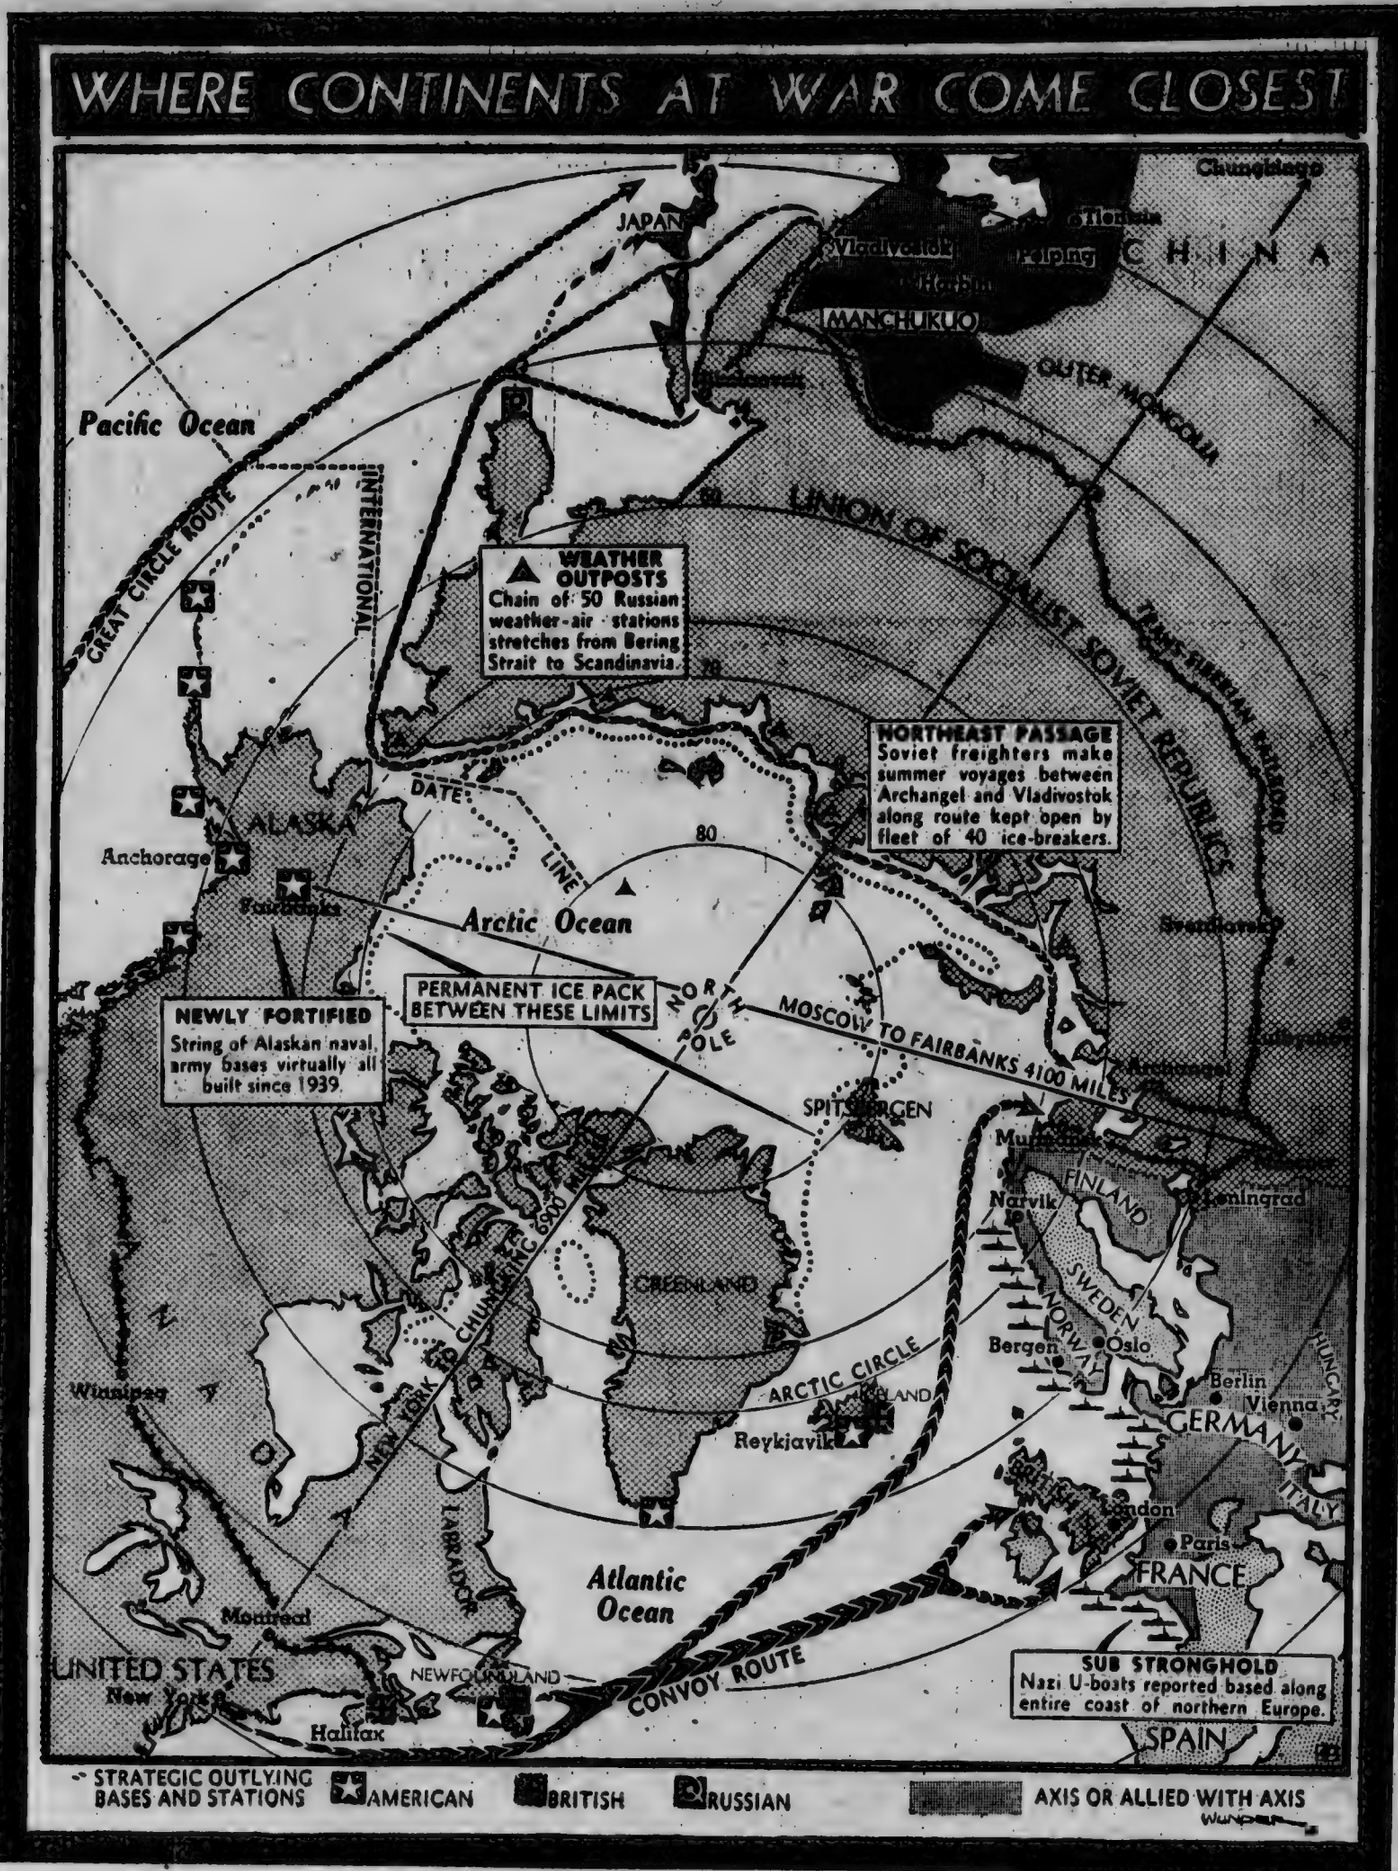

"I have today decided to give the fate of the German people and the Reich and of Europe again into the hands of our soldiers."

He spoke as Nazi armies began a bold lightning invasion of Russia, a gigantic campaign intended to acquire, by winter time, the Caucasus and all of the land west of the Volga. Russia's army, in the German war calendar, was to be wiped out.

Never was a nation more grievously disappointed. True, Nazi armies rolled to the doors of Leningrad, Moscow and the Caucasus, but then they stopped. Winter came and Russia seized the offensive. In the face of retreat that seemed sometimes more like a rout, Hitler announced that his plans had been changed.

Military experts agreed generally that he made one great mistake, that of underestimating his foe. He was believed to have withdrawn great numbers of troops for winter duty elsewhere, perhaps in the strategic but unpredictable Mid-East.

This vast region of desert and petroleum would be a rich Nazi prize, accessible from Greece, Crete and dominated Bulgaria. But here, as in Russia, another tremendous battle threatened. Britain, taking no chances with the safety of her vital Suez canal and the rich oil fields of Iraq and Iran, spread a mechanized defense army all the way from Egypt to the Caspian Sea.

CITY POLICE DO EXCELLENT WORK

Report Reveals High Efficiency In Law Enforcement

City Man Sees National Plan Social Order

Forecasting establishment of a national system of social security for all residents, young and old, Edward C. Fisher, president of the Alberta Pensioners' Society, Inc., on Saturday paid tribute to the Alberta government and legislature "For responding to the general will of the people in granting a $5 a month bonus to the old age pensioners of Alberta."

Mr. Fisher declared that "This will help 10,700 old people more than 70 years old in Alberta. Many people do not realize what it means to try and live on $20 a month." With the $5 bonus the monthly pension will be $25.

"The general average of room rent is ten dollars per month, that leaves 33 cents a day to buy three meals, clothes, medicine and other things. $20 per month brought the old age pensioner down to a destitute condition, a disgrace to a so-called Christian civilization," Mr. Fisher said.

"The extra five dollars bonus will as a rule cut the pensioners room rent in two, and assist him to some extent to at least exist.

"The Alberta Pensioners' Society Incorporated feel grateful and congratulate the provincial governments and legislators of Alberta and British Columbia for their action in coming to the rescue of the old age pensioners of over 70 years of age in the two provinces. As provincial governments and legislatures you have set an example to all other provincial governments across Canada. Your example will not only help the 22,000 old age pensioners in Alberta and British Columbia, but will lead the way to help over 186,000 old-age pensioners in Canada.

"I consider the attitude of the two legislatures will have far-reaching consequences all through Canada, and pave the way for a national system of social security for all the people, young and old.

"The Alberta Pensioners' Society feel highly elated to think that they had a part in placing this great need before the people and that the two provincial governments so readily responded to the public will.

"Our Pensioners' Society is convinced that a just cause reasonably presented will always receive fair consideration by the public at large.

"Again I say thank you to the legislators of Alberta and British Columbia."

The next meeting of the Alberta Pensioners' Society will be held on March 2, at 8 p.m., in the I.O.O.F. hall, 103 street.

Harold L. Weir, associate editor of The Bulletin, will speak on Pensions and Social Security.

Mayor John W. Fry, as head of the Air Raid precautions Committee, states that Edmonton is to have another blackout test in the near future. Next time the city will be plunged into darkness for a much longer period than the brief five minutes that residents endured on last Sunday evening.

Blackouts are beyond the stunt stage as far as Canadian cities are concerned. Or they should be.

Effective bombing range is steadily lengthening. The oceans of the earth are no longer vast as modern total war literally spreads wings of death.

How Well Do You See?

By Jackson Bros. Optometrists

Everyone wants to see well. Everyone wants good eyes, and not just for today but eyes which will carry him through his daily tasks and remain workable for a lifetime. But each eyesight realizes how important this desire is. Not everyone recognizes that more than vision is at stake. Yet such is the case; for eyestrain is more than muscle strain; it is nerve strain. And the nerve strain usually originating in the eyes has far reaching manifestations. It is not surprising that eye strain results in headaches. But this is only a small part of the story.

An eminent authority states: "Our bodies are indeed odd things. There may be something wrong in one organ that produces strange and unusual symptoms—not in the organ itself—but in some part of the body, perhaps remote from the diseased or irritated organ. For instance, who ever thinks about indigestion or backache as being due to eyestrain. And still such is the actual case. There are few derangements indeed that have such far reaching effect on the nervous system, digestive system, and on the general physical condition as defective eyesight. And all these difficulties are in addition to being unable to see easily, clearly and normally.

Science know these facts, but the average individual has, unfortunately remained ignorant of them. It is the Optometrist's duty to inform those who may be suffering needless handicap, of the truth which may mean so much to them, and our message to all such is this: Have your eyes examined at regular intervals, so as to catch any deficiencies in their earliest stages.

Youth Tries To Rob Store In Daylight

A bold, youthful robber, who smashed in the rear door of a 101 street shoe repair shop with an axe in broad daylight Friday, while the proprietor, Teodor Kozycky, was out having his lunch, was arrested on the premises by Det. E. Foster and later handed over to the juvenile authorities, charged with breaking and entering.

Kozycky, who conducts his business at 10578 101 street, notified police at 12:40 p.m. Friday that he had trapped the youth in the store and with assistance of pedestrians was standing guard pending the arrival of officers.

When police reached the scene, a detail of three men was stationed at the rear door, while an officer and the proprietor, who unlocked the front entrance, stepped into the building in search of the culprit.

EASILY CAPTURED

The youth made a dash for the rear exit as the police approached but was easily captured by the men standing on the outside.

Arrest of the culprit, police stated, cleared up three other breakins on Kozycky's premises. On the two previous occasions the youth is alleged to have escaped with $1.00 in cash, which he obtained from a mail box in the store.

The first robbery was committed on Feb. 10 and $8.15 was taken. On Feb. 17 the store was again entered and this time loot was $3.45.

Apparently encouraged by his success the boy decided on a third try in daylight Friday. He walched the store until the proprietor left to have his lunch and then with the axe he had brought with him, forced an entrance and was subsequently caught.

Air Force, Navy Men To Attend Church Sunday

Royal Canadian Air Force men from No. 2 Manning Depot and the Edmonton Division of the Royal Canadian Navy will parade to church services in several city churches Sunday morning in connection with the Victory Loan campaign.

About 300 airmen from the manning depot will march to the large downtown Central Church. These will be divided into groups who will attend McDougall United, All Saints' Anglican Cathedral, Holy Trinity Baptist Church and St. Joseph's Roman Catholic cathedral.

Another large number will parade to Norwood United Church.

A small detachment will parade at Metropolitan United Church on the South Side.

Practically all airmen at the manning depot will participate in the church parade.

The naval division, under the command of Lieut. Colin Glassco, will parade to McDougall United Church, for the 11 a.m. service.

Chief Constable Shute Outlines Activities Of Force In Annual Review

Recommending that three new constables be added to Edmonton's police force and that additional equipment, involving an estimated expenditure of $1,360, be purchased for the traffic squad, and urging also that approximately $700 be set aside for the maintenance of the city police station, Chief Constable A. G. Shute Saturday presented his annual report for 1941.

Describing the past year as relatively free from major crime and possibly one of the best in the city's history from a law-enforcement standpoint, the chief constable cited only seven outstanding criminal cases in the report. Arrests were made in all instances and were subsequently followed by convictions and sentences.

Reporting on the financial condition of the department, the chief constable declared that expenditure during the year was within $50 of the estimate provided.

Control of the expenditures of the department had been kept as low as possible, he said, and no new equipment had been bought which was not absolutely necessary.

TOTAL EXPENDITURE

Total amount of money spent during 1941 was $196,621.64, while revenue was only $14,470.59. This made a net expenditure of $182,151.05.

In consideration of the fact that during the year salaries were restored to the 1929 basic rate and similar action was taken in regard to the clothing allowance paid to men working in plain clothes, and while no provision was made for this in the estimates, making reasonable allowance for this, the expenditures of the department were actually within $50 of the amount allotted.

Exactly 1,537 persons were arrested and booked through the police register during the year as compared with 1,468 in 1940, showing a decrease of 71. In addition 1,417 other persons were given summons to appear in court, as against 1,329 in 1940. The accounting department issued 325 summons in connection with traffic tags.

In urging that three additional constables be added to the force, Chief Shute pointed out that the total population of the city is now approximately 95,000 and that if the recommendation was approved it would bring the strength of the force to about the relative proportion of one constable to every 1,000 of population. "In view of the large area of the city this population is by no means high," he stated.

PRESENT STRENGTH

The present strength of the force is 93, including the clerical staff and janitors, the chief reported, adding that during the past year the health of the force in general had been excellent, and limited only two instances where illness had forced members to be off duty for any extended periods. Discipline of the men was also reported to be high and only twice was it necessary to inflict penalties for minor infractions of the rules.

In addition to urging the enlistment of three new constables, the chief also recommended that A. M. Edwardson, who is at present employed as clerk in the detective department, be sworn in as a first year constable.

While the present motor vehicle equipment of seven prowler cars, four of which are equipped with two-way radio, was held to be adequate for the present time, the report recommended the purchase of a new motorcycle and side-car for the traffic squad and also a new side-car for the one "solo" machine now being used by the squad. The cycle with car attached would cost approximately $1,110 the chief reported, while the lone side-car could be obtained for about $250.

STATION MAINTENANCE

Stressing that the present police station on 102 avenue is now 10 years old and that nothing at all has been done in some sections in the way of redecorating, the report urged that not less than $700 be set aside for maintenance. Sections of the building most in need of repairs were listed as the gymnasium, matron's room, cells and other sections of the second floor.

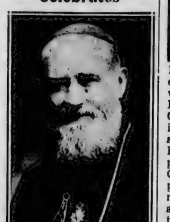

It was also recommended by the chief that an auxiliary heating system be installed in the unfinished portion of the basement of the building, directly beneath the garage. This, he said, was necessary, as the present heating system was incapable of heating the garage at a satisfactory temperature during

More than 200 persons attended the concert and dance arranged on Friday evening by the McCauley Concert Group of Edmonton, at the Commodore Ball in Ioona. Proceeds amounting to $26.40 will be devoted to the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims. Deep snow and heavy drifts was responsible for only a small crowd. The Ioona Community Club sponsored the performance, and members of the Ioona Ladies' Club served refreshments. Donations amounting to $9.15 were made to the Concert Group's quilt fund. The next concert will be held in the Forest Heights Community League hall, under auspices of the League.

Editor Delivers Address On Radio

Members of the Edmonton Kinsmen club heard T. James Allard, continuity and news editor, speak on "Radio" at their semi-monthly dinner meeting held at the Macdonald hotel, Friday evening. Roger Roscoe, president, was in the chair.

Mr. Allard gave the audience a detailed description of radio in its many phases, beginning with descriptions of the three major systems of radio as exemplified in Europe, United States and Canada, and later going into the operation of an individual station.

Mr. Allard pointed out that technical radio development is now in process of rapid development.

He let the members in on the inside story of the operation of a continuity and news room, and injected numerous humorous incidents he himself had experienced in his capacity as continuity and news room editor.

1,000 Attend Cloverdale League Carnival And Inspect New Hall

More than 1,000 persons gathered in the new Cloverdale Community League hall and rink at the south end of the Low Level bridge, to inspect the new hall and witness the league's carnival Friday night.

Features were the crowning of the queen, Margaret Hopper; speed skating exhibitions, races, barrel-jumping on skates by girls, an exhibition of fancy skating by members of the Glenora Club, an open race for members of the armed forces, a moccasin dance and a masquerade.

CROWNING CEREMONY

Popular member of the league, Miss Tupper was crowned by Ted Fladager, past president of the league, who was assisted by last year's queen, Jean Lane.

Forming the queen's entourage were Margaret Williams and Phyllis Robbins, ladies-in-waiting; Elmer Cumiford and David Searle, pages; Wayne Searle, who carried the music; Hoskie Maines and Alvin Hannon, buglers.

Skating Will, speed and stunt skater, gave a performance of barrel-jumping, clearing nine barrels and then jumping through a flaming fence. Lilly Mills and Jean Albers jumped three barrels and then through a flaming hoop.

There were races for the children and later more than 70 prizes were distributed by Mrs. J. MacIntosh.

G. J. Hustler was in charge of arrangements for the carnival, assisted by Mrs O. Christianson, who was in charge of the kitchen; Mac Thompson, rink manager; Mrs. Don Godwin, Russell Weir and May Robbins in charge of races.

GLENORA STARS

Members of the Glenora Skating Club who participated in the carnival were Aileen Jones and Diana Kettle, who gave exhibitions of solo skating, and Margo Hart and Donna Knight, and Stephanie MacDonald and Phyllis Sutton, who did pair skating.

President

Prime Minister Lauds Kinsmen Milk Campaign

Contributions to the Kinsmen Club Milk for Britain Fund for the week ended Feb. 19 boosted the total from $310.66 to $554, it was announced on Saturday by club officials.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, in endorsing the campaign, sent the following telegram to W. Howard Deeve, Vancouver, national president of the Association of Kinsmen Clubs:

CONGRATULATIONS

"I have learned that during the week of February 16, the Association of Kinsmen Clubs of Canada is celebrating its twenty-second anniversary. I should like, through you, to extend warmest congratulations to all member clubs throughout the country. May I, at the same time, add a word of commendation of the splendid work which the clubs are accomplishing through their 'Milk for Britain' campaign. It affords a fine example of the kind of spontaneous and voluntary effort which contributes at once to the successful prosecution of the war and to the maintenance of the humanitarian ideals which we are seeking to preserve in the world.

"All good wishes for the continued success of the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada."

RECENT DONATIONS

Recent donations to the fund are: Previously acknowledged, $310.66.

Recruiting For Army Dropping Report Reveals

Recruiting for the Canadian Army (Active) in the Edmonton area is lagging slightly behind the pace set during January, when a new record since the early weeks of the war was set.

Up until Friday night of this week 244 men were taken on the strength of units here, as against 270 for the corresponding period of last month. Last month a total of 423 men were enlisted at No. 13A district depot.

"We are slightly behind last month at the moment but we may make up the lost ground in a last week rush," Lt. Col. Alan Elliott, officer commanding No. 13A district depot, stated Saturday.

Recruiting set a record for Alberta and all Canada during January. The month's enlistments surpassed all previous months since October, 1939.

Issue Warrant For Camrose Man

A bench warrant for the arrest of George Wilson, Camrose, was issued by Magistrate Millar in city police court Saturday when the accused failed to appear for hearing on two charges of false pretences.

Wilson was arraigned before the court last Saturday after he had allegedly passed two worthless cheques for $18 and $30 on Edmonton business firms. He was released on his own recognizance and ordered to appear Saturday.

He failed to appear, however, and Magistrate Millar stated that a bench warrant would be issued immediately.

Brig. F. M. W. Harvey, V.C., M.C., officer commanding Military District No. 13, was in Edmonton Saturday on a periodic inspection of the No. 13A district depot. He planned to visit the Canadian Officers' Training Corps establishment here, where he will confer with the command of the corps concerning new officer material for the active army. He is expected to return to Calgary before Monday.

How Big Are We?

By Nellie McClung

THE Dominion government has paid us all a compliment in this matter of sugar rationing, having left it to our honor not to buy more than the prescribed amount. There will be no ration cards if we act honestly—now it is up to us. The amount allowed is ample. We put our week's allowance in the sugar crock, seven and one-half cupfuls for the five of us, and it held out very well with the help of honey in the apple sauce.

There was a rush to buy sugar on the first day, but this the grocery man gently quelled. I heard of only one customer who was really offended. She asked for a 100-pound sack, and her own grocer, "her own grocer, mind you!" would not sell it to her, after all the money she had left him. He told her firmly she could get only a two weeks' supply, even after she had told him over and over that she couldn't bring herself to buy in such small quantities, for she had a wholesale mind, having always been accustomed to plenty, as he knew very well. When had she bought less than 100 pounds of sugar? But he just stood there behind the counter shaking his head and repeating, "You can only buy 10 pounds every two weeks, for I know the size of your family. I know you have always bought a sack, but this is a wartime regulation and you have got to obey it like other people. Yes, of course you can go somewhere else. This is a free country —yet!"

Nellie McClung

"JUST A TRICK"

Whereupon Mrs. B. indignantly went to one of the department stores, where she heard the same story. But she did not quit until she heard it straight from the manager. And now she is sure this rationing of sugar is the thin edge of the wedge. There is no need to ration sugar in Canada, she says, for once when she drove through the sugar beet country in southern Alberta she saw sugar beets lying on the ground. It's all just a trick to undermine our liberties, and Mrs. B. firmly declares that she will not be regimented. The last news is that she has written to Ottawa about it.

Mrs. B. is the sort of a person who wangles her way through life, expecting special privileges and demanding them. She is the sort of person who is detested by shop girls, dressmakers and waiters. She is part of the disease from which the world is suffering—selfishness and egotism. She is still a spoiled child.

STUPID FOLK DANGEROUS

Fundamentally there is a streak of stupidity in people of this class, and stupid people are just as dangerous as wicked people in these brittle days.

"The general and the admiral were hardly on speaking terms," writes Dorothy Thompson. And so there came to pass the tragedy of Pearl Harbor, where these two men were not co-operating. Each wanted his own way. It is easy to condemn the general and the admiral, but if we are honest with ourselves we will not think long before we put it before our memories are stabbed with the thought that this has happened before, in our own lives and in our own country. Mistakes have been made because people were "hardly on speaking terms."

Let us remember Munich, where the Russian foreign minister was not asked to come to the conference. If Maxim Litvinoff had been there, Munich might have had a different significance. But Hitler could not sit down with a Jew, so Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Daladier became a party to that knock-out blow to Russia. Oh yes, I know what the difficulties were, but it was another case of the danger which comes from lack of co-operation. Even where other people — innocent people, who have no voice, are left to pay the bill and are still paying it. Spites, prejudices, bad tempers are the enemies on the home front. They cripple our efforts.

CONSCRIPTION ISSUE

Here is what let us take a serious look at the conscription issue (now don't be nervous, Mr. Editor, I am not dealing with it in a political way). We are all anxious to win the war. We do not need to furnish references on that. Our lives and everything we have, everything we hold dear, depends on our winning the war. So why cannot there be a gathering of the leaders of all parties in Canada, not as political representatives anxious to win credits for their party, but just as representative Canadians to decide what is the best course now to prosecute the war effort—beginning from here, February, 1942, taking all the minutes as read? What is there against this? Nothing in the world if the people concerned could suddenly be filled with just one desire—the saving of ourselves and all mankind from the evil which threatens. That one great urgency would blot out the past with its bitterness and jealousies in the twinkling of an eye.

NO FAMILY ROW

But, you say, that would be a miracle. Can you imagine Mr. King, Mr. Meighen, Mr. Hepburn, Mr. Coldwell, Mr. Herridge and Mr. Godbout sitting down in a spirit of harmony and saying: we have only one desire, and that is to make Canada's contribution the greatest possible so that not one ounce of energy might be wasted in internal disagreement? I certainly can imagine it. It makes easier thinking than the spectacle of a divided Canada. I cannot believe that even the most pugnacious of our leaders would actually throw the gate open to the invaders, and a row in Canada at this time would do just that. We can't afford the luxury of a family row!

I think it might help our leaders to go down to the "unnamed eastern Canadian port" and see the survivors of the torpedoed boats, our own sailors with their bloodshot eyes, cracked lips, swollen tongues, and the tales of their companions who perished. The war has come to Canada!

There is always a solution for family problems, or a nation's problem, if people will meet in humility and repentance—and I mean repentance in all its old-fashioned implications. Let us remember that—we sold war material to Japan. We sold our share in making the League of Nations. We tolerated injustice and shut our eyes to evil, and there is no argument that can release us from responsibility. That is why I say we must now solve our problems in the spirit of repentance. False pride must go if we are to save our nation.

I think that many of us are still in the unorganized foolishly optimistic mood of "don't you worry, it will all come out right. We have the greatest combination of united nations the world has ever seen. Just wait till the Americans get into their stride."

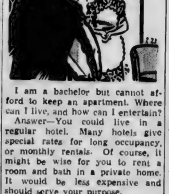

BETTER DO SOMETHING

It's all right to wait, but we had better do something while we are waiting. Something that will clear out the old spites and lower our desire to have our own way at all costs.

When Edgar R. Murrow, the senior Columbia correspondent, came back to America to give a report of his three years in Europe, he gave his listeners a series of unforgettable pictures of the war. Then he broke off and said something like this, "It was easy to begin this talk, I could start in almost any place; but it's a little hard to finish it, so I think I will have to fall back on what my Scotch secretary said one night in London during a raid. She came into the room where a number of us were working around the table and said quietly, 'Gentlemen, I do not wish to disturb you, but the building is on fire.'"

V

What To Do

I am a bachelor but cannot afford to keep an apartment. Where can I live, and how can I entertain?

Answer—You could live at a regular hotel. Many hotels give special rates for long occupancy, or monthly rental. Of course, it might be wise for you to rent a room and bath in a private home. It would be less expensive and should serve your purposes.

If you belong to a club you could do your entertaining there, or at your golf club. However, if you do not belong to a club you could give small dinner parties at the better hotels and restaurants, or take your guests to the theatre.

Of course, if you could find an apartment your entertaining could include afternoon teas, cocktail parties, card parties, suppers and dinners.

Your Figure Madame! — By Ida Jean Kain

Grace George, one of America's best-loved actresses, offers some out-of-the-ordinary suggestions and good looks in today's column by Ida Jean Kain. You'll notice that Miss George does not believe in adding weight with the birthdays.

The women who come up the hard way remain at the top long enough to form some ideas of success that are not according to Horatio Alger, whose homespun hero's talents were always recognized and rewarded.

When I asked Grace George, one of the great ladies of the stage, to give us a rule for success, she replied promptly, "A good play! And a good play means good box office, always."

In a profession where a high premium is supposed to be placed on beauty, she does not set it as a factor in success. "I don't think beauty counts at all—or that it ever has," she declared. "You wouldn't call Helen Hayes beautiful, or Katherine Cornell, and they are two of the women you think of first in connection with outstanding success back of the footlights. True, they have great talent—but, oh, how they have worked!"

This star believes that work and the satisfaction of doing it well tend to improve a woman's looks and that combined with personal happiness they may even make her beautiful. And whom do you think she cites as proof? Lynne Fontanne, conceded to be one of the most beautiful and fascinating women of the stage. "It doesn't seem credible," she observed, "that I remember the time when Miss Fontanne was quite plain. I believe her happiness in her work and in her personal life have had a lot to do with the transformation into a very beautiful woman."

Apparently Miss George herself has enjoyed her share of this beauty agent. She is one of the loveliest ladies in the permanent residence on Broadway. And she has so much poise and serenity that the thought flashed through my mind "Here is a lady" meant by a lady!" I asked her definition of the term and she looked startled for an instant and said she wouldn't know one if she saw one.

So we went back to discussing actresses and what they learn that can be passed along. Her tip for posture startled me—it is to get up from your chair with your chest, not with your seat. And for noise, not to think about yourself too much. With good posture and poise together, the lithest woman can create any impression she pleases.

She notices a great change in the young girls of today. They are all the better. "They are growing taller and standing much straighter," she said. You may be sure Mrs. Cheyne stands an inch or two more than the height of five feet three.

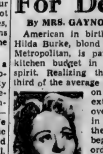

Her beauty routine consists in soap and water and keeping face needs cleansing, and plenty of cold cream to remove make up. Her exercise period is a walk before after the theatre and it's a good jaunt. To put on a couple of pounds of weight she has added a glass of beer to her daily balanced diet.

All that sounds very simple, doesn't it? But it's a woman look Miss George's view that satisfaction in work, happiness, and a few rules for looks and living are what count, there might be more beauties.

Debunker

A macadamized road is not necessarily a tarred-surface road at all. As a matter of fact, it is really nothing but crushed stone, rolled flat, for this was the kind of roads that were made famous in Scotland by John McAdam early in the 19th century. McAdam came to New York in 1770 where he made a fortune, then returned to his native Scotland to devote himself to new techniques of road construction. He made extensive experiments and concluded that the best roads were made of crushed stone. Thus all roads built in this way came to be known in many lands as "macadamized roads"—but tar was not used to build them.

Minute Make-Ups

In honor of George Washington's Birthday wear a new hairdress. Try a high, narrow, brushed up pompadour. Brush and comb the back hair down smooth. Twist the ends into a cluster of curls or, if long enough, a thick little plait. Tie with a seven-inch long velvet bow. Very pretty and patriotic also on the days other than the birthday of George Washington. This style is very dramatic for white-haired ladies.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority

Previously I have pointed out the principles governing a blind lead from a holding of three cards. The general principle is to lead the top of the higher two cards are in sequence, or if the tripleton is headed by the ten or lower.

With the jack or higher at the top of a tripleton, the lowest card is led against no trump. The object here is to hold the honor over a possible low stopper held by the declarer. But the jack should be led against a suit bid. Whether to lead the queen or king from Q-x-x or K-x-x against a suit bid is a matter of inference, but if in doubt, lead the top.

Here are some more leads:

Holding	Lead
45. A-2	A
46. K-2	K
47. Q-J-2	Q

Lead 43 is not uncommon against a suit contract. The deuce is led next, and the player hopes for a third-round ruff.

Lead 44 is met occasionally, where there is reason to believe that partner holds the ace or queen of the suit, and can give the leader a third-round ruff. This lead, in common with all leads that look toward a remote ruff, is usually wrong only if the leader has the trumps some such holding as A-x-x or K-x-x.

Such a trump holding assures that the leader can also stop the trump suit once before all his small trumps are taken out. But if the trump holding is any longer or stronger, the leader should as a rule try to force declarer to ruff, rather than try to get ruffs himself.

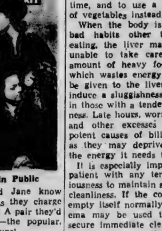

The tripleton leads are not uncommon against no trump, when the leader's only suit or suits of four or more cards have been bid by the declaring side.

Leads 47 and 50 are about the most undesirable possible. The doubleton lead, in conjunction with a guarded honor held by partner, may form a stopper against the declarer's leads, while the lead of this honor may clear up the whole suit for him.

Good Manners for Good Times

Making Errors in Public

Little do Bob and Jane know when they disturb us, they charge into their meals so believing that they'd like to know better—the popular, well-bred young Browns!

And right now the Browns are sighing, "What can you expect of people who don't know that the girl should enter the row first!"

Such points of etiquette are simple enough to learn. On a double date at the movies one man enters the row first, the two girls next, the other man last.

At dances—crude for a man to ask a girl, "Have you got this dance taken?" But smooth and correct is "Shall we dance this?" Nor does a well-bred girl make herself conspicuous by walking across the dance floor alone, but asks her escort to take her.

Very formal parties with a receiving line? No hesitations when you shake hands proper for the girl to precede the man down the line, introduce herself and her escort to the person at the head.

Have better times, win new friends by knowing fine points of etiquette. Our 32-page booklet explains manners for movies, dancing, formal parties, other occasions. Gives pointers on introductions, correct dress, good form at games. Send 15c in coin, for your copy of "Etiquette For Young Moderns" to the Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, 60, Front St. W., Toronto, Ont. Your Baby And Mine

There are few things so devastating to the formation of a clear opinion as a declaration based on nothing but emotion.

To illustrate. At a dinner table one evening a woman expressed herself firmly as believing that children should be denied knowledge about sex facts and instead told fairy-tales. Her excuse for this astounding statement was that she had been brought up on fairy-tales. Of course, the inference was: Look at me!

Such statements have a kind of dramatic quality which leave the conversation with the effect of a rhyme or reason. It is the result of a sentimental hang-over from youth. Yet it is exactly the kind of declaration which so pleases the lazy-minded as to influence the continuance of the kind of education from which they have laboriously trying to rid ourselves.

Since no one knows what he or she might be denied by different educational influence, such an argument has no val dity. What is of vast importance in dealing with children is the knowledge of the few and precious years within which an education must be laid. The information made in childhood are everlasting. Therefore they must, of necessity, be truthful and scientific ones.

"Knowledge," says a philosopher, "is the contact of the mind with reality." There may be enjoyment but not education in the fact of the mind with fairy-tales.

Children have to learn a hundred languages, things in their lives. They cannot afford to waste time learning anything which later must be unlearned in order to accord with the truth. The knowledge a child acquires about the "facts of life" differs in no way from those he acquires about any other subject under the sun. It is a subject composed with facts. She should not be the exception of facts as easy and painless as possible.

Parents will always use their own judgment and the knowledge of their individual child to determine when each child is ready for facts and how much of them he can assimilate. There always will be parents who will run wild in their endeavor to be modern and up to date, in no way alters the argument.

Children should not be confused and made to believe that their questions are being answered because someone invents a fairy-tale which seems pertinent to it. Fairy-tales are delightful, as fairy-tales. They are entirely out of place as a means of answering the questions of intelligent, knowledge-seeking children.

McCoy Health Service

Although most doctors frown upon the use of the word bilious, I find that many patients complain of billiousness and it is certain that a sick man is not concerned so much with the correct name of his symptoms as he is with relief.

When the average layman develops a certain set of symptoms he immediately pictures himself as bilious. We can not get very far away from the fact that the name billiousness has come to stand for something in the popular mind, and the average person readily understands what is meant by it, whereas he might be confused if a different terminology were used.

The patient who is bilious is blue, depressed and weary; he has a headache; coated tongue and poor appetite. The skin has a muddy, sallow look and the whites of the eyes may take on a yellowish tinge. His stomach is upset and he may be constipated. In addition, he may have a fever. As a general rule, he will feel miserable for a few days after which the liver regulates itself and the symptoms disappear.

The most common cause of billiousness is overeating, particularly the overuse of rich foods. The patient with a sluggish liver and any of these billious symptoms will do well to omit fats, greasy foods, sugars and starches for a time, and to use a larger amount of vegetables instead.

When the body is enervated by bad habits other than incorrect eating, the liver may seem to be unable to take care of an extra amount of heavy food. Any habit which wastes energy which should be given to the liver will in time induce a sluggishness of this organ in those with a tendency to billiousness. Late hours, worry, excitement and other excesses are therefore potent causes of billious symptoms as they may deprive the liver of the energy it needs to function.

It is especially important for the patient with any tendency to billiousness to maintain strict intestinal cleanliness. If the colon refuses to empty itself normally, then the enema may be used temporarily to secure immediate cleansing. In the meantime, the patient should be learning how to adjust his diet so as to provide more bulk with the idea of re-training the colon to cleanse itself with regularity.

Vigorous exercise is another helpful measure which may be used in banishing billiousness. Correct diet, intestinal cleanliness and plenty of exercise are the three most important aids which may be employed in helping the liver to function well enough so that no further trouble is experienced.

During the actual attack of billiousness the patient will often experience marked relief by going on a diet of only green vegetables. Two or three meals a day should be used, which are made up of any vegetables with butter as seasoning; while others prefer the use of their vegetables in the form of a non-starchy soup, taking several small meals a day of this soupy mixture whenever they are hungry. Generally this vegetable regimen needs to be kept up only two or three days at the most.

To get the quickest results it is best to take one or two enemas a day to keep the colon clean. It is perfectly safe to use as large an amount as desired of the vegetables. They will prevent a desire for other food which the patient may become "lonesome" unless well filled with the vegetables or vegetable soup.

If there is considerable headache, dizziness or nausea, the patient experiencing a billious attack is better off in bed. Usually, the symptoms will soon pass away and afterward it is important to adopt better habits of living which will prevent further attacks.

All questions regarding Health and Diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self - addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, 1151 West 6th St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am engaged to a very fine young man and we are very much in love with each other and would like to get married, but we can not do so because of my mother. He lives in a different city from the one I live in and if I married him I would have to quit work and leave Mother. I support her and am glad to do so, as I feel she has done her part in rearing a family as large as ours. What do you think I should do?

Dorothy Dix

ELSIE.

Answer: What you should do is what you evidently have been brought up to do, and that is to force your brothers and sisters to do their part in supporting your mother instead of wishing the whole job off on you.

I think that human meanness reaches its lowest ebb when the other children in a family dump the support of the support of their mother or father on one sister or brother, while the children are selfish. If only would all help, no one would be marr-ired. But when one alone has to do it, it may call for the sacrifice of a whole life.

That is your position. You can't marry the man you love because you have to stay at home and take care of Mother, but none of the other children feel that they had to give up marriage in order to take care of her. You can't marry because you have to live on with your job to support her, but if each one of the would contribute a small sum it would provide your mother with enough income to live on.

Make the balance of the family take their turn in having Mother live with them, as well as give their part towards her support.

DOROTHY DIX.

Craft Display Is Held By Danish Group

ON THE walls in the basement of the Danish Lutheran Church Friday evening hung richly hued weavings of all shapes and sizes. Side by side hung rugs woven in Norway, Iceland and Egypt and rugs woven by Danish-Canadian women in Edmonton today.

The beauty and clever pattern of these rugs was described in eloquent proof of the words spoken by Miss Mary Mercer, Edmonton art teacher, who was among those attending the Danish exhibition that modern artistry is experiencing a definite "swing back." She spoke of the new interest in craft and art appreciation being taught in the North American schools today, and of the work of Grace Cizek Hood in helping to bring about this second art renaissance.

"In the modern schools, the physchiatrist and the art teacher are working hand in hand, in bringing out the art appreciation that is natural in every child," they said.

Great interest was evoked in the Danish exhibition, which was the first of its kind in Edmonton. Silverware, beading, and fine old lace were among the old Danish treasures on display.

One set of linen was woven in 1828. The table napkins of this set were of mammoth size, 38 by 32 inches, and were made for tucking under the chin.

Miss I. Christoffersen, Edmonton weaving teacher, displayed fine pieces of weaving done by herself and her pupils, that rivalled in coloring and intricacy the work on a rug done in Sweden 125 years ago.

Mrs. Christoffersen, Mrs. Valby serving and two oil paintings of Copenhagen by a local Danish boy, Sven Hansen, were all highlights of the exhibition, which was given by the Ladies' Aid of the church to aid church funds.

Edmonton Women Observe Day Of Prayer

REPRESENTATIVES of many religious denominations and from almost every women's organization in Edmonton, foregathered in First Baptist Church on Friday afternoon to observe the World Day of Prayer.

The service was led by Mrs. John Campbell Bowen, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor, and members of various city churches took part. Race, creed and class distinction were forgotten as the women prayed for the suffering in every land.

In Edmonton, Mrs. C. D. Gainer, representing the Baptist churches, convened the committee that looked after arrangements.

The order of service that was carried out was prepared for the Inter-Board Committee of the Women's Missionary Societies of Canada by Miss Margaret Brown of India, Miss Rose McLaurin of India, Mrs. James Dickson of Formosa, and Mrs. Victor Spencer of Japan.

Refugees In England Are Aided By British Y.W.C.A.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—Word has been received here by the National Council of the Y.W.C.A. concerning the work done by the British Y.W.C.A. for refugees in England.

Although the international work of the Y.W.C.A. in Great Britain is inevitably curtailed by the war, the spirit of international friendship is very much alive.

Citing at random a few of the many services of the "Y" there—they introduce foreigners to International Fellowship Clubs; lend their halls to the Free French; have refugees as guests at their summer camps; arrange to have refugees placed in private homes; assist with refugee hostels and serve hot meals; on ways and means of coping with a strange new world.

Many of the European refugees who were lucky enough to reach England, came with nothing but the clothes they wore. The Y.W.C.A. has taken as many as possible under their wing, allowing them to stay in the Y's hostels, rent free, in exchange for domestic or other work. Refugees not long released from internment camps may remain and work in the Y hostels for interees in German concentration camps, to friends and relatives in England. Y.W. workers run international groups or circles at the "Y" centres in various towns, when Czechs may get together one afternoon, Poles another, French another. Often there is one big international party. Whole families come to their affairs and their enjoyment is wonderful to see. Conversation is carried on in as many as fifteen languages. Special talks and concerts by the refugees are given, all of which results in a splendid interchange of views and growth in understanding.

The Central Club Public Air Raid Shelter has drawn many hundreds of unhappy refugees together. Members of this organization of the Y.W.C.A. in England looked after Chinese, Persian, Indian, German, Czech, French and Belgian families during the darkest periods of the blitz. "Y" workers organized study groups, concerts and talks in the shelter.

Save, Serve And Sacrifice Are Present Duties Of Canadians

OTTAWA, Feb. 21.—(CP)—Mrs. Edgar D. Hardy, president of the National Council of Women, said Wednesday night that Canadians must save, serve, and sacrifice "to the limit of human endurance" now that Japanese attacks in the Pacific have brought war to Canada's doorstep.

"Many of us have believed that we were making our best efforts," Mrs. Hardy said in an address over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's national network in support of the second victory loan.

"But, my friends, we cannot drug ourselves with any such thought now. Our country is in grave danger. Failure on our part may mean defeat.

"It is folly to wait until a bomb falls in our own backyard."

Women with sons and husbands in Canada's armed forces had no sense of complacency that this country was doing all it could. They were not lagging in war work for they had a direct and personal stake in the outcome of the war. It was up to those who had no sons to make comparable sacrifices in other ways."

SACRIFICE

"I speak of sacrifice," Mrs. Hardy said. "But do not misunderstand me. Investing in this Victory loan is primarily saving.

"Our only sacrifice is in doing without some material comforts. Such deprivation can in no sense approach the service which the mothers and wives of military men are rendering to Canada."

This Home Mixed Cough Relief Is Hard To Beat

You'll Easy to Make, No Cooking. Saves Big Money.

No matter what you've been using for coughs due to colds, you'll be the first to admit that this surprising relief, mixed in your own kitchen, is hard to beat, for real results.

Make a syrup by stirring 3 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—anyone can do it.

Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really excellent cough relief—about 4 times as much for your money. Tastes fine—children love it—and it never spoils.

You can feel this home mixture taking right hold of a cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases soreness and difficult breathing, and lets you sleep. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Just try it, and if not satisfied, your money will be refunded.

GRANDE PRAIRIE

Mr. A. M. Reid was guest speaker at the February meeting of the W.I. He told of his experiences in Persia while an engineer in charge of road building to the oil wells. Mr. Reid gave many interesting features of life there and the mode of living. Miss Dorothy Patterson gave a vocal solo. The convener of local welfare reported a large parcel of clothing prepared and sent to a needy family. A letter of appreciation for magazines sent to rural districts was read. Members decided to knit an afghan. At the close of the business meeting Mrs. Shaver was presented with a W.I. pin in recognition of her services in making the attractive W.I. programs. Four new names were added to the roll of members.

Mrs. Drysdale gave interesting facts about the drug sulfanilimide, and cited some of the remarkable recoveries made after its use. The W.I. will use its influence to have an all night telephone service established between doctors and hospital for emergencies. A sale of home-cooking and a card party have been recent means used for raising funds.

ECHO HILL

Miss Sage, R.N., of the district health unit, gave interesting information on maternal and infant mortality when she addressed a meeting at the home of Mrs. A. Schnode recently. Local men serving overseas will be remembered with parcels at Easter. Quilts are being made for the Navy League. A card party recently added to funds in the treasury.

BIG MEADOWS

Meeting at the home of Mrs. A. J. Sutherland, members discussed means of making their silk stocking last longer. It was decided to hold a bazaar. The name of Mrs. E. Gilbert was added to the roll.

BUSBY

Mrs. May discussed food and its relation to health, when she spoke to a meeting entertained at the home of Mrs. O. W. E. Elliott. Quilts and other articles for overseas relief occupy much of the members' attention, and they are also knitting articles for the Merchant Marine. Serving suppers at dances added a sum to the treasury.

DUNDAY

A series of whist drives will add to general funds and each member will donate an article towards a sale of work. Mrs. Longman was appointed director. Mrs. J. Turnbull will represent the W.I. at the coming conference.

ROSE WILLOW

Educational matters were discussed and Mrs. Black showed samples for rug making, when Mrs. Avison entertained at the meeting at her home. It was agreed that each member would make an article for the work by which will form the nucleus for a sale later. Teas at the meetings will be greatly simplified until after the war.

BEAVER FLATS

Mrs. Horne, constituency convener, was present from Rocky Mountain House and gave helpful suggestions for W.I. activities. When H. Braden gave a talk on Japan, Shaver was presented with a W.I. pin in recognition of her services in making the attractive W.I. programs. Four new names were added to the roll of members.

FIVE POINT

Bi-monthly gifts of cigarettes and razor blades are sent to men serving overseas. Plans are made during quilts. A series of telephone whist parties will add to the funds. Mrs. T. McCauley was received as a member.

PIBROCH

Mrs. F. Eakin compared the present day systems of education with those of former years, when she addressed a W.I. meeting at the home of Mrs. S Tebbie recently. Quilt making occupies much of the members' time and they have also interested themselves in the salvage campaign.

TWIN CREEK

Mrs. O. S. Dahlman gave an interesting talk which she called "Canadianizing Womanhood", when she spoke at a meeting entertained by Mrs. Anderson at her home. A shadow pie social will replenish funds in the treasury and provide a social evening for the community on March 13. Members are co-operating with the school children in the salvage campaign. Completed articles for the Red Cross were turned in and more will be distributed at the next meeting. Mrs. F. Clone and Mrs. E. Reid were received as members.

ROUND HILL

Unable to carry on her activities as president of the W.I., Mrs. Tucker resigned, and Mrs. C. M. Johnson was elected to fill her place. An interesting letter was read from the sailor who received the dilly bag filled by the local W.I. and it was agreed that the members would send him another sweater. A large number of sheets, towels and pyjamas were distributed, to be made for the Red Cross. Letters of thanks were read from local men who had been sent parcels while overseas. Five names were added to the roll.

WINTERBURN

Mrs. K. Suder, one of the branch's most valued members, spoke on the outlook for the future, when she addressed a meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Bredner. She also donated a quilt to be sold to raise funds for war work. A sum of money was realized from the "march of dimes," and will be given to the Federated W.I. War Fund. A layette has been completed and will be sent to a Scottish mother overseas.

LOUGHEED W.I. GIRLS' CLUB

Miss Marion Aitcheson, who is head nurse on the maternity floor of one of New York's unknown hospitals, gave the girls an interesting health talk while a visitor in the district. Portions of the girls' year book were also read by Phyllis Barthel, and members exchanged household hints. Sewing lessons occupy the attention at every meeting. An amateur hour and dance are being planned to raise funds. The names of Mabel Oaks and Pat MacDonald were added to the roll.

The letter of Frank Lashkin in appreciation of the ditty bag he received, inspired members to ask that they might adopt the crew of a trawler for the duration of the war. Mrs. Anderson gave an interesting talk on Dominion and Provincial Relations, and touched on the problem of wartime immigration. Mary Ranney recited the "Ordinary Seaman." A contest completed the program.

Appreciation was expressed for a quilt top presented by a retired member, 83 years of age. This will be made up for the Red Cross. Proceeds from card parties will be used for war work. Mrs. Pepper was appointed press convener.

Beauty spots in the Dominion were described in answer to the roll call when the W.I. met at the home of Mrs. McKillop. Mrs. McDonald accepted the office of secretary to replace Mrs. Thomson, who is unable to carry on this year. A donation from the High school was acknowledged, and later will be used to purchase sweaters for the Merchant Marine.

BALMORAL

Mrs. R. A. VanSlyke, constituency convener, who is also a member of this branch, spoke on W.I. work and gave helpful suggestions. Mrs. W. MacFarlane also read articles from the convention report. Letters of appreciation for gifts to men overseas, as well as local friends, were read. The offer of a gift of flower seeds to the members from A. T. Stephenson was gratefully accepted.

THEY'RE IN THE ARMY NOW

Although more than 18,000 women in Canada are anxious to join the Canadian Women's Army Corps and the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Air Force, it is not yet known how many will meet the army and medical requirements. Already more than 1,000 women have been recruited in the C.W.A.C. and 900 in the C.W.A.A.F. Above two members of the C.W.A.C.S. in their smart khaki uniforms and beaten brass neckties, are shown filling a kit bag with the equipment supplied to each recruit.

Army, Navy L. A. Hear Of Banquet In Early March

The joint banquet of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Edmonton unit, and the Ladies' Auxiliary to the association, will be held in the Macdonald hotel early in March, it was decided Thursday evening.

At the auxiliary meeting a letter of thanks from Spt. S. T. Drew for a parcel sent him was read. Mrs. G. Farrell reported calls made on 91 veterans in the University hospital and that chocolates and cigarettes had been sent to 81 veterans.

The sum of $25 was voted for the Lady Minto Nursing Sisters Fund, in Portsmouth, England, for the purchase of shoes for children bombed areas.

Whist was arranged following the meeting, prizes going to Mrs. Lucy King, first; Mrs. A. Hoyle, second, and Mrs. H. Hobson, consolation; Mr. M. Drew, first, and Mr. G. E. Johnson second.

R.C.A.F. Auxiliary Members Name Two Visiting Committees

Visiting committees were appointed at a business meeting of the R.C.A.F. Ladies' Auxiliary in the Memorial hall on Thursday evening. Mrs. J. Graham was named ed convener of the committee to visit sick R.C.A.F. men in hospitals, and Mrs. H. C. Merrell will head the committee to visit wives and families of Air Force men when they are ill.

Parcels for men overseas will be packed at each meeting, it was decided. Each member was asked to entertain one table of bridge, the proceeds for club funds.

Mrs. H. A. Lamb was named first vice-president, and Mrs. H. C. Merrell second vice-president at the meeting.

In Memoriam 7

To assist readers in preparing "In Memoriam" notices, the Edmonton Bulletin has prepared a booklet of some very appropriate verses It is free upon request. Call, write or phone for a copy

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. H. Lamoureux, who passed away one year ago today.

"Many a day her name is spoken
And many an hour she is in our thoughts,
A link in our family chain is broken,
She has gone from our home but not in our hearts."

Ever remembered by her loving husband and family.

In loving memory of Josephine Margaret Kilfoyle, who passed away into the Great Beyond a year ago.

"Dearest Joy how I do miss you,
And to see your vacant place,
The one I loved so dearly,
O, how I miss your smiling face.
Dearest Joy, how I do miss you,
How sad it was to part,
But I know you won't forget me,
In your shining home above.
Dearest Joy, how I will miss you
As the weeks and years roll by,
Lonely, yes, the hours without you,
But I will follow bye and bye."

—Ever remembered by her loving husband, Frontiersman, (No. 2431), Gordon Kilfoyle, 120 Maclean Block, Edmonton, Alberta.

Read this column every Saturday for interesting information on eye care.

Rest Glasses For Tired Eyes

You can lighten the burden on your eyes from eye-tiring work by using "rest" glasses. These sight savers completely relieve your eye muscles in focussing for close work, or reading.

This rest for your eyes by relieving you of much fatigue, nervousness and headaches, will enable you to finish your day's work free from strain.

An examination of your eyes by an Optometrist is necessary to properly prescribe the particular rest glasses for your individual need.

If you have any sign of eyestrain, the safe thing to do is to visit one of the Optometrists, listed in this announcement, for a reliable examination of your eyes.

Hospital Board Will Ask Civic Grant $100,000

Estimates for the 1942 operation of the Royal Alexandra and Isolation hospitals were approved by the Edmonton hospital board at a meeting in the Royal Alexandra hospital Friday night and will be submitted to city council on Monday next.

The estimates included total charges of $565,480, and revenue of $465,480, necessitating a city grant of $100,000.

INCREASE IN COST

Commenting on the estimate, and the anticipated increase in charges of $19,362, over last year's actual charges of $546,118 that the estimate was on a very conservative basis. "We anticipate that it will cost us $20,000 more to operate the hospital than it did last year, but we are asking for an additional grant of only $4,000 from the city."

He pointed out that last year the 1929 salary schedule was restored, that the scale of wages for graduate nurses was raised, at a cost of about $10,000, and that the costs of foods and drugs have increased.

The estimate provides for the following anticipated expenses in contrast with last year's actual costs, administration, $68,640 against $59,-278; professional care of patients, $148,024 against $140,753; medical and surgical supplies, $50,520 against $48,872; departmental expenses, $177,576 against $174,438; dietetic department, $114,720 against $111,-777, and special expenditures, $6,000 against $11,000.

ANTICIPATED REVENUE

Anticipated revenue was tabulated as follows: patients' receipts, $360,000 against $345,945 actually collected in 1941; net government grant, $62,400 against $60,285; tuberculosis section, $31,080 against $30,-627; soldiers' section $6,000 against $7,784; and miscellaneous, $6,000 against $5,946.

It is anticipated that a city grant of $100,000 as against $95,-531 received last year, will be required.

It was pointed out, in the analysis of the January 1942 financial statement, that the cost of operation last month was $46,893, which works out at $3.39 per patient day as against $3.32 in 1941 and $3.04 in 1940, omitting capital charges in all three.

MONTH'S INCOME

During the month, the total revenue was $46,351, of which $36,687 was patient receipts. This latter figure is about $6,000 above that of January, 1941, but only about $160 more than in January 1940.

City collections for the month were equivalent to 81.25 per cent of operating charges against city patients during January in the Royal Alexandra and 14.08 per cent in the Isolation hospital.

There was a combined deficit for the month of $541.50 to be covered by city grant.

Dr. A. F. Anderson, hospital superintendent, reported that there are 491 patients in the two hospitals at present, that all beds are filled and that some persons have had to be turned away for lack of accommodation. His report was made in reply to a question by chairman G. A. Campbell.

MISS FRASER'S REPORT

On recommendation of Miss M. S. Fraser, lady superintendent of the hospital, graduation exercises will be held on Friday, April 24, with medals, pins, diplomas and scholarships to be awarded as in past years.

On recommendation of the executive and finance committee, Mrs. C. E. McManus, Mrs. J. Percy Page and Dr. Mary Hunter were appointed to work with the superintendent and lady superintendent in making necessary plans for the graduation exercises.

Miss Fraser reported that a new class of nurses, numbering 30, will report on February 24

In January there were 11,442 patient days in the Royal Alexandra hospital, with a daily average in the number of patients of 369. Patients admitted numbered 979. There were 31 deaths, 130 births with three pairs of twins, 413 operations and 331 out-patients treated.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Dr. Anderson reported that in the maternity department the blood counts of patients are being checked before and after delivery, as a precautionary measure.

The superintendent reported 1,273 patient days in the Isolation hospital with a daily average of 41 patients. Patients admitted numbered 75, of which 35 were cases of scarlet fever. There was a daily average of 35 patients in the tuberculosis ward, and 524 patients were treated in the X-ray department.

Daredevil Leader Of Desert Units Given Promotion

LONDON, Feb. 21.—(CP)—Brig. John (Jock) Campbell, V.C., 47-year-old daredevil leader and originator of the elusive desert "Jock Columns," Friday night was promoted Acting Major-General. The London Gazette announced the promotion of the imaginative leader whose small, hard-hitting armored units helped put Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Axis forces on the run during the early stages of the second battle of Libya.

Funeral services for Thomas Joseph Finner, 65, of 11838 91 street, who died on Friday, will be held Monday at 10 a.m., from the Sacred Heart church, Rev. Monsgr. M. J. O'Gorman officiating. He is survived by one brother, John, a sister, Mrs. B. Thorpe, and a niece, Mrs. L. Misner, all of Edmonton. Interment will be in the Edmonton Roman Catholic cemetery. Park Memorial Ltd, is in charge of arrangements.

Coming Here

Frank Dowsett, advertising counsel to Gutta Percha and Rubber Ltd., who will be a city visitor next week and will give several addresses to community service organizations.

Clubs Will Hear Noted Publicist

Several community service organizations will hear addresses next week from Frank Dowsett, advertising counsel to Gutta Percha and Rubber, Limited.

Mr. Dowsett will speak to the Gyro Club at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday at the Macdonald hotel on Walls of London.

On Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. he will address the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce at the Corona hotel and will be allotted 15 minutes to tell of the work done by the publicity committee of the Toronto Board of Trade, of which he is chairman. At 12:15 p.m. on Thursday, he will address the Rotary Club, at the Macdonald hotel, at 12:15 p.m. on With Grim Gayety.

His visit here is part of a speaking trip which he is making across Western Canada to help stimulate Canada's war effort and is an outgrowth of an early winter trip. Service clubs, veterans' groups and many others have invited Mr. Dowsett to speak to them as a result of his addresses at many Ontario and Quebec points.

He is widely known for his advertising and public relations work. One of his famous works was the creation of his company's famous wire haired terrier, "Perky."

Getting Around

ward their embattled cousins in Australia. A few short months ago war seemed just as far away to a majority of Australians as it had to most Canadians. According to a former Edmonton resident, Sam Waldman, who has just returned from the war-rocked Antipodes, Sydney, Australia, had no air raid shelters as late as January 12. Wednesday bombs fell in a cruel rain on an Australian mainland port.

Canadian cities may never be raided. That they can be raided is now definitely out of the field of mere speculation. That inland cities of Canada or the United States could also be bombed with aircraft of new and radical design is something that aeronautical engineers are contending more frequently.

Nations, military commanders and political leaders who think and act in terms of other wars are destined to meet with humiliating defeat and deadly destruction. The record since 1939 proves conclusively to all but the wilfully negligent that aviation as a military weapon of major importance is rapidly rendering obsolete strategies that were trusted and true in the past.

To take reasonable precautions, even in Edmonton is no indication of hysteria. Mayor Fry and other members of the city council who have had the good sense and foresight to inaugurate air raid precautions here are to be congratulated. Special credit goes to Ald. Sydney Parsons, who was the first alderman to suggest planned precautions against possible air raids. Mr. Parsons had to weather quite a storm of "kidding" for his announced concern at that time, long before Japan seemed likely to become a belligerent. There are not many people with enough nerve to laugh at him now.

Members of the Veterans' Volunteer Reserve are also to be congratulated for the fine enthusiasm and quick action in taking on the job of air raid wardens.

Perhaps Japan will be halted before she overruns all strongholds in the Far East. Perhaps she will be prevented from striking at the shores of North America by American and Canadian sea and air forces even if the United Nations' bastions in the Pacific do fall.

But a clever boxer guards against every possible blow his opponent could hit him with. The blow he has no defence for is the one that will knock him out.

Church Choir Will Replace Music, Gowns

Spearhead of a drive to raise funds to replace gowns and music lost by fire on Jan. 1, was forged on Friday evening, when the choir of Metropolitan United church appeared in concert at Knox United church auditorium. Under the direction of Mrs. J. V. Dodds, organist and choirmaster, the Metropolitan choristers presented a varied program of vocal and instrumental music. The audience was large and appreciative.

When Metropolitan church was destroyed by fire in the early hours of New Year's day, the gowns and music library fell victims to the flames. This was one of several events aiming to provide funds for their replacement.

The choir opened the program with And the Glory from The Messiah and Stainer's My Hope Everlasting. A quartet composed of J. Irving Gish, Russell and Harold Sheppard and James Thomson, sang Remember Me, followed by My Faith Looks Up to Thee, sung by Mrs. J. Asbridge and Audrey Hainstock.

OTHER NUMBERS

Other numbers on the program were a violin solo, by Mary Weir; vocal solo, I Heard a Forest Praying, Peter de Rose, sung by James Thomson, baritone; trio, Praise Ye, Verdi, sung by Mrs. Asbridge, Messrs. Gish and Thomson; The Lord's Prayer, Albert Hay Mallottee, by the choir; Galop-Marche, arranged for four pianos, with Dorothy Gish, Pauline McBain, Audrey Hunter and Mary Gish as soloists; Sweet and Low, Barnby, sung by the choir; Ah, Moon of My Delight, Liza Lehmann, sung by Guy Turner; ladies' trio, Toyland, from Babes in Toyland, Herbert, sung by Mesdames Turner, Sheppard and Walton; piano solo, Largo from Concerto in F Minor, Bach, and Waltz in A Flat by Chopin, with Mary Brownlee as soloist; vocal solo, Valley of Laughter, del Riego, sung by Audrey Hainstock; The Builder, Cadman, sung by Messrs. Gish, Sheppard and Thomson; vocal solo, When the Bell in the Lighthouse, sung by Harold Sheppard; duet, The Moon Hath Raised Her Lamp Above, from The Lily of Killarney, Benedict, sung by Messrs. Gish and Thomson; Homing, del Riego, by the full choir and God Bless America, Irving Berlin, sung by Mrs. Pullyblank.

Rail Obstruction Case Concluded

Two youths, one of whom is an Indian, who were arrested recently for placing obstructions in the path of C.N.R. trains on the main and Whitecourt lines, were dealt with Friday in city police and juvenile courts.

The Indian lad, who was waived from the juvenile court after No. 1 Continental Limited westbound out of Edmonton, crashed into a 10-foot tie he had placed on the rails 45 miles from the city, was sent to a home for mentally defective children. A charge laid against him under the Criminal Code was withdrawn.

The second youth, who admitted to juvenile authorities that he had placed a large boulder on the C.N.R. Whitecourt line, near Sangudo, "just to play a joke on the sectionman," was placed on probation for 60 days. He is going to leave at once for his sister's farm at Sangudo and will report back to the juvenile authorities at the expiration of the probation.

Inter - American Convoys Studied By Defence Board

WASHINGTON, Feb 21.—(AP)—Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, said today the question of convoys for inter-American commerce would be considered soon by the hemisphere defence board.

Commenting at his press conference on the sinking of two Brazilian merchant ships by Axis submarines, the acting secretary remarked that convoys constituted one of the means by which the American republics would co-operate for their mutual defence.

3 Alberta Officers Complete Training

There were three Albertans from a class of 16 young officers who were presented with certificates Saturday at Currie Barracks, Calgary.

The 16 had just completed advanced training courses that qualified them as lieutenants.

The Alberta officers in the group are: Lieut. G. R. MacKenzie, Calgary, Lieut. F. H. Newcombe, Red Deer, and Lieut. J. W. O'Brien, Ponoka.

The officers had received the first part of their training at Gordon Head, where they qualified as second lieutenants.

Col. H. C. Greer, A.A., and G.M.Q. of M.D. 13 presented the certificates.

Col. Greer also inspected the school, which is under the command of Maj. W. C. Roberts.

Lt. Col. A. R. Knight, V.D., officer commanding A. 16, Canadian Infantry Training Centre (CA) Currie Barracks, was also in the inspection party.

Britain Raises Price Of Wheat To Get Production

LONDON, Feb. 21. — (CP) — To ensure food production on a necessary scale in Britain and give farmers a reasonable return, the agriculture ministry raised the price of wheat Friday by 18 pence (about 34 cents) to 16 shillings ($3.20) a hundredweight. The ministry ordered this in a general uplifting of farm product prices, including an average increase of six shillings, sixpence per live hundredweight for fat cattle.

Violin Soloist Impressive In Benefit Event

Egon Grapentin, Edmonton concert violinist, appeared in recital at Central Baptist church on Friday evening, in aid of deserving beneficiaries.

Mr. Grapentin, who is a former winner of an Edmonton Civic Opera Society scholarship, resulting in study in New York and Philadelphia, was in his best form.

The program included works which have been particularly studied by the soloist and incorporated into his standard repertoire, and some of which are outstanding in all violin literature.

Mendelssohn's Concerto in E Minor for violin was the outstanding achievement of the evening. The compelling melodic charm, the beauty of outline and contour, which have made this a top-ranking work for a century, were well in evidence on this occasion. The soloist's regard for it was evident throughout.

Mr. Grapentin had ample opportunity to display his virtuosity in the Tartini-Kreisler Devil's Trill.

Other numbers on the program included Saint Saens' Introduction and Rondo Cappriccioso; Sarasate's Malaguena; the Chopin-Wilhelmj Nocturne, opus 27, No. 2; Jota, No. 6, from the de Falla-Kochanski Popular Spanish Suite; Rimsky-Korsakov's Flight of the Bumble Bee, arranged by Heifetz; the Paganini-Kreisler Caprice No. 13 and the de Falla-Kreisler La Vida Breve.

Throughout, Mr. Grapentin revealed a consummate technique, combined with an appealing tone.

Mary Drummond Hallen was at the piano. As ever, she proved herself a capable, sympathetic, helpful accompanist.

Huckvale Appointed As Acting Auditor

C. K. Huckvale, C.A., has been appointed acting provincial auditor, to succeed Charles M. Lang, C.A., who will retire on superannuation on March 31, it is announced by Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer.

Mr. Huckvale has been acting assistant provincial auditor. He will assume his new duties April 1

He entered the civil service in January, 1932, as an audit clerk, and has been in the audit department since that time.

He came here from Calgary, where he received his education, and served his articles in the Calgary offices of the accounting firm of G. A. Touche and Co.

Well-known among young city businessmen, he is a member of the Kinsmen Club.

Man Arrested On Wounding Charge

Fracas in front of a 97 street hotel Thursday night had its sequel in city police court Saturday when Steve Danchuk, Edmonton, was arraigned before Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., on charge of wounding with intent to disable and disfigure. He was remanded to Tuesday, Feb. 24 and bail was set at $3,000.

Danchuk is charged with having inflicted three head wounds on W. B. Rochon, beverage room waiter, after he had laid in wait for the man to emerge from the hotel after the premises had closed for the night.

According to police reports the fracas was the result of an altercation earlier in the evening which is alleged to have taken place in the beverage room. As Rochon stepped onto 97 street, the accused is alleged to have attacked him with a weapon and inflicted the wounds on the top of his head and neck.

The complainant was not seriously injured.

Accused was arrested Friday at 11:20 p.m. by Det. J. E. Peterson.

Mrs. Hemingway Buys a Bond

The soft whisper of a pencil on paper was the only sound in the room. Mr. Hemingway dozed in his chair. But his wife was wide awake. She was making complicated calculations at the other side of the table.

That was the sound we mentioned.

Suddenly Mrs. Hemingway looked up. "John," she said, "John . . . I think we can do it."

Mr. Hemingway made the usual noises of a man just waking up. "What is it, Mary?" he asked. "What can we do?"

"I've just been figuring on our budget, John, and I believe it can be done."

Without delay Mrs. Hemingway began to explain what she had been doing.

"It all goes back to those full page advertisements featuring the names and trade-marks of Alberta manufacturers," she began.

"And the practice of using Treasury Transfer Vouchers for all our purchases?" queried Mr. Hemingway. "You mean the 5 per cent consumers' bonus we have been earning?"

"Yes. And the result is our income goes that much further," his wife finished happily. "That's why we can do it."

"Mary," said Mr. Hemingway, "I'm a patient man. But I think you had better tell me what we can do."

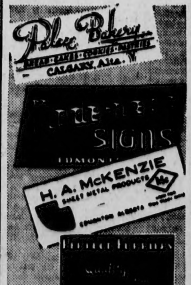

"Buy a bond of course. I thought you knew. We've been demanding Alberta Trade-Marked Goods and enjoying their high quality for a long time now. Then, too, we've been using Treasury Transfer Vouchers. So besides helping to encourage Alberta industry we have been earning a bonus for ourselves. That bonus has been helping out so well that we have a nice balance in our account."

"So we'll use it to buy a bond."

Mrs. Hemingway nodded her head. "It means a bit of planning," she warned, "but we can do it."

Her husband smiled fondly. "Now that I know what you mean," he said, "I'm sure we can."

Introducing

THE CENTRAL ALBERTA DAIRY POOL

Alberta has long been famous as the home of leading co-operative producing and marketing organizations. There is something about this system which appeals to progressive people. And so it is only natural that it should be successful in Alberta.

One of the outstanding examples of a producers' co-operative in this Province is the Central Alberta Dairy Pool. Established in 1926, this organization operates creameries at Alix and Bowden and a condensary at Red Deer.

Mr. E. A. Johnston is Manager.

The Central Alberta Dairy Pool is owned and controlled by well over 2,000 farmers in its area. They manufacture three Alberta Trade-Marked products. These are Alpha Evaporated Milk, produced at the Red Deer Condensary; Golden Meadow Butter and Alpha Brand Buttermilk Powder. These famous products are purchased and enjoyed by consumers from Manitoba to the Pacific Coast.

The Condensary of The Central Alberta Dairy Pool at Red Deer is particularly noteworthy and is a plant of which Albertans may well be proud. The only condensary in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, it was erected at a cost of approximately $200,000. Its output is more than 7,000,000 pounds of concentrated milk per year.

T. M. SHAND MANUFACTURING CO.

Established in 1926, the T. M. Shand Manufacturing Company is earning a wide reputation among livestock and poultry producers. Mr. Ben A. Dickau is manager of the plant which is located at Olds, Alberta.

The Animal Life-Saver, T. M. Shand Mineral and Tonic is used as a stock feed supplement. It helps common animals to become good animals and good animals to become prize winners. An Alberta made product, Shand's Mineral and Tonic is manufactured individually for cattle, hogs, horses, sheep and poultry. It is very economical to feed as a very little per day will give excellent results.

Now more than ever before the quality of our livestock and poultry production is of vital importance. Britain and the Empire needs food. And Alberta producers are helping in the work of filling that need. Wise producers are depending upon Shand's Mineral and Tonic to help them.

Fed to hogs it helps to produce the high quality bacon required by the British market. When fed to cattle it improves the quality of the beef. From dairy cows the Mineral and Tonic mixture increases the flow of milk. And hens fed on the poultry mixture produce those extra eggs for which there is extra demand.

Of mineral stock and tonic mixtures, Shand's is best by feeding test.

C.P.R. News

March 1 marks the retirement of Harry Anthony English, well-known conductor on the Calgary-Edmonton run, following more than 40 years' loyal service with the company. Just before the turn of the century when the west was comparatively in its infancy, Mr. English landed in Calgary, a struggling, booming western "town" and began service with the Canadian Pacific as laborer and carpenter at that point. This was in 1897. In 1899 he left the service to go farming but returned to railroading as a wiper at Calgary in 1901; in April of the same year he started work as a brakeman and was promoted to conductor in May 1904. Mr. English worked out of Moose Jaw for several years before returning to the Alberta district and he is a popular and well-known figure on the Canadian Pacific's Calgary-Edmonton run. A true western pioneer, who has watched the speedy growth of railroading, Mr. English is a personality that will be missed by his associates and friends. Good wishes of all officers and employees of the Edmonton division are extended to him on the occasion of his retirement.

• • •

J. B. Kershaw, relieving agent and operator on the C.P.R. Edmonton division, was married recently. The bride and groom spent a few days visiting the groom's father who is C.P.R. agent at Andrew.

Nazi Prisoners Escape In East

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., Feb. 21—(CP)—Veterans of two previous escapes each, Albert Waller, 24, and Otto Steinhiller, 22, German air force prisoners-of-war, made a successful break for freedom from the prison camp here last night and were the object of an intensive province-wide search today.

At the same time the Toronto Star said today a mass attempt to escape from the Bowmanville camp was foiled recently when 23-year-old William Ranstead, driver for an Oshawa laundry, gave camp authorities a tip that led to discovery of a 30-foot tunnel under one of the prison buildings.

The Star said Ranstead noticed clay stains on the knees of trousers in a batch of prison laundry, and warned the authorities who found, the story said, empty pork and bean cans had been telescoped together "to make a ventillating pipe for the 30 men who took turns digging with their table knives."

The story said one Nazi officer escaped at the time but was recaptured through Ranstead's tip.

Resigns Office

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt resigned from the United States office of civilian defence Friday to protect that agency from criticism by those who, she said, "Wish to attack me because of my beliefs."

Well-Known Firm Opens New Office

Opening in this city of a new branch office to serve Northern Alberta was announced Saturday by Clifton C. Cross and Co. (Alberta) Ltd. The office is in the Commercial Building and is in charge of F. I. Batcheller, well known financial, bank and oil man. Offices of the company, which are located at various prominent places across the Dominion, are devoted to investments and oil royalties.

This firm is one of the largest operators in Turner Valley and has financed and drilled four of the largest wells in that field. It is expected that 12 more wells will be drilled in the near future.

The company also is interested in the Vermilion field. The company also has announced the location of its first well at Pouce Coupe—on the Alberta side of the interprovincial boundary—and including property totalling 86,000 acres.

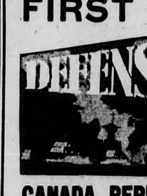

In addition to being widely known in business circles, including early development of the Waterways salt deposits, Mr. Batcheller is well known in sports circles, having been one of Alberta's star tennis players.

Military Areas

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has authorized and directed the secretary of war to set up military areas in the United States from which any persons, either alien or citizen, may be barred or removed.

The BRIDE CAME FORTH

By Louise Holmes

VICKY GAYLORD is being painted in her wedding gown by ERIC LATIMER, famous painter who first met the girl in a department store where he was led to believe she was a shoplifter. Both Vicky and Eric, however, are friends of BILL and ANN NORTHWOOD, though Vicky still doesn't like Eric. She is about to marry JAMES ALBERT, a man she met when she went to visit her father who is serving time for embezzlement. When Eric finally realizes Vicky really is good and clean he determines to save her from Albert—whose other name is Foster. Calling Foster, he anonymously warns him to give up Vicky. Maudie, Foster's secretary, listens in and, wanting Foster for herself, determines to be sure. Shortly after Jim calls Vicky telling her he is going to South America on a government mission and can't marry her, a woman arrives at Vicky's door, announcing that she is James Albert's wife and the boy is his son Eric, worried about Vicky's reputation when Jim calls, goes to her house later, finds her in a state of nervous collapse. Ann calls. After several days, Vicky maintains a stoney silence, obviously broken hearted. Eric, sure she must cry, takes her to the guest house where his painting of her makes her burst into tears.

CHAPTER XIX

ANN and Eric drove Vicky back to the shabby little house on Railroad avenue for the last time. They sat on the porch steps while she attended to the breaking up of her small household. There had been a bad moment upon arrival when Vicky discovered several special delivery letters that Timmy had slipped under the door.

DESTROYS JIM'S LETTERS

She had touched them as if they were living things. Then she had torn each one across twice. "No wound licking," she had said in a strangled little voice.

Eric had answered, "Good girl," and his voice had not been quite steady.

That was why Eric and Ann sat on the porch steps. They had seen Vicky run blindly into the house. They had heard the bedroom door close.

"What did she mean by wound licking?" Ann asked.

"She was repeating one of my wise-cracks," Eric told her. "I had to get pretty tough."

"Your bark's a lot worse than your bite," Ann said.

"No such thing. I'm hard as granite and intend to remain so. Just this once I got tangled up in the affairs of another human being and it's taught me a lesson. You can count me out from now on."

Ann darted a side glance at him. "Don't make me laugh," she advised. "You did a swell job and you know it. You made Vicky cry—"

"A mere nothing," he avowed, waving a hand grandly. "I've made women cry before."

"—and you started her on the right track."

CAN'T STAY HERE

"Elementary, my dear Watson. I simply gave her a letter of introduction to a broadcasting agent—friend of mine. I'm doing him a good turn. When he gets Vicky Gaylord's voice he's getting something. I know appeal when I hear it, and this experience will multiply her appeal."

"How did you get her to go?"

"I didn't ask her. I told her. She can't stay here, you know that, Ann. The people in this town would crucify her. She had to have an abrupt change of everything—"

Ann squeezed his arm. "You're such a dear, Eric."

"Skip it," he growled.

They heard Vicky at the telephone, heard her say, "I won't need the house after today. Yes, I'm going away a little sooner than I had expected. Thank you very much for letting me have it. I'll leave the odds and ends of furniture—"

Her voice again, saying, "The telephone service will not be required after today. Please send my bill to the Grantland Girls Club in New York."

"Eric," Ann said, "have you told her Jim's real name?"

"No. She might be fool enough to chase him to South America. I have no confidence in women, a shifty lot. I haven't told her anything about Jim. She thinks he's married and I want her to think just that."

"Think he's married," Ann repeated. "Isn't he?"

"I very much doubt it."

"Then—maybe he hasn't gone to South America. In which case we shouldn't send Vicky to New York—"

"I checked on that," Eric told her. "Am confident that he got away although I don't know how in blunder he made it."

"If he's gone we're safe," Ann nodded. "He'll never dare come back."

She rose from the step saying, "Maybe I can help her pack. Sit here and smoke your nasty old pipe till I call you."

Eric struck a match, cupping his hands over the pipe bowl. On the tag end of a long draw he said "Don't let her take a picture of that bird. Bad business — James Albert Foster's picture in any nice girl's room."

"All right." At the door Ann turned back. "What about the wedding gown?"

"It's in the north bedroom closet. Better not say anything about it."

On found Vicky, flushed from a bath, seated at the improvised dressing table. A filled suitcase lay open on the bed. Jim's picture had disappeared from the bedside table. Ann ran her hand into the shirred pocket of the suitcase lid. She brought out the picture.

"Eric says it has to be a clean break, Vicky," she said.

DESTROY IT

"He's right. Destroy it, will you, Ann? I couldn't." Her voice was rough with unshed tears. "I don't need the picture anyway. He's everywhere—looking at me."

"I know, dear. But you'll fight, won't you?"

"Yes, I'll fight. I've got to fight because Eric despises a quitter. I've got to keep my face forward and—and—" Elbow on the dressing table, head bowed, she covered her eyes with a hand. "I want Jim," she sobbed. "I—want—Jim."

Ann put both arms about her, pulling the bent head against her breast. "Darling, forget Jim," she urged tenderly. "He doesn't belong to you."

"Oh, but he does. He's mine—he's mine."

"There, there," Ann soothed. "Turn around, Vicky. You're facing backward."

Vicky took the 6 p.m. train to New York. Eric's suggestion that she make a new life for herself, a brilliant, successful life, had jogged her decolate thoughts into new channels. The hurry and flurry of departure had crowded anguish to the back of her mind where it lay in waiting, ready to pounce at the first opportunity.

Bill and Ann pretended great gaiety. Vicky was to let them know of her first broadcast. They would have their ears glued to the radio. And she was to write, every few minutes. Ann would be in one of these days on a shopping spree and they'd have fun. They'd see shows and find interesting places to eat and do a little antiquing—

Vicky agreed to anything and everything. She was having definite trouble with a lump in her throat. She wore what was to have been her going-away suit. Her hat was smart and immensely becoming. White organdy frilled crisply under her chin.

Eric had little to say. At the last minute Vicky went to him, putting something into his hand. It was the thin, nice feeling compact. "To remember me by," she said, lips trembling. "Your friend, the shop lifter."

He slid the compact into his pocket. "Thanks," he said, "I'll be seeing you in New York."

"Will you, Eric? I'll be—pretty lonely."

"I'll see you," he promised. "Sit tight. Don't let anything throw you."

"Don't rock the boat," Bill added genially.

Feeling very like a bedraggled, battered craft, Vicky set forth on an uncharted sea. Her sails were trimmed and steady. The bow headed straight into the unknown.

Seated in the parlor car, she could sense no harbor lights in the fog of her unhappiness. She only knew that Eric had hauled the capsized boat of her life to the shore of his peculiar friendship and started it on its way again.

ERIC'S FRIENDSHIP

He had said, this being one of his practical gestures, "By the way, I haven't paid you for posing." When she winced away from the offer, he had insisted, saying, "Look here, young lady, I know what models charge. I should, I've paid enough of 'em." Which was, of course, an untruth.

So saying, he had deposited a neat wad of bills in Vicky's purse. "You can't make a heel of me," he had said. "Don't try it."

Dark had fallen when Vicky reached the Grantland Girls Club, a stifling, suffocating dark. And then she was in a charming room, tufted bedspread, chintz hangings, cozy low chairs. Loneliness crept in at the windows, threatening to drown her.

She unpacked her suitcase, holding the terror back by main force of will. New York hummed below. Lights flashed, whistles shrilled, traffic thundered.

At last, in desperation, Vicky caught up the telephone book. Just to see Jim's name, just to know where he had lived and worked—One shaking finger on the page, she searched. Albert — Albert — James Albert, lawyer—There was no lawyer by the name of James Albert.

The huge book slipped to the floor. She had but dreamed James Albert and he had vanished in a hideous nightmare. James Albert did not exist.

Vicky threw herself, face down, on the bed. The little craft of her life battled with waves of agony. It tilted, almost submerging. It rose again, its white sails drenched with bitter tears.

Harrison Named President Of City Community Fund

Harvey Harrison was elected president of the Edmonton Community Chest for 1942 at the first annual meeting of the organization held at the Macdonald hotel, Friday, Mr. Harrison succeeds H. R. Milner, K.C., who requested in absentia, that his name be not considered for re-election in view of his recent appointment to the vice-chairmanship of the national war finance committee.

Mr. Harrison was chairman of the campaign committee during the Chest's first campaign last fall.

Oliver C. McIntyre was elected first vice-president and A. M. MacDonald second vice-president. J. G. Nickerson was re-elected treasurer. All four executive members were elected by acclamation.

Reg. T. Ross was re-appointed executive secretary and Julian Garrett was returned as chairman of the budget committee.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Eleven members were chosen to the board of directors. Nine of these will sit for three years and two representing the Council of Social Agencies were chosen for one year only. There are 18 other members on the board, nine for one more year and nine for two.

The following were elected at the annual meeting: E. W. S. Kane, H. Milton Martin, J. G. Nickerson, C. N. Chubb, Harvey Harrison, R. V. MacCutcheon, J. W. Mitchell, A. J. Earle Millard, R. H. Settle, all for three years and Mrs. J. Ross Vant and W. Prevey for one year.

Members sitting for another two years are: R. J. Dinning, H. R. Milner, K.C., Mrs. L. C. Conn, Mrs. T. H. Field, J. D. Dower, H. E. Pearson, E. E. Roper, R. E. Staples and Henry Roche.

One year members are: Mrs. W. J. Dick, Mrs. H. E. Smith, Mrs. P. R. Gabourie, J. T. J. Collisson, K.C., Dr. G. H. Little, A. M. MacDonald, O. C. McIntyre, Colin D. MacKenzie and Mrs. R. C. Marshall.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Due to Mr. Milner's absence the chair was occupied by Harvey Harrison and the president's report was read by Reg. T. Ross, executive secretary.

Mr. Milner lauded the work done by the different committee members and the many volunteers during the past year. He stated that the success of the drive last fall was only possible due to hard work on the part of those in charge and the excellent co-operation on the part of Edmonton citizens.

Edmonton had the highest percentage of over-subscription of any city in North America, he said. The people were asked for $86,700 and they gave us in cash and pledges $102,905.53, from 10,976 contributors.

He expressed the hope that the surplus will be increased from time to time.

No matter how desperate the world situation may be, adequate provision must be made for the destitute and homeless, Mr. Milner remarked.

ORGANIZATION PLAN

He thanked the Council of Social Agencies for the advice, assistance and co-operation that the organization had given during the year, and extended similar expressions of gratification for work done by the budget and campaign committees and their sub-committees.

Mr. Harrison, campaign chairman during the fall drive, outlined the organization plan under which the city led the continent in its first community chest campaign.

He stated that the three major divisions were the industrial-commercial division, the business zone division and the residential division. The industrial-commercial division was then subdivided into 16 smaller sections.

In support of the canvassers' lists committee, publicity committee, finance committee and accounting committee were set up.

Mr. Harrison stated that a permanent file containing basic campaign information is being set up for use in future campaigns.

He said that about 1,500 public spirited people, most of them women, devoted a large portion of time to the "very arduous task" of canvassing.

MEMBERS LISTED

Julian Garrett, chairman of the budget committee then reviewed the year's work of that committee and acknowledged the valuable assistance rendered the committee by F. M. Gunderson, auditor of the Chest funds.

He reviewed the original negotiations with 51 city organizations that were classed as eligible for membership in the Community Chest and named the 28 who became members. These were:

Alberta Council, Girl Guide association; Alberta Protestant Home for Children; All People's Mission of the United Church of Canada; Beulah Home; Boy Scouts association; Canadian National Institute for the Blind; Canadian Red Cross Society—Welfare branch, junior; Catholic Women's Hostel; Church of England—St. John's House, Diocesan Council for Social Agencies; Edmonton and District Boys' Work Board; Edmonton Creche Society; Edmonton Council of Social Agencies; Edmonton Girls' Work Board (now The C.G.I.T. Board of Edmonton); Edmonton Jewish Welfare Bureau; Edmonton Emergency Welfare association; Catholic Welfare Bureau; Franciscan Sisters of the Atonement; Good Shepherd Home; Imperial Daughters of the Empire (Municipal Chapter); Misericordia Creche; Navy League of Canada; O'Connell Institute; Rosary Hall; Salvation Army; St. John Ambulance Association (Edmonton Centre); St. Mary's Home; Victorian Order of Nurses; Young Men's Christian association; Young Women's Christian association.

ANTICIPATED SURPLUS

Reg. T. Ross presented the report of the executive secretary, and J. G. Nickerson, treasurer, read the report of the treasurer.

Mr. Nickerson stated that, barring unforseen expenditures, there should be a surplus of $23,741 at the end of operations in 1942.

Votes of thanks were expressed to John Imrie, who was given credit for originating the idea of a community chest in Edmonton; to Mr. Milner who was described as the prime mover in steps of organization; to the Edmonton Bulletin, Edmonton Journal, CJCA and CFRN; and to the 10,976 contributors in last fall's campaign.

"TAG DAYS"

The position of the Chest with respect to future tag days was explained by Mr. Harrison. He stated that citizens of Edmonton were entitled to relief from the "nuisance" of frequent tag days.

Of the 28 organizations absorbed by the Chest, 12 that held tag days in 1941 will now be exempt.

He made it clear however, that the Chest had no control over tag days arranged for war purposes, but he also emphasized the fact that the Chest officials have been impressing upon the city council the need for utmost care in granting tag days to applicants.

In this regard Mr. Harrison explained that a committee of seven, made up of the mayor, and two members each from the Chest, the Council of Social Agencies and the city council, has been established which will weigh carefully the arguments put forward by applicants in favor of tag days.

Mr. Harrison felt confident that a good start in elimination of tag days has been made and stated that citizens can look forward for improved conditions in this regard in the not too distant future.

Police Report Added Strength Now Required

the winter months. Cost of the work would be approximately $140.

Repairs to the officers' fur coats and equipment was kept very low during the year, but new fur coats will be required this year, the chief reported. Due to the imminent shortage of rubber, however, an ample supply of rain coats has been obtained by the department.

UNIFORM DEPARTMENT

In reporting on the work of the uniform department during 1941, the chief reported that constables patrolling their beats found 1,247 premises where doors were either unlocked or insecure. This, he said was practically inviting robbery, and was undoubtedly due to carelessness on the part of businessmen.

The uniform department was also called on to investigate 2,961 sundry complaints; 2,696 sundry occurrences were reported; 204 fires were attended and 186 lost children were found and restored to their parents or guardians. Police motor vehicles responded to 7,364 calls.

In the course of patrol activities, police prowler cars effected 345 arrests while men on motorcycles took 102 persons into custody.

Reflecting the vigilance of the "mobile" department, and the effectiveness of patrol in all sections of the city, it was revealed that the radio equipped cars had travelled a total of 346,000 miles during the year while the motorcycles covered 41,454 miles. "There is no doubt," declared Chief Shute," that the efficiency of this department has contributed appreciably in keeping crime down, especially in the more remote parts of the city."

CRIMINAL DEPARTMENT

The criminal investigation department was also kept busy during the year and detectives were required to investigate 3,972 complaints, as compared with 3,707 in 1940. Property reported either lost or stolen was valued at $151,092, of which $130,304 was recovered and restored to its owners.

A total of 453 adults, together with 323 juveniles, making a grand total of 976 persons were arrested by the department, and in addition to these, another 295 persons were proceeded against by way of summons. Of a total of 140 warrants to apprehend which were issued, 125 were duly executed leaving only 15 outstanding at the present time.

Excellent work was accomplished by the morality squad, under Inspector J. J. Shaw, Chief Shute reported. Due to their activities throughout the years fines and costs totalling more than $6,600 were imposed, he said.

As well as being responsible for enforcement of the Liquor Control Act, gambling and offences in general against morality, the squad also is detailed to investigate the suitability of persons applying for licenses, such as for rooming houses and taxis as well as maintaining a strict watch over city dance halls. The present condition of the city in so far as vice is concerned is as good as it has ever been at any time, the chief reported.

MORALITY CHARGES

Men of the morality squad arrested 264 persons and 30 others were prosecuted by summons. Of this total 103 were charged with liquor offences, 45 in connection with betting, and the others on a variety of charges ranging from vagrancy and theft to contributing to the delinquency of juveniles.

Out of a total of 1,387 arrested persons arraigned in police court, 329 were imprisoned, 825 assessed fines; 31 were either remanded or committed to stand trial in supreme court; 70 were given suspended sentence; 32 were committed to insane asylums, while in 144 cases the charge was either dismissed or withdrawn, leaving 116 cases pending at the year end.

Principal offenders were men, only 241 of the accused being of the fair sex.

The court also disposed of 1,417 summons cases, and of this total only 422 were either withdrawn or discharged, convictions being registered in all other instances. Here again few women were hailed before the magistrate, the report showing a total of only 161 as compared with 1,256 men.

PHYSICAL STANDARD

Chief Shute also stressed the fine physical standard required by the force. He reported that all members of the department under 45 years of age took part in the gun training and that as a result of the drills men of the uniform department, when on parade, presented a smart, clean appearance which commanded the full respect of the public. He stated also that all members of the force, with the exception of some recently-enlisted rookies, are holders of St. John Ambulance first aid certificates and that the new men would have to attend regular classes in order to qualify.

Lectures in police work, involving a knowledge of the Criminal Code and provincial and municipal statutes, have also been given at regular classes, as well as lectures on criminal investigation, identification and scientific investigation of crime. All members of the force also have regular revolver practice on the shooting range.

In concluding the report, Chief Shute thanked all members of the force along with civic and government officials for the excellent co-operation he had received throughout the year.

2-Year Suspended Sentence Is Given 'Daring Airman' By Court

A "daring young airman" who manufactured himself R.C.A.F. discharge papers, and threw in a glowing citation for distinguished gallantry while under fire just for good measure, received two years suspended sentence and came in for some scathing comment from the bench when he appeared before Magistrate A. L. Miller, K.C., in city police court Friday.

The 18-year-old country youth, and in his own words, "flier de luxe," admitted that he had obtained a blank discharge form while employed in an Edmonton Manning depot, and after filling it out to his own satisfaction had forged the name of Wing Cmdr. H. M. Compton, of No. 4 Training Command, Calgary.

WANTED JOB

Modesty, apparently, was definitely an abstract commodity as far as the offender was concerned. In making out the flatteringly typewritten form he bestowed upon himself the "Meritorious Service Medal" for distinguished gallantry while under enemy fire — and awarded it by no less a personage than His Majesty the King.

He explained the fact that his favorite decoration was a military award, but it really didn't matter very much, because as he told the court, he wanted it for was to help him get a job.

In granting the youthful offender suspended sentence, Magistrate Miller pointed out the gravity of the offense. Forgery, he said, calls for a maximum penalty of life imprisonment, and added that it was only on account of the accused's previous clean record that he would grant the suspension.

WILLING TO SERVE

"This sort of thing is very unfair competition to the men who actually endure the hard work of war," declared his worship. "We can expect these men to start coming home any time now, and acts such as yours are only going to add to their difficulties of rehabilitation. I'm warning you right now to get out of trouble, because if you come back here in the next two years you'll be liable for sentence on this charge."

Evidence at the hearing revealed, however, that the young man really did want to be of service. He joined the army in Calgary in September 1939 while still only 16 years old. He was granted a discharge in March 1941 after representations regarding his tender years had been made to army officials by his parents.

Soon after being discharged, the youth moved to Edmonton, and on completing a business course at Alberta college, obtained a position at the Manning depot.

He had easy access to the discharge forms and, as the evidence revealed, decided that it might come in very handy in the future if he had a "good one" to present to prospective employers.

And so his troubles began. Authorities were soon advised of the forgery and the accused was arrested by Det. J. G. Ozarko, R.C.M.P., at his country home on Feb. 16.

As to the future, the lad informed the court that he planned to gather a little more training and then apply for enlistment in the R.C.A.F.—actually this time.

Bonus Methods Of Government Are Denounced

Criticism of the method of paying bonuses to purchasers of Alberta-made goods by the treasury branches through trade claims was voiced in the legislature Friday by Hugh John Macdonald, K.C., Lib., Edmonton, when he spoke in the budget debate.

Also taking part in the debate from the opposition benches was Percy McKelvey, Ind., Ponoka, who urged changes in the method of making appropriations for highway and road building and greater protection of the lumbering industry with more money provided for fire-fighting. He also rapped the Social Credit monetary reform theories and suggested that, if they would bear close scrutiny, they should be studied by a house committee.

"FROM TAXPAYERS"

Discussing the bonuses paid by the treasury branches, Mr. Macdonald said, "There is no provision in the budget for the payment of the same by the use of public funds."

He claimed that the money for these payments must come from the taxpayers' pockets and said that Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, "dismisses the question of money to pay the same with the expression, as I understand it, 'contingent liability.'"

He continued, "As bad as the policy may have been at times to borrow huge sums of money on the credit of the province, it seems to me infinitely worse to spend something that we haven't got."

He asked if the government was using the funds of depositors in the treasury branches to pay the bonuses. "Is the government using those funds," he asked, "not by loaning them out to people with the idea of having the same repaid, but rather by giving those funds away?"

GOVERNMENT BOARDS

Mr. Macdonald said he had heard of the appointment of at least one stipendiary magistrate in the last year who never had the slightest training in law and claimed it was a mistake to use such appointments to untrained persons.

He contended Social Credit amendments to the Judicature act had allowed foreclosure orders to be obtained easier. Before a change was made in 1937, preliminary orders were needed before a foreclosure order was given, but now the foreclosure order can be obtained immediately from a judge, he claimed.

Mr. Macdonald said he believes it is the tendency of governmental boards to gather more power and eventually become "above the law" and suggested that as the beginning of each session of the legislature each government board should table a report outlining all regulations made during the previous year.

When he suggested there should be an increase in widows' allowances Provincial Treasurer Low interjected that this question has been engaging the government for several months and increases have been made in many cases. Mr. Low added no legislation was necessary to provide the increases and it was only a question of having money available.

HEALTH SURVEY

Mr. Macdonald proposed that Alberta's health and education ministers make a joint survey of the province with a view to instituting a program to improve the general health of the province's young people. He expressed concern over the condition of Alberta youth and said published reports indicated many were being rejected from service in the armed forces because of physical defects.

The Edmonton Liberal suggested tests be made before drivers' licenses are issued, that automobiles be inspected on highways and that the provincial secretary take under advisement some scheme of centralizing registration of automobiles.

Mr. McKelvey stated he favored the method of financing main highway construction by amortizing the paymetns over a period of years. The method of paying for them in full out of current revenue, he said, did not leave sufficient money for market roads and local roads. More assistance was needed for district highways and local roads than they were getting at present, he said.

For the protection of the lumbering industry, he urged greater enforcement of the regulations, such as in the burning of slash. The department, he said, should have more money for fire-fighting and should undertake the whole organization of fire-fighting, rather than leaving it largely to the local residents.

He urged that public men should exercise great care in their utterances in wartime and particularly scored a statement by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health, that monetary reform "would do away with the necessity of a bond selling campaign." Such statements, he said, distinctly hindered the war effort.

MONEY SYSTEM

"We on this side of the house," he said, "are satisfied with the present money system—with reservations. We believe that when circumstances permit and the necessity arises, the authorities will adjust the nation's economy to meet conditions."

Referring again to the health ministers statements, he said, "If they have any ideas let them to sell it to many people." The opposition still favored their suggestion, made last year, that money reform proposals be brought before a committee of the house, which would hear testimony and study the theories, he said.

"It is his privilege to have his own ideas and my privilege to have my own ideas," he said. To the suggestion that the independents were "hirelings" of the financiers, he said, "I'm not a hireling of a henchman of the big shots, the little shots or the crackpots—Major Douglas, for instance."

The government's debt legislation was "in the waste-paper basket" he said, because they had refused to take the advice of the opposition to have it submitted to the courts before passing it.
